ARGUMENT FAVORING
BILL BEING DRAWN

Visiting Bankers Will be Entertained
With Auto Trip to Wenaha Springs
Where Trout Lunch Will be Served.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Commercial club held last evening the subject of the campaign for the proposed eastern Oregon branch insane asylum was up for discussion. A communication from Representative McKinney of Baker City was read. In the same Mr. McKinney asked that the people of this city co-operate with those of Baker City and La Grande in paying for the argument that may be included in the booklet sent to all voters by the state.

It was the sense of the meeting last evening that the club co-operate with Baker City and La Grande in sharing this expense, provided the argument is so worded as to be acceptable to the people of this city. Secretary Ben Hill was instructed to so notify the Bankers.

A communication from Dr. N. G. Blalock, asking for a representative from this city to confer with Walla Walla people regarding the subject of opening the Columbia was received. The matter was left in the hands of the committee on county interests.

As chairman of the committee providing arrangements for the bankers' convention which is to meet here June 24 and 25, President W. L. Thompson made a report of the plans under consideration. A feature of the entertainment of the bankers will be an auto trip to Wenaha springs where the financiers will be treated to a trout luncheon provided by the members of the local anglers' association.

A courteous invitation for local people to attend the fourth of July celebration at Pilot Rock was received.

KINDNESS WILL BRING FORTUNE TO WOMAN

Spokane, Wash.—Bread cast upon the waters in nursing back to health and grubstaking a prospector in the Montana hills, 20 years ago, probably will return in the shape of a fortune, estimated at $2,500,000, to Mrs. Dolley E. Baker living with her family in northern Idaho 35 miles east of here. R. J. Filmore of Rochester, N. Y., who is on the way to Spokane, believes the woman is the rightful heir, designated in the will as "Dolly Grant" divorced from Willard J. Grant at Helena, Mont., in June, 1890.

"It might be that one of the boys in the old mining camp remembered me," she continued, "for in those days, as is the custom today, the settler keeps the latchstring on the weather side of his shack. My family befriended many prospectors in those days when sick and in need and in numerous instances we provided grubstake after they recovered their health and were able to continue the search for the yellow metal in the hills.

"But the whole thing is a mystery to me, as I do not even know the name of the person who has made me his heir, and probably I shall not learn it until after Mr. Filmore has completed his investigation and I prove that I am the 'Dolly Grant' he is looking for in the northwest."

To establish her identity, Mrs. Baker produced the decree of the court in Helena, granting a divorce from Grant at the time mentioned, but said that she is unable to recall any one who could leave a fortune to her, adding it could not be a relative, as other members of her family, which is a large one, would have heard of it, and advised her long before this.

Mrs. Baker was located near Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, as the result of an item appearing in western newspapers several weeks ago.

Several new flowers, plants, fruits, grasses, vegetables and some new species of the thornless cactus will be brought into perfection, after Burbank has spent several years of diligent work upon them and other creations. Both at the private experimental grounds here and on the inch of ground is occupied with some form of plant life with which Burbank is experimenting.

The poppy garden and the amaryllis beds have been in full bloom, offering color tints that rival the rainbow hues in their beauty and significance. Hundreds of people have viewed the wonderful display of flowers.
