Will Report June 20.
At an extended conference last night between the committees from the city council and the commercial club and District Manager Van Houtte of the Pacific Telephone company, that official asked to have June 20 set as a date for the company to present a statement showing the valuation and the earnings of the company in Pendleton. Strain, chairman of the council committee, and was attended by some 20 or more local residents in addition to the joint committee.

Kaiser Will Greet Veterans of U. S.
Berlin.—The kaiser will as soon as it can be arranged, grant a special audience to the party of 175 veterans of the German army who have come from America to visit the battlefields where they fought for the fatherland. His majesty has shown much interest in this pilgrimage and has given personal instructions that every courtesy and facility shall be shown these old soldiers of the empire now citizens of the great empire on the other side of the Atlantic. Only the necessity for his going to England to be present at the funeral of his uncle, the late King Edward, prevented his receiving the Americans when they first arrived. It is the purpose of the pilgrims to remain in Germany until the latter part of August, when they will visit the battlefields in Alsace-Lorraine and will follow the march of the German army to Paris.

An exchange says Taft is a true blue republican. But an extended definition is necessary.

Roseburg, Ore.—While a band of sheep were being driven through this city yesterday, one of the number strayed from the band and wandered into one of the business streets. As it passed along the streets it happened to see its reflection in a large plate glass window. Not liking the looks of his double, the sheep made a dive for him and landed on the inside of the store. Falling to find his "friend," the sheep immediately made his exit through the hole which he made upon entering. There wasn't much left of the window, and the total damage was about $40.

HORSES FROM U. S. ARE IN THE ROYAL EXHIBIT

London.—A number of Americans will exhibit at the Royal horse show to be held June 17-18. It was thought for a time that the death of King Edward would lead to the calling off of the show, but King George indicated his desire it should be held.
Judge W. H. Moore, already so widely known on this side of the Atlantic for his famous American stud, and whose horses will be in competition, is presenting a valuable trophy for high jumpers, while C. W. Watson and Alfred Vanderbilt are also giving prizes, the last named a pair of handsome silver vases designed by himself.
One of the most interesting exhibits will be Walter Winans' Chantecler and Eros, two new carriage horses. Mr. Winans has bred by crossing the American trotter with the hackney in order to get an improvement on each for ordinary carriage work in town and country. The hackney is slow in these days of automobiles, but Eros and Chantecler are capable of exceeding the speed limit, 20 miles an hour, and are handsome in appearance than their parents.
The American trotter, Mr. Winans says, is a little too light to work well in a victoria or brougham and does not step high enough, while the hackney is as a rule, short-necked, coarse-headed and lacking in quality, besides being painfully slow. The cross between the two combinations beauty, quality and courage of the American trotter with the strength and action of the hackney. Chantecler is by Sir Walter Gibben's hackney Brave Member out of Mr. Winans' Lady Brilliant, a George Wilkes standard bred American trotter.

Eros is a bay gelding by His Majesty, the hackney who was sire to the world's champion, Forest King, out of Lady Beechwood. Eros, Mr. Winans claims, is the handsomest horse he has ever bred and to use his own words, "He is all quality and has an all-round action like a stag."
