

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED

For Benefit of Women who Suffer from Female Ills

Minneapolis, Minn.—“I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. My pains all left me, I grew stronger, and within three months I was a perfectly well woman.”

“I want this letter made public to show the benefit women may derive from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.”—Mrs. JOHN G. MOLDAN, 2115 Second St., North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. For 20 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

MOTANIC MAKES A PASSIONATE APPEAL

BIG INDIAN ATHLETE PROVES FINE ORATOR

Accompanies Rev. B. F. Harper and Albert Minthorn to Ukiah Where Revival Services are Conducted—Motanic Holds Audience Which Cries for Him to Go On When He Quits.

Rev. B. F. Harper, the Sunday school missionary of the presbytery of Pendleton came in on the Pilot Rock train from Ukiah, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Harper, together with Albert J. Minthorn, superintendent of the Tutuilla Indian Sunday school and Parsons Motanic, conducted revival services at Ukiah, Sunday.

Mr. Harper preached at the morning service and Minthorn addressed the Sunday school. At the evening service the Sunday school missionary was the leader while the two Indians were the speakers. The principal address was given by Parsons Motanic and he made a vigorous appeal for a moral upright life.

Mr. Harper reports that it was a strong layman sermon after the Rooseveltian style and that it seemed to go home to the hearts and minds of the people. A large crowd was present for it happened to be a “high” day at Ukiah with baseball, bronco busting and other sports and the whole crowd “turned in” to hear the Indians speak and sing.

In his usual “straight-from-the-shoulder” style, Parsons Motanic, the noted Indian athlete and wrestler told how he used to play all his games just at the time of church services so as to keep people away, but now he saw it all differently and saw how wrong he had been. He therefore urged all present to think of the course they were pursuing lest they mislead the children.

He had spoken in this vein until at least 9:30 and had indicated that he better close when voices from the audience called, “give us some more.” The Indians therefore spoke and sang again.

Minthorn and Motanic returned on horseback while Harper returned by stage to Pilot Rock and then by train to Pendleton. After a conference here last evening with Chairman J. M. Cornelison of the Home Mission Committee, he left for his home at Milton on the evening train.

It is said that Harper and the two Indians left warm spots in the hearts of the Camas Prairie citizens and were given many urgent invitations to return.

Lion Fondles a Child.
In Pittsburg a savage lion fondled a child that a child thrust into his cage. Danger to a child is sometimes great when least regarded. Often it comes through colds, croup and whooping cough. They slay thousands that Dr. King's New Discovery could have saved. “A few doses cured our baby of a very bad case of croup,” writes Mrs. George B. Davis, of Flat Rock, N. C. “We always give it to him when he takes cold. It's a wonderful medicine for babies.” Best for coughs, colds, la grippe, asthma, hemorrhages, weak lungs, 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. PROTECT AMERICANS FROM COB “PIRATES”

Vienna.—Americans and other innocent foreigners are to be protected by law against the Viennese pirates who ply for hire with canes.

In view of the large number of tourists who are expected here for the Field Sports Exposition, the governor of Lower Austria has issued special regulations with the object of compelling cab-drivers to keep within their legal rights in charging their fares, and not to demand exorbitant rates from strangers who are not well acquainted with the city and the regulation scale of fares.

A Regular Tom Boy.

Her mother just applied Bucklen's Avenica Salve and cured her quick. Heals everything healable—boils, ulcers, eczema, old sores, corns or piles. Try it. 25c at Tallman & Co.

MODEL TOWN SHOCKED; MAYOR SHOTS CRAPS

Jerseyville, Ill.—The model Illinois village of Elsah, where there are no doctors, lawyers, undertakers or jails and where there has not been a death in a decade, is shocked. It has been more or less shocked for a good while but the unwelcome thrills never came in quite such rapidly jarring measure as they did when President R. L. Mott of the village board and 10 young men were fined the other day for shooting craps.

But the worst came in the discovery that Mott had paid his fine and costs, $11.20, not to Justice Henry Worthey, who imposed the penalty, but to Justice Erwin at Jerseyville, the county seat.

That their mayor—for so the president of the board is generally known—should so far forget himself as to shoot craps with a group of youths grieved and somewhat surprised the villagers. But that, having been fined, he should deprive the town of $11.20 revenue by paying the fine at $11.20 revenue by paying the fine at $11.20.

When the board passed an anti-wheelbarrow ordinance forbidding the trundling of monocytes on the sidewalks, Mott defied them by making a public procession through the village, pushing a wheelbarrow. The old men declined to test the ordinance by arresting him, but one of them later, it is believed, obtained the information which led to the mayor's arrest for crap shooting.

Just Like a Woman.

A Boston physician was describing a week's drive that he took last fall through some of the most picturesque districts of New England.

“I saw much that was memorable and heard much that was worth remembering on this quiet, bucolic excursion.

“I remember an elderly justice of the peace in a beautiful New Hampshire village near Lake Sunapee. I stayed there all night with this fine, keen old man. He amused me and impressed me with his mordant humor.

“During the evening the question of the unreasonableness of womankind came up for discussion. ‘Ah,’ said the old justice, ‘woman is unreasonable, very unreasonable indeed. In fact, there is no living creature so unreasonable as woman. I remember that my wife and I were talking over our affairs one day, and we agreed that it had come to the point where we must both economize.’

“‘Yes, my dear,’ I said to my wife, ‘we must both economize—both!’

“‘Very well, Henry,’ she said with a tired air of submission to an unpleasant condition, ‘you shave yourself, and I'll cut your hair.’”—Boston Post.

Hymnological Ineptitude.

The story of a minister who held a religious meeting in a penitentiary and aroused the ire of the inmates by announcing as a hymn that one beginning, “The dying thief rejoiced to see” is equaled by the tale of a local preacher whose church got in debt not long ago. A congregational meeting was held for the purpose of extricating it, and the chairman of the board of deacons, or whatever the financial body was, got up and stated the situation and ended by calling for a special collection to make up the deficit.

“I suggest that we sing a hymn,” one of the members of the church suggested.

This idea was carried out, and the number of the song was announced. A smile overspread many faces, however, when they reached the line, “When we asunder part it gives us inward pain.”

Nevertheless the “sundering” process was most successful and wasn't particularly painful either.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Tailed Englishmen.

Natives of southern Arabia believe that Christians wear hats only to hide their horns. Formerly the continent of Europe clung to the conviction that the Englishman's nether garments concealed a tail. So late as the reign of Edward VI, according to Bale, “an Englishman cannot travel in another land by way of merchandise or any other honest occupying, but it is most contemptuously thrown into his tethers that all Englishmen have tails.” The belief probably arose from the legend of the “Kentish Longtalls.” The people of either Canterbury or Strood (for the legend varies) mocked at Becket as he rode by on an ass and cut off the ass' tail. Wherefore they and their descendants were cursed with tails thereafter. At least so said jesters of other countries, and the slander eventually reacted upon England in general. Another version substitutes St. Augustine and Dorsetshire.

Cold as a Cure.

Cold of a certain intensity produces not only hunger, but, as it has been proved, health as well. Raoul Pictet, the famous Swiss chemist, was making experiments on a degree of cold considerably lower than any which occurs naturally, and he found that at temperatures between 110 and 150 below zero no covering of any kind would keep cold out, or, more exactly, would keep warmth in. There is nothing surprising about that. The surprise is in the result. M. Pictet is a gentleman who has suffered greatly from indigestion. After an exposure of several minutes to the cold which he had produced he experienced a sensation of hunger which he has described as ravenous. When he had eaten he experienced none of the tortures of his ailment, and when he had alternately frozen and eaten three or four times he found himself entirely cured.—London Telegraph.

The Gallant Cabman.

Nothing perhaps produces quite so much wit from a cabman as a sense of being underpaid, which in most cases means that he has been justly paid. A lady who had been guilty of this kind of justice experienced the usual sense of discomfort when her driver straightened the palm into which she had just dropped her shilling and looked at her speechlessly. She was weakly about to add another sixpence when the cabby's sense of humor prevailed. He transferred the shilling to his pocket and smiled sweetly down at his embarrassed fare. “Course, missy,” he remarked, “there was the pleasure of drivin' you!”—London Chronicle.

Arundel Castle.

The most singular circumstance about Arundel castle is that its owner, by mere right of ownership, is Earl of Arundel in the peerage of England. It is believed that there is no similar example of a peerage held on such conditions. Apparently there would be no legal obstacle, were the house of Howard to fall upon evil days and the castle be sold to some millionaire, to prevent the millionaire taking his seat in the house of lords as Earl of Arundel.—London Standard.

A Reflection on Him.

“Quarrelled on their wedding day? Dreadful! And what about?”

“The bride's girl friends cried too vociferously to suit the bridegroom.”—Louisville Courier-Journal.

To be vain of one's rank or place is to show that one is below it.—Stanislaus.

AMERICAN SINGERS INVADE OLD WORLD

Paris.—The great musical centers of Continental Europe are literally thronged with American singers. As there are more opera houses in Germany than in Italy or France of course the greater number are to be found singing in Germany. In seven concerts recently given in Berlin none but American singers figured on the programs.

Paris retains some transatlantic stars. Miss Minnie Tracey, of New York, has just been engaged at the Gaiety. Her voice is not powerful, but it is exquisitely cultivated and she bids fair to become a great Parisian favorite. Miss Tracey is a daughter of the late Commissioner John Tracey. This is the first time an American singer has been engaged at the Gaiety.

DEATHS OF ROYALTY BLAMED TO COMETS

London.—The fact of King Edward's death happening while Halley's comet was approaching the earth has naturally been seized upon by dabblers in “occult science” as a fresh argument in favor of the theory of heavenly portents.

Much has already been published regarding the supposed malign influence of Halley's comet, but Encke's comet, which appears at much shorter intervals, has also a remarkably sinister record in portending the death of kings and other great personages. Here is the list:

1819—Death of George III in 1820.
Death of the Duke of Kent in 1820.
1828—Death of William IV in 1837.

Monacans Angry at Pope.

Monaco.—So indignant is the population of Monaco at the pope's refusal to receive the prince of Monaco that it is proposed to refuse papal 5 franc pieces at the tables in the Casino. As these coins are not good currency elsewhere, the protest is formidable.

1878—Death of Princess Alice in 1878.

- 1891—Death of the Duke of Clarence, 1892.
- 1901—Death of Queen Victoria, 1901.
- Outside the British royal family the following deaths are associated with Encke's comet:
 - 1736—Frederick the Great.
 - 1805—Nelson.
 - 1812—Assassination of Premier Perceval.
 - 1852—Duke of Wellington.
 - 1878—Victor Emmanuel, King of Italy.
 - 1882—Lord Beaconsfield and Thomas Carlyle.
 - 1885—General Gordon killed at Khartoum.
 - 1888—Emperor William I and Frederick of Germany.
 - 1898—Gladstone and Bismarck.
