Official Weather Report.

Minimum temperature, 47.
Maximum temperature, 74.

Ranch House Burned.

Word was received here this afternoon that a house belonging to Dr. Clise, the optician, and situated near Vansycle, was destroyed by fire this morning, together with all the furniture. The furniture was insured for $500 with G. W. Coult's of this city.

Wool Sale at Pilot Rock.

Buyers of wool will go to Pilot Rock tomorrow, where the third of the local wool sales is scheduled to be held. Judging by results at Pendleton and Echo, it is not anticipated that any great number of clips will be disposed of.

Pioneer Engineer Is Here.

Jack Thatcher, the well-known O. R. & N. locomotive engineer is in this city for a brief visit, while on a lay-off. Thatcher is one of the oldest engineers, in point of service, on the road. At present he is running on the Wallowa branch.

Pedro Sold Wool.

In addition to the two local wool sales published yesterday, Manuel Pedro also sold his clip. At the time the clip was offered for sale Tuesday Mr. Pedro was offered a price of 15-18 cents for his wool. He did not accept at the time, but later in the evening sold at that figure.

Good View of Comet Obtained.

One of the best views of Halley's comet yet obtained by Pendleton people was had last night. Owing to the clouds which partially obscured the sky Monday night, the view of the wanderer was not so good as that of last night with a clear sky, despite the increasing distance between the earth and the comet.

Central Committee in Session.

A meeting of the republican central committee is in session this afternoon in the office of County Judge Gilliland at the court house. In the absence of Chairman A. B. Thomson of the committee who recently left for Mexico to reside, the meeting is being presided over by E. W. McComas, who will probably be made permanent chairman of the committee.

Says Pendleton Is Best.

Harry Barr, the well-known traveling salesman for the Napa Tan Shoe company, is authority for the statement that Pendleton is a "live one" and a far better town in every respect than Baker City. Mr. Barr covers the Oregon country regularly and is in a position to know whereof he speaks, when he says that this city will stand comparison with any other in the northwest.

Recess in Tax Case.

With the case of the plaintiff practically completed, a recess of a day or two has been taken in the case of local taxpayers against Assessor Strain and the county. The testimony introduced yesterday was for the purpose of showing that the board of equalization was not legally organized and that Strain had assessed city property at full value and country property at about 60 per cent of its value.

Stanfield Opening May 31.

The opening of the new Stanfield restaurant and hotel that has been built by Neal and Hudson at Stanfield will be formally opened with a big reception and ball on the evening of Tuesday, May 31. A large crowd will be in attendance from all the west end towns, and many Pendleton people are making arrangements to be present at the event. The United Orchestra of Pendleton will furnish the music.

Memorial Sermon Sunday.

Instead of being delivered at 11 o'clock Monday as previously announced the regular memorial sermon for the G. A. R. will be delivered at 11 o'clock Sunday at the Baptist church by the Rev. Ralph E. Storey. The entire forenoon Monday, Decoration day, will be devoted to the short program at the court house and to the exercises at the cemetery followed by the decoration of the graves of the departed veterans.

Excursion to Weston Sunday.

Manager Frazier of the Pendleton Colts has arranged with the O. R. & N. company to run an excursion train to Weston Sunday in order that the many fans of this city may attend the game between the league leaders. The special will leave Pendleton at 1 o'clock and returning will leave Weston at 4. In order that a round trip fare of $1 can be secured, it is necessary that 100 people make the trip, but it is thought that there will be little difficulty encountered in meeting this requirement.

Graduates Pleasantly Surprised.

This morning Col. J. H. Raley, who delivered the commencement address to the graduates of the Pendleton academy last night, sprung a very pleasant surprise upon the six members of the class. Gathering in the young ladies in his touring car Col. Raley drove them to the Pendleton woolen mill where he presented each fair graduate with an Indian robe, gifts that were deeply appreciated by the young ladies. Those in the class are Lella Earl, Norvell, Sadie, Ruth Young, Edith Elizabeth Raley, Maud Reynolds, Annie Margaret Tullis, and Edna Mabel Rogers.

Free Concert Tomorrow Night.

The second free public concert by the United orchestra will be given in the fair pavilion tomorrow evening, at 8 o'clock. In addition to the numbers by the orchestra the program will be made interesting by the appearance of Miss Edna Gates' Treble Clef club. This organization, as well as the orchestra, is winning popularity

AMERICAN PRINCIPLE IN THE BRITISH WARSHIP

London.—The British Dreadnought battleship Colossus has been launched at Greenock, nine months after her keel was laid. She is the largest battleship yet launched in this country and is unique in her appearance. She has two sister ships—the Hercules building on the Tyne, which is to be launched soon, and the Orion, which will be launched at Portsmouth in July or August. The fourth ship is the armored cruiser Lion, which will also be launched in August at Devonport. She is the first British Dreadnought to be built upon the American principle. In the others the five turrets, with two guns in each, are placed in the form of a cross, the one being at each extremity, and one between the intersection of the arms at the foot. It is, therefore, only possible to fire four of the turrets—eight guns—on either broadside. The American ships, on the other hand, all have their big gun turrets mounted on the center line of the ship, and by placing two turrets—one forward and one aft—at a higher level than the others, a fore and aft fire of four guns is secured, while the full armament can be brought to bear on either broadside. That is the system adopted by the British Admiralty in the case of the Colossus and her sisters.

SOLUTION FOUND FOR HAT PROBLEM

Paris.—From the fashionable resort of Aix-les-Bains seems to have come a final solution of the perplexed theatre hat question. It is very simple. The ladies are separated into two classes—those who wear hats and those who do not. Hatless ladies go to the right; hat-wearing ladies to the left. There the latter enjoy trying to see the stage over the mountainous peaks of flowers and feathers of birds of their own kind. This really seems to be a brilliant idea and it is whispered that no less a personage than Pierpont Morgan who frequents Aix is responsible for it.

The greatest man who ever lived on earth, measured by the space they filled in public esteem, have been those who were always doing the things next to them and doing them well. There isn't a star gazer or title baiter in the bunch.

The Drug Store That Serves You Best.

and the two will present an interesting program. The weather promises to be more enjoyable than was afforded for the first concert and it is expected that the large crowd on that occasion will be surpassed in numbers tomorrow night.

On a Sailing Vessel.

Instead of the usual routine work on a steamer—paint washing and so forth—the work on a sailing ship varies widely. It may be making or shortening sail, bending or unbending line or heavy weather canvas, squaring in or bracing up the yards, tacking or wearing ship, and, no matter what the labor, one always had the satisfaction of seeing the result. The speed and sailing qualities of a vessel were things that could be discussed with interest as well as the length of passage. In bad weather, when excitement ran high and cursing was considered quite in order, struggling up aloft with wet or frozen canvas—one hand for the ship and the other for yourself—on a dark, dirty night put a man on his mettle, and should the foresail be handled or the main topsail settled and the cry of "Splice the main brace" be heard—well, one felt at peace with the world. In the tropics catching sharks, harpooning dolphins and porpoises, slinging, daveling, telling yarns and reading over old love letters are diversions not easily forgotten by those who have experienced them. Being becalmed in the tropics on a beautiful moonlight night brought home to one the beauties and wonders of nature and the existence of a God with whom one felt in closer touch on such nights as these. —A British Marine Officer in Atlantic.

Slightly Acquainted.

As an instance of the "marrying in haste" principle that obtains in some American cities an English lady who visited Chicago relates how her maid, who accompanied her, quickly became imbued with the desire to become Mrs. Somebody. One morning she appeared before her mistress and, with glowing eyes, announced that she had named the day and would become a wife at the end of the week. "Are you going back home, then?" the lady asked. "Oh, no, ma'am; it's an American gentleman," replied the maid. "But," remonstrated her mistress, "we've only been here a fortnight." "That's no matter. He wants the wedding to be on Saturday." "Well, can't you get him to postpone the marriage just a little till I can get another maid?" "Well, ma'am, I'd like to oblige you; but, you see, I don't feel well enough acquainted to ask him to do that." —London Answers.

A Mean Trick.

"Talking of mean tricks," said the big man, "there was Ballantine. This man Ballantine came in late to a song recital at Palm Beach, and there wasn't a vacant seat in the house. "Ballantine noticed Mrs. Jerome Blank. Mrs. Jerome Blank, he knew, had a very handsome husband that she kept a strict watch over. She didn't like him to associate with any of the fair sex. "Ballantine, edging near to Mrs. Blank, who had an excellent seat, said in a loud voice to a friend: "Who was that enormously pretty girl I saw Jerome Blank talking to on the pier?" "In about four seconds Mrs. Blank was gone and Ballantine was seated comfortably in her chair." —Kansas City Star.

SPOKANE WOMEN MAY GET MARBLE CHAPTER HOUSE

The following story from the Woman's National Daily will be of interest to the local members of the American Woman's league: Spokane, Wash.—Spokane Chapter of the American Woman's league will have the most unique quarters in the world, if the plans now under way meet with the approval of the executive officers of the national association. A. H. Jarman, president of the Washington Marble company, has sent a letter to Mrs. John F. Davies, treasurer of the local organization, offering to furnish, free of charge, to the chapter sufficient Grecian Swyros marble, which has a commercial value of $30 a cubic foot. In saw blocks at the quarries for exterior and interior construction. Mr. Jarman, who came recently from San Jose, Cal., and W. H. Boleau, recording teller of the Traders' National bank of Spokane discovered the rare marble ledges 10 days ago while on an exploration tour in Stevens county, 15 miles northeast of Colville, Wash., 20 varieties, ranging from deep purple to pure white, being brought to the surface. The identity of the specimens was established by marble experts in Spokane where several specimens were cut and polished. "We want the Spokane chapter to have the distinction of owning the finest home on the continent, as the work the national organization is doing through the local bodies is of value and importance. "Our quarries have never produced, but we expect to begin active operations within the next few months. The first 20 or 30 feet in all quarries, known as surface marble, is unfit for exterior use. As our company will take pride in the erection of the Spokane chapter house, it requires several months to open the particular vein of the marble selected to furnish strictly first-class material. "We believe that if this building could be constructed of marble it would feature the Spokane chapter throughout the United States, and at the same time show to the world one of the greatest national resources of the state of Washington."

It is believed that George V will be a different king from the other four Georges of whom Thackeray wrote: "George the First was always reckoned vile; and viler George the Second; And what mortal ever heard Any good of George the Third? When from earth the Fourth descended, Thank the Lord the Georges ended." Do you take the East Oregonian?
