THE RIGHT DAY.
Here's a ray of sunshine,
Bright as bright can be,
An' the mockin' bird a-sing,
In' the old mulberry tree.
Singin'—for he knows
The way the weather goes
An' your sweetheart will be
Smilin' an' givin' you a rose.
So, get out in the sunshine
An' the wind a-blowin' free
Where the mockin' bird makes
Music in the old mulberry tree.
He's the bird that knows
The way the weather goes,
An' yonder comes your sweet-
heart, wh'ol' be givin' you a rose.
—Frank L. Stanton.

A PROGRESSIVE VICTORY.
In Iowa the progressive forces under the leadership of Dooliver and Cummins have won a sweeping victory. Out of eleven members of congress the progressives will have eight. The legislature is progressive and so will endorse the actions of the two progressive senators. It seems also that Garst, progressive candidate for governor is nominated, though his opponent, Governor Carroll, made a desperate effort to steer clear of the factional fight.

The result in Iowa is significant because the fight between the progressives and the standpatters within the republican party is the liveliest thing now on in the political world. At this time the progressive movement bids fair to bring about a political realignment. As a matter of fact the country is now divided more in accordance with progressive and regular lines than by the old time party lines. In congress the old lines have been all but obliterated. On vital questions the line-up now is progressive versus standpatters.

For months past the standpatters within the party have been trying to down insurgency. They have enlisted President Taft in their cause and he has been using the power of his great office to whip the dissenters into line. But they do not heed Taft. On the other hand they are openly fighting him. The fight in Iowa was on the issue of whether or not the Taft administration should be endorsed. It was not endorsed.

It will be interesting to watch the course of the progressive movement during the next two years. It may come to pass that some such men as Senator Dooliver will run for president, not as a republican or as a democrat, but under the banner of the progressive party.

THE ONLY WAY.
In the fate that is fast overtaking the income tax amendment there is a powerful argument in favor of Oregon's method of choosing United States senators. At this time six states of the union stand in favor of the income tax while five have voted against the amendment. It seems plain that the amendment will be lost. This because the interests that are opposing the income tax are able to handle the boss-ruled legislatures. Now it has long been the plea of those who oppose the statement No. 1 plan of electing senators that if the method of electing senators is to be changed a constitutional amendment should be enacted. This would necessitate action by both houses of congress and by the various state legislatures. It goes without saying that the United States senate at present would not stand for such a change and in view of the way of legislatures are voting upon the income tax it is doubtful if a majority of the legislatures would favor it. This despite the fact that public sentiment all over the country is clearly in favor of direct election.

ing to direct election of senators. Require legislators to pledge themselves to elect the popular choice. It is the sensible thing to do and it can be done. Oregon now has two senators that were elected under this method. If other states of the union will but take up this system it will not be long until the United States senate will be dominated by men elected directly by their people and who will accordingly favor a constitutional change. But if we wait for the constitutional change to come first the American eagle will be blind, bald and gray before the upper house is made a truly representative body.

STAY WITH US.
Two carloads of intending purchasers are now viewing the Umatilla project as guests of Dr. H. W. Coe and his organization. They are from the Dakotas and apparently would like to settle in the Golden West. If so and if they are seeking irrigated land they could go far indeed and find nothing better than the land under the Umatilla project. True the project is largely unsettled and undeveloped at this time. But the great essentials are there. The soil is perfect, there is ample water and the government is behind the project. The altitude of the project is right, the climate likewise and the project is so located geographically as to be favored in the matter of connection with markets. It has connection with two transcontinental railway lines and also with a mighty river that will soon be open to the sea.

Here's hoping the Dakotans now at Hermiston will find some investments to their satisfaction and that they will locate upon the project and help transform that desert valley into a land of "milk and honey."

When the twenty-fifth infantry went wrong at Brownsville, Texas, President Roosevelt dismissed from the service an entire battalion of that command. Evidently the regiment needs another weeding out but President Taft does not seem inclined to undertake the job.

It will not be long now until the district fair pavilion will be thronged with people who want to see the products of this district displayed.

At last we have had favorable weather for a band concert and the attendance last evening was large in accordance.

Dooliver and Cummins seem to stand very well at home.

PRAYER.
Still, still with Thee when purple morning breaketh,
When the bird waketh, and the shadows flee;
Fairer than morning, lovelier than daylight,
Dawns the sweet consciousness, I am with Thee.
Alone with Thee amid the mystic shadows,
The solemn hush of nature newly-born;
Alone with Thee in breathless adoration
In the calm dew and freshness of the morn.
As in the dawning, o'er the waveless ocean
The image of the morning star doth rest;
So in this stillness Thou beholdest only
Thine image in the mirror of my breast.
Still, still to Thee! as to each newborn morning,
A fresh and solemn splendor still is given,
So does this blessed consciousness awaking
Breathe each day nearness unto Thee and heaven.
—Harriet Beecher Stowe.

THE VOICELESS.
We count the broken lyres that rest
Where the sweet wailing singers slumber—
But o'er the silent sister's breast
The wild flowers who will stoop to number?
A few can touch the magic string,
And noisy Fame is proud to win them!
Alas for those who never sing,
But die with all their music in them!

Nay, grieve not for the dead alone,
Whose song has told their heart's sad story—
Weep for the voiceless, who have known
The cross without the crown of glory!
Not where Leucadian breezes sweep
O'er Sappho's memory-haunted billow,
But where the glittering night dews weep
On nameless sorrow's churchyard pillow.

O hearts that break and give no sign
Save whitening lip and fading tresses,
Th' death pours out his cordial wine
Slow-dropped from Misery's crushing press—
If singing breath or echoing chord
To every hidden pang were given,
What endless melodies were poured,
As sad as earth, as sweet as heaven.
—Oliver Wendell Holmes.
If a man is willing to be a husband seems to be more important these days than if he is capable of being a good one.

THE DEED IS THE MAN.

The Dream is the babe in the love-lit nest,
And the rollicking boy at play;
The Dream is the Youth with the old, old zest
For the rare romance of a day.
Then the Deed strides forth to the distant goal
That has dangled since life began;
For the Dream is the child of the rampant soul—
But the Deed is the man!

The Dream is the peak that is seen afar,
And the wish for the eagle's wings;
The Dream is the song to the beckoning star
That the world-wait fondly sings;
Then the Deed comes crowned with the strength and skill
That doth perfect a golden plan;
For the Dream is the child of the Sovereign Will—
But the Deed is the man!

The Dream is the mask that would make men dare,
And the boast that would count them brave;
The Dream is the honors that heroes wear
And the glory that high hearts crave;
Then the Deed gives battle to pride and pelt
As only a conqueror can;
For the Dream is the child of the Better Self—
But the Deed is the man!

CURIOUS FACTS.
Having crossed the Atlantic by scrubbing the decks on a tramp steamer, a Chicago stevedore named Edwards, has now won a $5000 wager by travelling on foot through Europe without money or a passport. He has just reached Antwerp, after a fourteen months' journey through France, Italy, Austria and Germany. An expert workman in one of the great British needle factories in a test of skill, performed one of the most delicate feats imaginable. He took a common sewing needle of medium size, an inch and five-eighths in length, and drilled a hole through its entire length from eye to point, the opening being just large enough to permit of the passage of a very fine hair.

Taking the British census costs about $750,000. About 40,000 enumerators will take next year's census. The government of Victoria, Australia, is promoting an immigration scheme to secure 40,000 settlers within two years.

The schoolmaster in the mixed village school of Mungenschwil, in the canton of Argovie, Switzerland, was shocked to find his pupils, boys and girls, smoking cigarettes secretly near the school. At the beginning of the girls, smoking cigarettes secretly near a quantity of strong Swiss cigars, and when the lessons came to an end he distributed the cigars freely among the scholars, and in order to give them a good lesson, insisted upon their smoking in his presence. Many of the scholars of both sexes returned home ill, and their parents have lodged a protest.

A Lincoln, Neb., woman was fined $10 for refusing to tell her age to a census enumerator. She paid the fine but Uncle Sam hasn't yet found out her age, and never will, unless she chooses to tell—and if she did, it would be no perjury to fib a year or two.

The Tenderfoot Farmer
It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations. It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak" the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness. To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use. In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine, it contains neither stimulants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

VAS ISS?
Editor East Oregonian:
Is there no city ordinance compelling a man to draw his window shades upon preparing to retire at night, when the room which he occupies is plainly visible to all wayfarers? Such inexcusable negligence (if such a lenient term could be applied in this case) has rendered it both annoying and unsafe for women to pass along Water street after approximately 9:30 in the evening.
