WEEK END NEWS OF NORMAL TOWN

(Special Correspondence.) Weston, June 18.—W. H. Gould of Weston mountain was down from his ranch today laying in supplies and giving his attention to business matters.

Wm. Purcell together with his family were in town today from their Wild Horse ranch shopping and trading with the Weston merchants.

Some rain fell here during the night but not to any extent but sufficient to aid in keeping the air cool and the evaporation less so that the growing grain may get the full benefit of the recent rainfall.

Strawberries from off the mountains are still coming in to the Weston market, and are disposed of as soon as they arrive. Wm. Lehte brought down this morning some extra fine and large ones.

C. K. Bryson and daughter were among the number who were in town today patronizing the Weston stores.

S. J. Culley the retired Weston merchant was in from his farm south of town during the day, wearing a more than usual broad smile, conveying the impression that the late rain had greatly heightened the prospects of his growing crops.

Seth Hyatt and family came down from their mountain ranch early this morning to spend the day with friends and to do trading with our merchants.

Moses Taylor the wheat king of this section with his son John, was a business visitor during the day. He reports conditions as quite promising since the recent rain as to crops.

Mrs. Florence Madden and little son Bertram, accompanied with Miss Hannah Madden, sister of Dr. Madden, leave in the morning for Weiser, Idaho, to visit Mrs. O. W. Porter, mother of Mrs. Madden.

Mrs. J. E. McDaniel returned the other day from Bellingham, Wash., where she has been in attendance at the Normal school located at that place. Mrs. McDaniel was a former teacher in the Weston public school, and entered the Bellingham Normal school to take a course in pedagogy. Owing to the closing of the Oregon Normals, Mrs. McDaniel was compelled to enter a normal outside of the state.

D. D. Earr, of Walla Walla, paid the city a flying visit today, returning to the garden city on the first train out. He was here attending to some real estate matters.

Rev. Crooks, pastor of the Methodist church of Weston is in Spokane giving his attention to business matters and because of his absence there will be no services at the church during his absence. It is the intention of Mr. Crooks to make arrangements for new seats for the church while in Spokane as new and comfortable seats are part of the new improvements now being made and under construction for this institution.

EMPEROR FRANZ JOSEPH GREETED BY THROGS

Vienna.—Messages from Sarajevo, Bosnia, say that Emperor Franz Joseph is meeting with a fine reception in his tour of Bosnia. His majesty is far from showing any signs of fatigue. He is remarkably fresh and manifests vivid interest in everything concerning his new subjects. Despite the dismay of the court officials, the emperor in the most democratic fashion, walks among the jubilant crowds and speaks with the people without the least ceremony.

It is reported that J. T. Thorne has purchased a gasoline threshing outfit. Haying is in almost full blast here and all reports indicate that the wheat that is being cut is making almost double the amount to the same amount of ground cut last year.

Dr. Bleakney of Pendleton will deliver the Fourth of July oration. People here consider themselves fortunate in securing him as it is understood that several places wanted him but Holdman as usual landed the plum.

Harvey McCrea has been sick several days with the measles, but is at work again. W. L. Gerrant is clerking for F. L. McCrea and both he and the boss have been kept busy as people are getting ready for this summer's rush. Newton Miller, our blacksmith, is so rushed with work that it has been necessary for him to have an assistant for a few days.

Mrs. Robert Patchen and Mrs. Miller have returned from Portland, where they attended the rose carnival and visited with friends and relatives. They report a good time, but glad to get a sight once more of Holdman.

George Stangler of Pendleton was a Sunday visitor here, accompanied by his chum who clerks in the Peoples Warehouse. The rain of last week was welcome here and will insure a fair spring crop if no hot winds arrive for a while.

John Gentry took his year old baby in to see the elephant Friday and says that he had a good time. Quite a number from here attended the show and all were pleased with the attraction.

ANOTHER ENGINEER DOES HEROIC ACT

FORMER O. R. & N. EMPLOYEE PREVENTS WRECK ON D. R. G.

D. E. Carpenter Stops Runaway Train, Averting a Terrible Disaster—Prevents Collision by Quickly Reversing Engine.

Engineer Carpenter, who formerly ran an engine through this city on the O. R. & N., and who is a brother of Engineer Carpenter of the motor car now in service between Pendleton and Umatilla, has just won laurels for himself by preventing a disastrous wreck on the Denver & Rio Grande, the road for which he is now working. The following details of the sensational performance in which Carpenter performed are taken from a Denver paper: The quick action of D. E. Carpenter, one of the best known engineers on the Rio Grande, prevented what might have been a terrible wreck, probably costing scores of lives, when he stopped a runaway train Friday morning about 8 o'clock, four miles east of Helper.

Carpenter was going west on No. 1 and was nearing the end of his run. The passenger train, consisting of ten cars, was ripping along at a high rate of speed, when suddenly Mr. Carpenter's eye caught sight of a string of cars lurching around a curve about a half mile ahead of his speeding train. He realized at once that it was a string of runaways. Eleven cars, heavily loaded with bullion and ore, had in some manner broken away from the yards at Helper.

Carpenter saw that only the quickest of action would save his train from a frightful collision with the roaring herd which was rushing toward him. He slammed on the airbrakes, bringing his train to a standstill with a grinding of brake shoes and a bumping of the heavy cars. Like lightning he reversed the engine and opened wide the throttle, starting his train backwards with the runaway cars within a hundred yards of the passenger train.

The passenger gained headway rapidly and when the freight cars collided with it, the passenger was making fairly good speed and the shock was not great and did not damage. Mr. Carpenter started the train back toward Helper, pushing the runaways ahead of him and before he had gone very far he met the switch engine from Helper, bearing a badly frightened crew. They were pale-faced and had not yet recovered from the fright of what they felt absolutely sure would result in a terrible wreck. When they heard of the miraculous way in which the train had been stopped they could hardly believe their senses.

The train reached Helper safely and everyone was loud in their praise of Carpenter's presence of mind. Those who saw the loaded cars steal out of the yards, beyond the power of anyone to catch them, expected any moment to hear the crash of a collision, as No. 1 was nearly due.

TAX HEAVY ON TOBACCO.

Travelers Entering France at Cherbourg Allowed Few Cigars.

Paris.—American travelers with favorite brands of tobacco in their grips had better avoid Cherbourg as a landing place in Europe this year. For the new regulations in France are hard on smokers. Nominally, 10 cigars, 20 cigarettes, or one and a half ounces of tobacco are allowed free, which is less than half the former allowances. But customs officers on the French side are going further than that and declare they can levy 6 cents on any single cigar imported.

The changes affect Frenchmen, too, for the government tobacco monopoly has put up the price of all but the commonest classes of the weed from 10 to 50 per cent. A national league for the protection of smokers is raising protests all over the country and even if France Minister Cochery had intended to put the additional money into his own pocket he could not be more virulently abused.

But as a matter of fact the new imposition is not having the desired effect. The minister hoped to collect $10,000 a day more for the national exchequer, but since the new scale of charges came into force on May 13 the consumption of superior cigars, tobacco, and cigarettes has dropped to a remarkably low level, while the common caporal tobacco has trebled its sale.

So M. Cochery is in the horns of a dilemma. He hopes the public will return to the better brands, but if they don't he threatens to raise the price of the cheap varieties. If he does that he will rouse the proletariat, for the workmen are the chief consumers of "vaporal ordinaire" and the minister who touches their pipe will suffer as soon as the polls provide a weapon.

But there is a funny side to the situation. New and cheap brands of cigars and cigarettes are being put on the market arrayed in wondrous bands of brilliant hue. They bear such names as Favoritas, Aromaticas, Panetelas, Brevas, Trabucos, Picaduros, Londreitos, Damitas, Flor, and so forth. One Spanish word thus used means "a big musket" and another "a large, black, unripe fig." They are not so very inappropriate. Men with a sensitive palate are disgusted with them. But the men in the workmen's blue blouse smoke them in the boulevards with the air of pampered exquisites.

Uncle Sam Sells Hats. New York.—Possibly in time for this summer's wear, possibly not until straw hat weather is over for the season, the greatest bargain sale of Panamas ever held is in prospect, and Uncle Sam will be the auctioneer.

Secretary MacVeagh of the treasury department, Collector Loeb and United States District Attorney Wise talked over the recent seizure of Panama hats today and decided that proceedings should be taken in the federal courts for their forfeiture and condemnation. The hats, invoiced at $55,000, were said by the government to be worth $112,000, and, with the duty added, would be $160,000. Goods seized in this way by the government are sold at auction.

RUSSIAN SOLDIERS BRUTAL MURDERERS

Helsingfors.—A particularly brutal murder of a Finnish peasant by Russian soldiery and the neglect of the authorities to punish the murderers have provoked the greatest indignation in the country. According to the accounts published here, the victim was stabbed with bayonets by two drunken soldiers. At the police inquiry this was fully substantiated, and it was further shown that Muuri, the dead man, was a very respectable and quiet fellow. A court martial was promised by the military authorities, but has never been held. It is stated that an untrue report of the affair was presented to the emperor, who ordered the soldiers' release without trial.

So great is the scandal that the prosecutor general of the senate has addressed a public complaint to the governor general demanding some guarantee that military offenders shall be punished.

Mrs. Hattie Holdman made a trip to Adams Saturday, returning Sunday morning.
