Dynamite Caps Injure Boy. Gold Hill, Ore.—Jack Frost, aged 13, lies in the hospital here in danger of losing one of his eyes as the result of trying to celebrate with dynamite caps at Tolo, six miles south of here, on the Fourth. He was about to go in swimming with two other boys, but turned away from them a short distance to light one of the caps. He had nine, and they all exploded, driving sand and fragments of the caps into his body from head to foot. His clothes were ignited, and he jumped into the river to extinguish them. He was brought here on a cot in a wagon, and the wounds were dressed by Dr. Kelsey at the hospital. It is not thought that tetanus will develop, as the sand which was driven into the wounds was clean.

EDUCATION OF PASMORE TRIO COSTS A FORTUNE

Few people realize the tremendous cost and years of work expended in the education of the finished concert artist. It is estimated that the musical education of the famous Pasmore Trio, who have recently returned to this country from a successful European concert tour, amounted to more than $45,000. Since the trio is composed of three sisters who began their studies simultaneously, this expenditure has been divided equally among them. They play the violin, cello and piano, a combination which is at once unusual and beautiful. The people of the Pacific coast take a peculiar interest and pride in the ovations accorded the Pasmores because they are natives of the west. Their latest triumphs are now taking place in Chicago where the trio is playing before immense audiences.

Dear friend: You can tell good coffee by the smell. Closset & Devers coffee smells fine. It makes you feel good when you drink it, papa says. Mr. Clark sells this coffee and it is the best papa has ever used. Bad coffee makes you feel bad all day. Closset & Devers coffee smells so good that I beg mamma to let me drink it. Your friend, JACOB.

P. S. You can get a good broom, made in Japan, at Mr. Clark's, for only 35c.
