Funeral from Church.

Instead of being held from the family residence as announced yesterday, the funeral of the late Mrs. J. F. Temple will be held from the Presbyterian church. The service will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow forenoon.

M. J. Buckley Here.

M. J. Buckley, general superintendent of the O. R. & N., came in this morning from a tour of the Washington division and left on train No. 1 for Portland. He reports poor crop prospects in the Palouse country and was glad to hear of Umatilla county's bright prospects.

Pendleton Girl Will Wed.

Rumors have been circulating about the city for the past few days to the effect that one of the popular young ladies of Pendleton has been persuaded to kneel at the altar of Hymen and thus join the ranks of the summer brides. The groom, to be, it is said, is not a Pendletonian nor an Oregonian, but hails from another state, and claims his bride as the culmination of a school day romance. For the relief of the curious, it is very probable that an announcement party will be given in the near future.

Must Pay Board Bill.

A verdict for $85 in favor of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Kraft against Chris Stannul, was awarded by a jury in Justice of the Peace Parkes' court this morning. The Krafts had sued Stannul for the care of Mrs. Mollie Dempke and two children. Mrs. Dempke is the niece of Stannul and it was alleged that she and her children were cared for by the Krafts at the special instance of the uncle. They sued for $93 and were awarded $85 by the jury which was composed of L. C. Rothrock, Fred Raymond, A. Ruppe, V. Stroble, C. Branstetter and George McGinn. The defendant will also be compelled to pay the costs. Will M. Peterson was attorney for the plaintiff, while R. J. Slater represented the defendant.

Volunteers Are Wanted.

A call for volunteers to assist in planting the brook trout fry, due to arrive tomorrow morning, has been issued by President G. I. LaDow of the anglers association. Unless two owners of automobiles will volunteer to meet the train at 5:30 tomorrow morning and take the McKay and Birch creek consignments to their destinations it will be necessary to take the entire shipment to the mountains. Other volunteers are wanted to go up on the morning train to Gibbon and North Fork bridge to plant the trout in those streams. Those who wish, can make the trip and return tomorrow morning on the 10:15 train. Anyone desiring to make trip is urged to report to C. K. Cranston or G. I. LaDow.

OLD TIME PUGS MAY BOX.

Sullivan and Kilrain May Pull Off Bout in Walla Walla.

Walla Walla, Wash.—An exhibition fight under the old London prize ring rules, by two of the former masters of that branch of fighting, will be one of the attractions of the Walla Walla county fair, if arrangements now pending are carried out.

John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain are the two men who are to give the exhibition, and while the fight will not be a duplicate of the famous battle for the championship, which was fought in the south many years ago, it will illustrate the difference in the methods of fighting.

The Walla Walla Fair association has been in communication with the two men and has all but completed the arrangements for their appearance. Just before the Jeffries-Johnson mill a telegram was received by the secretary of the fair association stating that the two were willing to come if the proper monetary consideration was arranged. This, it is understood, has been done.

The two old-time scrappers are to appear in other cities of the northwest as well as in Walla Walla, if they can fix the matter up. In fact, the two old fellows hope to follow the circuit of the North Pacific Fair association, taking in Salem, Portland, Seattle, North Yakima, Lewiston, Spokane and Boise. Some of these towns have turned down the ex-pugs, but it is thought enough of them will fall in line to make the proposition worth the while of the old-timers.

BABIES STOP THE TRAINS.

Wives of Strikers Put Infants on Tracks Before Engines.

Paris.—Quarrymen who have gone on strike at Mery-sur-Oise, in the department of the Seine-et-Oise, are resorting to measures of violence and the situation has become critical. One night 200 strikers and their wives turned the Mery station into a camp and slept with their families on the rails in order to prevent trains leaving the quarry works.

Mothers deliberately laid their babies on the lines, ran alongside the locomotives and defied the engine drivers to proceed. The strikers made bonfires of sleepers and passed the night in the open air. A force of gendarmes has been sent to the district.

MANY BABY TROUT FOR COUNTY STREAMS

Twenty thousand eastern brook trout fry are to be planted today and tomorrow in the streams of Umatilla county. The first shipment was received this morning from the hatchery at Clackamas and consisted of 9000 young fish to be distributed between Bear creek, Camas, Bridge and Cable creeks.

The baby fishes arrived on train No. 6 at 5:25 this morning and immediately thereafter the Bear creek assignment was loaded into a wagon and has already been deposited in that stream. The fry for the streams in the southern end of the county were taken to Pilot Rock on the train where they were met by Frank Hillbert and taken to their destination.

The consignments for the Umatilla river, Meacham, Birch and McKay creeks will arrive tomorrow morning at 5:25 and Secretary Cranston is now busily engaged in looking for volunteers to assist in the work of planting the young fish in the streams. Anyone wishing to assist in the work is requested to report to Cranston.

PAYS GREAT TRIBUTE TO THE PASMORE TRIO

When the Pasmore Trio gave their big concert in the Greek theater, Berkeley, last fall, Walter Anthony, the eminent musical critic of the San Francisco Call, had the following to say, in part:

"Welcome was given to the Pasmore Trio at the Greek theater last night. Dorothy Pasmore played the Saint-Saens A-minor concerto and an arrangement of 'The Old Folks at Home' on the cello. Her rendering of the difficult number was scholarly and sure. Particularly appealing was her tone in the allegretto movement. From the first short dissonant chords, to the finale, she was mistress of the situation and played with emotional fervor and academic accuracy. Mary Pasmore, the violinist, presented La-blo's Spanish symphony. The essence of her presentation was delicacy and purity. Her tone was broad and full, her musicianship undeniable and her technique adequate. Virile strength is compensated by an alluring sweetness and beauty, and she plays from the heart."

The Pasmores will appear at the Methodist church Friday, July 15, under the management of Fitzpatrick & Norwood.

BALFOUR, THE GOLFER.

Wins Parliamentary Golf Handicap for the Third Time.

London.—Arthur Balfour, leader of the opposition, has achieved the distinction of winning the parliamentary golf handicap for the third time on the Royal St. George club's links at Sandwich. His previous victories were in 1894 and 1897. No other player has secured the handicap winning but once.

Almost any member of parliament will say that to win this tournament is better than to enter the cabinet. Mr. Churchill has won his way into office, but he has not yet mastered the art of playing golf. However, he is trying hard. When he was electioneering at Dundee he found time to play several rounds and his handicap is now 24. From this figure it is a little difficult exactly to estimate his form. For 24 is, in the case of the majority of clubs, the biggest handicap allowed.

Mr. Asquith is a keen golfer, whose good intentions are not invariably fraught with good results on the links.

Some seven years ago Mr. Lloyd George took part in the tournament at deal, and in the qualifying round of eighteen holes against bogey returned a card of 17 down, having with a handicap of 24 succeeded in halving one hole. His score pointed a fondness for big figures that one might have expected of a chancellor of the exchequer. But Mr. Lloyd George knew very well that this kind of play would never get him into high office, so off he went to Nice where he did the seventeenth hole in 1.

A real loss to the tournament is Lord Gladstone, who ought to have at least one win to his credit, for only bad luck has stood in the way. His handicap is 2, and in 1907 he won the medal at Littlestone.

The competition this year took for the first time the form of a round against bogey. Mr. Balfour was in excellent form, and, playing off a handicap of 11 he made the fine return of 1 down.

There were eighty-one players, all members of parliament, but thirty-nine did not hand in their cards. Mr. Balfour showed all his old form. He missed only one tee shot (that at the eighteenth hole, when his victory was assured) and appeared to be driving distinctly further than for several years past. His approaching and putting were consistently steady, and with a handicap of 11 he returned a card of 1 down.

Among those who knew the links it was expected that a return of two down would be sufficient to triumph. It would have been good enough, but Mr. Balfour beat. The greatest obstacle to low scoring was the inordinately length of grass on either side of the somewhat narrow fairway. Anything like a long shot out of it was impossible. It was reported that a two handicap player, practicing on the preceding the competition, lost nine balls in the rough.

STRANGE TOURIST SIGHT.

Remains of 1000-Year-Old Building Yet to be Seen.

London.—Every American who comes to London visits Westminster Abbey as a matter of course, and this summer tourists from the other side will find an added interest in the ancient church. This is the "Norman Undercroft," the only complete portion now remaining of Edward the Confessor's original building, and thus dates back nearly 1,000 years. This Undercroft is a low vaulted
