

AN INTERESTING CONFESSION

"THE NEW IDEA."

We have a hobby. It concerns every man, woman and child in town. Our hobby is—but wait a moment. Suppose you are sick, or one of your family is sick. You consult the best physician you know of and he gives you a prescription. You have a right to take that prescription to any druggist, no matter whose name is printed on it. You have the same right to select your druggist that you do to select your doctor. Particular people bring their prescriptions to us, because our hobby is prescription work. We take the same sort of pride in compounding every prescription the very best way that an artist takes in painting the very best picture he can; the same that the conscientious doctor takes in bringing his patients back to health. We know drugs; we know where to buy the best. We get that kind. Appearances are deceptive. Two phonograph records look exactly alike, but the phonograph gets a $1.000 Melba song from one and a ragtime two-step from the other. So, with drugs, the inferior look as good as the best. Our hobby leads us to study each prescription to make it give the right results. There is no rule of thumb, no guessing—simply, accurate, scientific work done by men who know and love their profession. If there is any surer way than this we can't imagine what it is. And besides—Any physician who knows us will tell you "we do things right." The best way for you to know is for you to bring your next prescription here where such work is not regarded as a druggery, or a necessary evil, or as a good chance to get a big price for something—but where it is a "hobby"—where it is looked upon as the most important service we can render to our fellow-man. The price! We haven't said anything about the price. That won't bother you for a moment. We want all the prescription trade we can get. It would be foolish for us to charge too much. We can afford to charge a little too little, for the sake of building up a branch of our business in which we are very keenly interested. When you have a prescription, remember our hobby. Remember, too, that we will call for your prescription and deliver the medicine—phone us at any hour.

ELECTRIC COMPANY CHANGES AGAIN

PENDLETON PLANT INVOLVED IN BIG GENERAL MERGER

Pacific Light and Power Company is Name of New $7,500,000 Corporation—Will do Business on a Large Scale.

Pendleton is once more included in a general merger of electric light and power plants, according to an announcement made in Portland, Saturday afternoon. The changes have been coming so rapidly during the past few months that it is difficult for the local consumer to even give the name of the company from which he is getting electricity for either light or power and as for naming the owner or the interests back of the concern, that is out of the question. The name of the parent corporation which has just now been formed is the Pacific Power & Light company and with its formation there comes into being one of the most extensive public service corporations in the northwest. The capital is $7,500,000 and the concern is closely affiliated with the General Electric company and the Electric Bond & Share company. The work of organization was done by the American Power & Light company, of New York, which already owns the Portland Gas & Coke company. F. G. Sykes and S. Z. Mitchell, former Portland residents, are respectively president and chairman of the board of directors and Guy W. Talbot, of Portland, is vice-president of the American Power & Light company. The officers of the Pacific company have not yet been announced. The new concern plans a system of power development in the Pacific Northwest and will cover the Columbia, Yakima and Walla Walla valleys with its transmission lines and distributing system. Dozen Plants Controlled. More than a dozen large gas, electric light and power plants already have come under the control of the new company. The properties included are: Astoria—Gas plant, electric plant and street railway. Pendleton—Gas plant and electric plant. Adams—Electric plant. Walla Walla—Gas plant, electric plant, street railway and interurban line to Milton and Freewater. Lewiston—Gas plant. Pasco—Water works and electric plant. Kennewick—Water works and electric plant. Sunnyside—Electric plant. Mabton—Electric plant. Wapato—Electric plant. North Yakima—Gas plant, electric plant and water works. The company will own steam generating plants at Astoria, Walla Walla and Kennewick, a waterpower plant on the Walla Walla river, and combined steam and waterpower plants at North Yakima and on the Natchez river, ten miles above North Yakima. Electric Pumping Plant. It has about 150 miles of high tension transmission system extending from North Yakima to Pasco and from Walla Walla to Pendleton. Construction is being rushed on a 66,000-volt line, 45 miles long, between Pasco and Walla Walla, which will knit the Walla Walla and the Yakima systems into one, and pass through the irrigated section of Burbank and Atalla. New lines will be pushed in all directions where the possibility of business warrants the cost, and attention will be devoted to the possibilities of irrigation by electric pumping. The new owners believe there will be a demand for power in the Yakima, Walla Walla and Columbia valleys for this work, and are prepared to handle the new business just as soon as equipment can be constructed for the purpose. The principal offices of the company will be in Portland but there will be local offices in Astoria and Pendleton, Ore., Lewiston, Idaho, and North Yakima, Sunnyside, Mabton, Kennewick, Pasco and Walla Walla, Wash. There will come under the company's control the plants recently bought by the Columbia Power & Light company and the Yakima-Pasco company from the Northwest Light & Power company, of North Yakima, and the Yakima Valley Power company. The two latter companies have been known generally as Strahorn properties. The Columbia and Yakima-Pasco companies were formed pending the completion of the organization of the Pacific company. The Astoria Electric company and the Walla Walla Valley Railway company also will be

IS ACCOMPLISHED ARTIST
London.—Queen Mary, consort of King George V, is an accomplished artist. One of her paintings was exposed for sale at a charity fair at Hull—a small water color entitled "On the Marshes of Snettisham. Near the Queen's Bungalow," the "bungalow" being Queen Alexandra's retreat on the Norfolk coast, near Sandringham. The picture, which is a fine, broad treatment of landscape and clouds, will probably be acquired by the Hull Municipal gallery. The special interest of it rests on the fact that it was sent from London when the royal artist was Princess of Wales and reached Hull after she had become queen.
