NORTHWEST NOTES

Brewer Killed by Fall.
Seattle, Wash.—Leonard Gehring, the superintendent of a local brewery, fell from the limb of a cherry tree in front of his Georgetown home last night and sustained injuries from which he died before medical aid could reach him. He fell 20 feet, striking on his head and fracturing his skull. He was a pioneer resident of the suburb and took a prominent part in the town's politics prior to its annexation to Seattle a few months ago.

Ground Beneath Wheels.
Walla Walla, Wash.—Jumping from a swiftly-moving interurban car at Blalock Orchards Monday, a Chinaman, Chung Wuse, fell beneath the wheels and was probably fatally injured. He was brought to St. Mary's hospital, where his skull was trepanned and the broken arms and legs were set, but his chances for recovery from the terrible injuries are small. The Chinaman could not make the conductor understand where he wanted to get off, and jumped when the car passed the station without stopping.

Wallowa Needs Rain.
Enterprise, Or.—Reports from all sections of Wallowa county are to the effect that unless it rains soon much of the spring grain will suffer to such an extent that the crop will be considerably below the average this fall. In the irrigated sections the alfalfa is being cut and the yield is about as good as usual. Timothy will not be ready to cut until about the 1st of August. While no sales have been made so far this year, hayraisers are anticipating a better price for both timothy and alfalfa than was obtained last year.

Horse Acts as Surgeon.
Walla Walla, Wash.—One of the most remarkable surgical operations ever performed in this city was that of William Gross, who lives on Pleasant street. A horse's sharp shoe was the instrument by which the offending growth was eradicated, and, although rather painful, the operation was quite successful.

Motorman Gets Shock.
North Yakima, Wash.—Stopping to pick up two women lying in the road along the car track, who had been thrown from a buggy which had been run into by an automobile, Motorman Schneider, of the Yakima Valley Transportation company, was surprised to recognize one of the women as his mother.

Motorman Gets Shock.
Eglin, Ill.—With a madman armed with a revolver as a passenger, Fred Ackerman, a wealthy cattle buyer, was compelled to drive his automobile at terrific speed for 20 miles over rough roads, according to the story he told to the local authorities. Ackerman was driving, between Elgin and Hampshire when he overtook a pedestrian who asked a "lift." The man climbed in and after Ackerman had driven a short distance whipped a revolver from his pocket, leveled it at Ackerman and commanded him to "show some speed."

As the whirling car reached the outskirts of Hampshire Ackerman told his passenger that the gasoline tank must be refilled. Ackerman entered a garage and summoned help. The man with the gun struggled with four garage employes ten minutes before he was overcome. It is believed he had escaped from an asylum.

2,500,000 Feet of Logs Burn.
Eugene, Or.—A forest fire that raged in the vicinity of Doyl's logging camp on the McKenzie river, 25 or 30 miles east of Eugene, the first of this week, destroyed about 2,500,000 feet of sawlogs belonging to the Booth-Kelly Lumber company, but did no other damage to speak of, as the trees are still green and vegetation is not dry enough to allow the fire to spread.

The fire was evidently started by blackberry pickers who were camped in that vicinity. Tuesday the flames were tearing through the brush up the side hill that had been logged off. The Booth-Kelly logging camp crew and a number of men residing in that vicinity succeeded in checking the flames, but if a strong breeze should come up today or tomorrow the fire is liable to spread. The fire is within 250 yards of the main McKenzie valley road and is a beautiful sight at night. The flames spread over 400 acres on the side hill and the whole valley is lighted up at night.

SONS OF OLD IRELAND TO GATHER IN PORTLAND

Portland, Or.—Coming on a peaceful mission of good will and brotherly love, more eastern people will invade Portland during the week beginning July 19 than went to Reno to see the Jeffries-Johnson fight. The Irishmen are coming 20,000 strong. Trainloads after trainloads will roll into the City of Roses, coming from every state in the union to attend the annual convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

The convention opens July 18th and ends on Saturday, July 23. Decorations in the halls where the convention meets will be unique. Real shamrocks, brought from Ireland, will be noteworthy features.

Every hour of the convention days that can be spared from the sessions will be crowded with entertainment for the visitors. There will be trolley trips galore to nearby points of interest, receptions and various features not yet announced. An excursion through the gorge of the Columbia river by excursion steamer is one of the big attractions. This trip will occupy one day and it is safe to say it will be long remembered.

Many of the visiting delegations will want to go down to the nearby ocean beaches and this will afford a delightful day's outing. Others will spend a little spare time in taking interurban trolley trips through the fertile farming regions of western Oregon and out into the big bodies of fir and spruce timber that are within easy reach of the city.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
I, Frank J. Cheney, make oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

WOMAN WHO STOLE PAYS WITH INTEREST

Cincinnati, Ohio.—Miss Irene Tedesche, sister of Mrs. F. H. Phillipson, has a letter whose writer she would like to know.

The communication came from Louisville and was written by a girl who said she was Miss Tedesche's classmate two years ago at the University of Chicago. She said she had taken $2.50 from Miss Tedesche's pocketbook during her university career. So much has her conscience troubled her since that she inclosed $200 to make restitution.

The theft so preyed on the mind of the writer, the letter said, that she was unable to sleep. Since she had invested the stolen money and the returns had been great, she asked that Miss Tedesche accept the $200.

A Golden Wedding

The only way to do this is to keep Ballard's Herbine in the house and take it whenever your liver gets inactive. 50 cents per bottle. A. C. Koepfen & Bros.

Bucket Shops Go to England.
London.—The crusade against bucket shops in the United States by the government has apparently driven many American bucket shop owners to England. There is a perfect flood of new bucket shops in London. The same old bait is given and judging from the number of new bucket shops springing up on all sides not only in London but in Manchester and other large cities of England, the English people are in for a great flooding. Most of these pools are offering 12 shillings for every two pounds invested per fortnight and the capital guaranteed against loss.

RECORD PURSES FOR RACES.

Winners at Harvest Festival in Portland Will Get Big Money.

Portland, Ore.—The biggest purse ever offered in the Pacific Northwest for a single race will be hung up at Portland this fall at the Harvest Festival and Race Meet, to be held by the Portland Fair and Live Stock association. It will be $10,000 and will be known as the banker's purse. Another race will net the winner $5,000 and will be known as the hotel men's purse. Many smaller prizes will be offered and it is believed the meet will attract more people than ever gathered at a similar affair in this section of the country.

The Portland Harvest Festival promises to have as its biggest attraction, James J. Hill, the great empire builder. A strong telegram, urging Mr. Hill to attend, has been sent to him and it is thought that if it is anywhere within the range of possibility, he will come to Portland at that time.

The fair and race meet will be held September 5 to 10. The management will play up the amusement idea in a manner never before attempted. There will be all kinds of attractions suited to varying tastes. Plans now under way are on a large scale and the showing of livestock of leading breeds will be extensive.

The Portland Harvest Festival is one of several fairs and livestock shows held throughout the Pacific northwest during the fall but the men behind the festival are going in to it determined to make it the best of the chain of fairs in this corner of the United States. Rivalry for first place may be keen but the management is going in to win and will have a remarkably good list of attractions arranged when the gates open in September.

The grounds east of the city where the festival will be held are ideal for the purpose and are easily reached by streetcar and autos, as well as by the O. R. & N. railroad.

MOVEMENT TO PREVENT TIMBER LOSSES BY FIRE

Portland, Ore.—A vigorous campaign to save the forests of the Pacific Northwest from the wholesale fire losses that occur during each dry season has been undertaken by the Western Forestry and Conservation association, embracing the state of Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and California. The work of the association is under the general direction of Forester E. T. Allen, with headquarters here.

The association represents 17 minor associations, four of them in this state. Printed matter is being sent out and fire warnings are being issued.

used to timber growers, millmen, farmers and others directly concerned. Officers of the association are: President, A. L. Flewelling, Spokane; secretary, G. M. Cornwall, Portland; treasurer, A. W. Laird, Potlatch, Idaho. The motto of the organization is: "Forest use supports all industries, forest waste injures all. Promote fire protection and share in the gain."

In its literary now being sent out, the association makes the statement that half the merchantable timber in the United States today is contained in the five states of the association, and that lumber production in the same territory is one-eighth of the total of the whole in the country. The forest protective associations which it represents already spend annually over $100,000 for fire patrol.

The association also employs a trained forester to assist its members who control timber to install and maintain improved methods of protection, cutting and reforestation. For the aim of the organization is not only the protection of existing forests but the judicious cutting of ripe timber and reforestation of logged off and burned over areas.

FOR DANISH DAIRIES.

Professor of Danish Agricultural College Seeks Suitable Location.

Portland, Ore.—To find available dairying districts in the Northwest where colonies of Danish dairymen may settle is one of the missions of Professor Bernard Boeggild, of the Danish American Agricultural College of Denmark, who is visiting the Pacific Coast. Professor Boeggild is a dairying expert from what is considered the foremost dairying country of the world. He will lecture on dairying while in Portland and elsewhere in the Northwest and his talks will be listened to with a great deal of interest.

The professor is inspecting the various dairying districts of the Northwest, learning the methods in use, the system followed by farmers in milk production, manufacture into dairy products and marketing, and the outlook here for the further spread of the industry. He has studied practical dairying in the various European countries but wants to add to his knowledge the methods in use here. Incidentally he will keep on the lookout for districts suited to dairying that is open to settlement, for Denmark is becoming overcrowded with dairymen.

Professor Boeggild will lecture before the State Medical association on the afternoon of Wednesday, July 20, at the Portland Commercial club and on the same night he will speak before the State Dairymen's association at the same place. The public is invited. The professor will illustrate methods in use in Denmark by the aid of lantern slides.

He will arrive in Portland next Saturday and will be entertained here over Sunday. On Monday he will be taken up the valley by automobile by Phil Bates and will visit the principal dairying points of the Willamette valley. He will speak here upon his return.

Howe—Howdy old fellow? We are going on a camping trip. Did you ever enjoy a camping trip where you had to do your own cooking and sleep beneath the stars?

Wise—Nope.
Howe—What! Do you mean to say you have never been on a camping trip?
Wise—No. I mean to say that I never enjoyed one.
