ECHO IS BANNER SHIPPING POINT

ONE OF BUSIEST CENTERS IN STATE OF OREGON

One Hundred and Twenty Five Cars of Sheep Have Been Shipped From There This Afternoon — Eastern Buyers Pleased With Stock.

(Special Correspondence.)

Echo, Ore., June 14.—Echo still holds her record of being the best shipping point in the state and this year has been the best in the history of the station. Yesterday ten cars of sheep belonging to J. T. Hoskins were shipped to Duncan for summer grazing. This makes in all one hundred and twenty-five cars billed from here this spring. Of these one hundred were forwarded to Chicago via the Harriman system to the Missouri river. The buyers were mostly eastern stockmen, who were here last year and were so well pleased with the purchases made at that time, that they came again this year and the heavy shipping was the result. Quite often in the past shipments originating here were routed via Wallula and shipped from that point, but now on account of the efficient service given by the O. R. & N. force here and the superiority of the Harriman system, the shipments are made direct from these yards.

Jas. Bottger, formerly of Rathdrum, Idaho, who purchased the Honipenger farm consisting of 320 acres of wheat land northeast of Echo, yesterday bought the residence and lot on the corner of Dale and Buckley streets of L. Scholl, Jr. Mr. Bottger has returned to Rathdrum for his family and household effects. He will return immediately and make his home here.

LIVED IN REIGN OF SIX KINGS.

English Colonel Nearing 100 Years, Still Hale and Hearty.

London.—To have lived in six reigns is an almost unique distinction, but Colonel Thomas Innes of Learney, Aberdeenshire, can claim to have done so. When he was born—in October, 1814—George IV was on the throne, thus the present sovereign is the sixth under whom he has lived. Though in his ninety-sixth year this veteran Scottish laird, who is Aberdeenshire's "grand old man," is still in vigorous health and is offering a prize of five pounds for a model in clay for a statue in granite of King Edward VII to be placed in front of Carisburgh college, Aberdeen, in commemoration of his late majesty's and Queen Alexandra's visit to the granite city in September, 1906. Colonel Innes was in the 2nd Gordon Highlanders and was married two years after Queen Victoria ascended the throne.

King Friend to Ireland.

Dublin, Ireland.—Friendly as was the late King Edward to Ireland, King George, it is understood, is not only to visit Ireland with Queen Mary early next year, but is contemplating a royal residence and spending some time each year in Dublin.

How much truth there is in the report of a royal residence is not known but in official circles it is received with considerable credence.

It is further stated that King George is strongly in favor of granting home rule to Ireland.

Utterly Wretched

Nervous Prostration Long Endured Before Remedy was Found.

Miss Minerva Reminger, Upper Bern, Pa., writes: "For several years I had nervous prostration, and was utterly wretched. Am now cured."

BURGO PREPARING FOR BOUT WITH MULLIN

According to a letter received by the sporting editor from Burgo, the La Grande boxer who is to meet Barney Mullin in this city the evening of June 24, the former has started training in preparation for the match. He says he has already disposed of 12 pounds of surplus flesh. Despite the hot weather he says he is doing about ten hours of work each day. He spends an hour and a half in the gymnasium, boxes about ten rounds besides various other work such as dumb bells, rope skipping, bag punching and stomach exercises.

Burgo says he is feeling fine and is anxious for the evening of the bout to draw near. He also says there will be a large delegation of La Grande fans accompany him to this city to witness the match.

What a Summer Cold May Do.

A summer cold if neglected is just as apt to develop into bronchitis or pneumonia as at any other season. Do not neglect it. Take Foley's Honey and Tar promptly. It loosens the cough, soothes and heals the inflamed air passages, and expels the cold from the system. Koepfen Bros.

YOUNG ATHLETES BATTLE WITH GLOVES FOR GIRL

San Rafael.—In a dilapidated barn on the outskirts of this city Eugene Burns, champion amateur swimmer, and William Maghetti, well known distance runner, faced each other in an affair of honor, the hand of pretty Wilfred Van Horn, a vivacious milliner, being the stake.

The two youths donned ten-ounce boxing gloves, duelling irons being barred, not because they were dangerous, but because they made too much noise in an empty barn.

For six rounds Burns and Maghetti banged each other with the big gloves. The seconds, six in number, stood barefooted, because noise was barred, and in whispers urged on their respective friends.

But someone told Miss Van Horn that a duel to the death was going to be fought, and while the boys were hammering each other, she telephoned Constable George Agnew and told him—without naming her favorite—that two young men were murdering each other in a barn.

Agnew hunted for the barn, but could not find it. He passed by the tumbledown barn in which the near duel was being fought, but a lookout peering through the crack gave the alarm and the duelling party dispersed.

Honors were declared even by Referee J. Polmann and another duel will probably be necessary unless Miss Van Horn names her choice.

BIOGRAPHERS ARE MAKING HAY WHILE SUN SHINES

London.—England is in for a terrible time. An inundating biographical wave is sweeping over the land from which there is no escape. There is to be an obsession of the Edwardian era. The virtues of Edward the Peacemaker are to be proclaimed from the publishers' house tops at so much a dime, and a period of appreciation surflet is in store. Every publisher of appreciative turn of mind is preparing a biography of the late king.

Sir George Newnes put out a 59,000 word booklet within 24 hours of the king's death at the phenomenal price of a penny. Nelson, who is revolutionizing the English book trade, followed with sevenpenny paper, well stitched and bound in cloth, and Everleigh Nash is to publish a more expensive volume in a few days' time. In addition Sir George Newnes is publishing a life of the King in 15 sevenpenny parts and Hutchinsons are following suit.

Then Gassell, Murray and Greening and half a dozen others are weighing in with their contributions towards the Edwardian pool, so that one wonders if bankruptcy will be the reward of patriotism. In the words of Hamlet, there is "something too much of this" for appreciative as English people are of Edward's merits, they scarcely are likely to store up a library of untruthful history, which repeats itself on almost every second page and which is no more index of the real man than the false obituary columns. Before the authoritative life is issued, England will be completely tired of the name of Edward.

Glad to Recommend Them.

FAT JUSTICE DIES IN FRANCE.

Weighted 560 Pounds—Couldn't Travel by Rail.

Paris.—There has recently died in France a remarkable justice of the peace, M. Rolland, who was said to be the heaviest and stoutest man in the world. He weighed about 560 pounds, his height being 6 feet 2 inches. The size of his body was such that he could not go about on-foot or travel by carriage or rail.

To go from his home to the bench he was obliged to use a strong, heavy bath chair. The back of the conveyance had to be tilted upright, the magistrate leaning against it. The vehicle with its occupant was then brought to an almost horizontal position and drawn by a vigorous man to the court.
