

MANY NURSERYMEN VISIT IN MILTON

DELEGATES TO CONVENTION ENTERTAINED IN BODY

President S. A. Miller of Association Which Met in Walla Walla, Brings Party of 150 to His Town—Short News Items of East End Town.

(Special Correspondence.) Milton, Or. July 16.—President S. A. Miller of the Nurserymen's Association, which is in session at Walla Walla, had for his guests today about 150 of the nurserymen. They arrived in Milton on a special trolley car and were met by the prominent citizens in autos and conducted around the city, after which they were taken through the Milton Nursery's extensive grounds and were given an open air banquet at the A. Miller residence. They returned to Walla Walla at 5 o'clock. Manager H. B. Lamb is able to be around again after his accident several days ago. Miss Ida Thompson is the new "hello" girl at the local telephone office. Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Elchenberger have moved to their new home four miles above Milton. Henry Frazier and Wm. Anderson, Jr., have returned from an outing at Salmon river. Lee Berry was down from Hill's camp today for supplies. Miss Florence Miller, stenographer for the Hunt Mfg. Co., at Walla Walla, was a Milton visitor last evening. Mrs. C. J. Wallingford is the guest until Sunday of Mrs. Richards at Ferndale.

WESTON GIRL DIES WHILE IN SPOKANE

MISS AMELIA NORDEAN SUCCUMBS TO TYPHOID

Well Known Young Lady Passes Away While Visiting Her Sister—Council Makes Plans for Increasing Water Supply—Short News Notes.

(Special Correspondence.) Weston, Ore., July 15.—Miss Amelia Nordean died at Spokane yesterday, July 14th, of typhoid fever. Miss Nordean has been on a visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. R. D. Cashert, for the past several months, and was stricken by the fever but a few days ago. Every care and attention that could be given failed to save her life. The funeral will be held at Spokane, and the members of the family left this morning to be present. Miss Nordean is survived by her parents, two sisters and four brothers. She was a member of the United Brethren church and also a member of the local Rebekah lodge. F. G. Lucas has sold a half section of land on the Reed and Hawley mountains to W. T. Purcell. The consideration is understood to be in the neighborhood of $2000. Weston's city council will soon have detailed plans completed for the making of certain improvements in the city's water system. It is understood that a dam will be laid across Pine creek reaching to bed-rock from which a large size pipe will be laid to convey the water to the reservoir. The estimated cost of the proposed improvements will reach into the thousands but if executed will solve the water question of the city for years to come. As in the case of most cities during the dry season there is a great scarcity of water but as per planned by sinking the dam to actual bed-rock it is believed that there will be a sufficiency of water for the needs of the city for all purposes. At last fall's election the voters decided to bond the city for what is believed will be all that is needed to meet the expense of these improvements, and the bonds have been taken up, and the money for the same is on hand. The work will be let by contract to the lowest and best bidder. J. H. Clodius has returned from a visit to his brother at Walsburg, Washington. J. S. Campbell, of Kentucky, is a late arrival and has decided to permanently remain with his family. He has rented a house and his family is now domiciled therein. Mrs. James La Lande, Miss Gertrude Wheeler, Miss Viva Warren, and Miss Fay Warren, leave in the morning for Cold Springs where they will camp for the hot season. They will soon be followed by several others for camping in and about Cold Springs is a favorite place for West-onites who wish to escape from the heat of the valley. Mr. and Mrs. James Woods of Moro, Sherman county, are here on a visit at the home of their son Wilbur Woods north of town. The Misses Ora and Mary Martin have returned to their home in Tygh valley after a few weeks visit with their grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gerberding. R. E. Driskell, who has been employed in Spokane for the past year is home visiting his parents. Mrs. William Lieualien has returned from her visit among relatives in Portland and the valley.

DOUBTED NEWS OF FIGHT

Crew of Alaskan Steamer Learns Truth But Does Not Believe

Seattle, Wash.—"Who won the fight?" was the first question the crew of the steamer Riverside, eight days out from Cordova, yelled to the longshoremen on the pier as the vessel tied up. In view of the fact that the Riverside is equipped with wireless telegraph, the question surprised the men on the dock until the wireless operator stepped ashore and explained. The Riverside left Cordova July 3. On the afternoon of the fourth, the crew laid off work and besieged the wireless room. Jeffries was a rank favorite, while Operator Russell was the sole Johnson man aboard. Late in the afternoon, Cordova answered Russell's continuous question: "Who won?" with Jeffries. Then the pitching of the ship jarred the detector and cut off communication. Joy was supreme with the crew. Five minutes later Russell caught Cordova again, and the message proved to be: "Jeffries knocked out in the fifteenth round. Johnson had everything his own way." "Johnson won," shouted Russell, but no one would believe him. He argued and reiterated to no avail until the end of the voyage. Men's oxfords cheap at A. Eklund's.

DOCTORS OPERATED THOUGH HE HAD NO APPENDICITIS

Sacramento Man Tells of Experience—Lost Many Friends—Now He Is Cured by Fer-Don's Medical Experts Who Are Now Located at 637 Main St. Above French Restaurant, Pendleton.

"I would not have had that operation for appendicitis for a thousand dollars," said Mr. J. T. Miller, living at 719 E. street, Sacramento. Some time ago the doctors operated on a man that he was suffering from appendicitis. "I did not have appendicitis at all, and the operation did me no good and now I have pain all the time from the incision. That operation was utterly needless." Mr. Miller has lived in Sacramento for several years, and is well known in that city.

Sick for Two Years. "I had been sick for two years," said Mr. Miller. "I think malaria is what began the trouble, and from that my liver got out of order, my digestion was bad. I became chronically constipated, and one thing brought on another until I was miserable most of the time. Finally the doctors decided that I had appendicitis and that I must undergo an operation. Of course, I did as they told me, and endured the pain and danger. Well, if I had appendicitis before the operation, I had it afterward, for it never made any change in my condition except to add to my pains.

Lost Many Pounds. "I was sick at my stomach, could not eat what I wanted without great pains and was in constant torment. I was losing weight until I was really thin. Then one day I read in the Sacramento papers that some new treatment was given by Fer-Don's Medical Experts and Bloodless Surgeons, and that they were curing lots of cases even worse than mine. I decided that if they could cure others, they could cure me. So I went down to their offices here in Sacramento, and asked to be placed under treatment. Well, there isn't much more to be told. Fer-Don's Experts cured me in just a few treatments, removing some gall stones from me without an operation. No knife was used—no pain was experienced. I have no more pain—no more sickness. I eat whatever I want and as much as I want, and I feel perfectly well. My strength is coming back, too. A month ago, the slightest exertion tired me dreadfully. Now I can walk and work and go about as I please without any ill effect."

The reporter, with a nose for news, heard the story of little Minnie Drummond of Oakland, who lives at 711 Twenty-second street. This little girl was suffering from an internal goitre that was fast effecting her eyesight to the effect that glasses seemed necessary.

"My little daughter is about well again," said the happy mother, and she had only four treatments."

Another Oakland man, D. Ranfers, of 2513 Opal street, said:

"I have suffered from stomach trouble for a long time and have tried many remedies, but received no benefit. I heard of Fer-Don and the European medical experts. I called at his office and was examined. After taking one dose of a peculiar medicine, a few hours after the tapeworm left my system. When asked what effect the tapeworm had on his general health, Mr. Ranfers said: "I seemed to be tired and dull much of the time. I had little energy and often my work was a burden to me. I was nervous and restless at night and my sleep did me little good. I would be as tired in the morning as at bed time. I usually had a bad taste in my mouth in the morning and a heavily coated tongue. "I suffered greatly from indigestion. I had heartburn, palpitation of the heart, dizzy spells and frequent and severe headaches. Often when moving quickly from one position to another, black spots would appear before my eyes and I would get very light-headed and dizzy.

"I think I owe Fer-Don and his European medical experts a great debt of gratitude and to show my appreciation I want the general public to know that I am marvelously benefited through their methods."

Miss Carrie McKay, 14 years of age, daughter of Mrs. Eliza McKay of Coleville, Mono county, has been mentally and physically afflicted ever since birth. She also has been a great sufferer from nervousness. Her sister, Mrs. Powell, residing at 302 Eleventh street, Sacramento, says: "Carrie is here with me. She has been a constant care to mother and my sister, and I have seen the time only recently, when she was as helpless as a little baby, being unable to even dress or undress herself. Her mind was in such a condition that we could not trust her alone, as she talked irrational and acted so queer. We heard about Fer-Don's experts when they were in Reno, and wanted to go and see them, as Reno was only a short distance from my home, Coleville. But we kept neglecting our visit to them until it was too late, as Fer-Don and his medical staff had gone.

"Next we read about them in the Sacramento papers. Although we were over 250 miles away, we decided that the best thing to do would be to take Carrie to Sacramento to them. This we did, and one of the Medical Experts told us, a short time after our consultation, that Carrie's mind was undoubtedly affected, and her nervous condition was a great affliction, but he thought that with proper attention, care and treatment, a cure could be effected. We placed her under their care, and she took the first treatment that same day. That was about two weeks ago. Since then a gradual improvement has been noticed. Day after day we watched her carefully; day after day her mind appeared to grow brighter and clearer; the clouded brain seemed to awaken as if from a troubled sleep. Now, two weeks after our first visit to these wonderful physicians, her mind is almost normal. She runs and plays like other children, and appreciates and loves the sunshine, trees and flowers.

"Yesterday, Tuesday, February 15, we placed her in the St. Joseph convent between F and G street, and I think she will soon be one of the brightest and best scholars there."

Busiest Office in Pendleton. At the offices of Fer-Don's European medical experts and bloodless surgeons, at 637 Main street, many gather daily from all parts of the county. These physicians treat and cure all curable chronic and nervous complaints, remove tumors, cancers and gall stones without the use of a knife. Thousands of cured patients testify to the powers of the European experts to really cure when others have failed.

A number were waiting this morning when a reporter called and while standing near the door witnessed the bringing in of the sick and afflicted. No exorbitant fees are asked, merely the nominal charge of $1 gives one a thorough examination and consultation with this wonderful man.

WELL KNOWN ATHENA MAN ILL AT WENAH

DALE PRESTON LYING NEAR DEATH'S DOOR

Suffering from Bright's Disease and Doctors Hold No Hope for Recovery—Big Milling Company Is Rushed—W. C. T. U. Meets.

(Special Correspondence.) Athena, Or., July 15.—Word has been received here the last few days that Dale Preston, former manager of the Preston-Parton Milling company, is very ill at Wenaha Springs of Bright's disease. Mr. Preston went to Wenaha Springs some time ago in the hope that his health would be improved but he has grown decidedly worse and is not expected to live. Mr. Preston's father is connected with the firm of Preston-Parton Milling company of this city and Walsburg, Wash., and when the mill was first installed in this city several years ago, Dale Preston was the manager here. Mr. Preston is consequently well known in this vicinity and his serious illness is met by the local citizens with great anxiety. His two brothers and his wife are attending him at the springs and the best doctors in this section of the inland empire are in attendance but they give us no hopes for his recovery.

The Preston-Parton Milling company of this city gave out the statement that they are over-stocked with orders and are working day and night in order to meet the demand for flour. The milling company is putting out from 600 to 700 barrels of flour a day and are crowding the mill to its fullest capacity in their attempt to fill the orders.

Charles Baddley, a prosperous farmer of this vicinity, has just returned from Wallowa county, Oregon, and states that things in that country are in a very flourishing condition as far as crops are concerned. Mr. Baddley was for a number of years the owner of a large farm near Weston and a year or two ago sold out to Joe Hodgson of this city. He was a resident of this place for about a year when he bought some land in the Wallowa country and moved to that county.

A meeting of the W. C. T. U. is being held here this afternoon in the city park and a large number of ladies are in attendance. After the meeting refreshments will be served which will conclude the program of the day. The Women's Christian Temperance Union is very strong in this city and at their meetings women from this whole vicinity attend in large numbers.

CALIFORNIA OIL

United States Will Probably Have to Rely on That Supply.

San Francisco, Cal.—California undoubtedly will, within a few years, be called upon to supply not only the United States, but practically the whole North American continent with illuminating, lubricating and fuel oils.

A study of the petroleum industry of the United States shows that the California oil fields are practically in their infancy, with production increasing by leaps and bounds, while the proved oil bearing area is being augmented daily. The oil fields of other sections of the country have reached their maximum production and are on the decline, leaving California in a class by itself as a producer of the inflammable fluid.

The total proved petroleum territory of California, according to the United States geological survey, is 850 square miles, or a total of slightly more than 500,000 acres. This area would accommodate something like 120,000 wells, allowing one well to each 2 1-2 acres. Large as this territory may seem, it is less than half the area proved to be productive in Pennsylvania, that state having nearly 2000 square miles of oil lands. But the thickness of the oil-bearing stratum in California far exceeds that of other fields in the United States, there being, by actual measurement, over 500 feet of oil sands in several different sections of this state, whereas in many localities in the eastern fields the oil bearing stratum is only a few feet thick. On account of these dense sands California will be producing oil when eastern fields are only a memory.

The Pennsylvania oil fields, which are the oldest in the United States, reached their maximum productiveness many years ago and have steadily declined until now they are yielding about one third of the amount produced at the height of their development. Geologists estimate that only about two billion barrels remain in the ground in that state, while in the proved fields of California, government geologists estimate the supply in the ground at eight and one half billion barrels, without taking into account new fields that undoubtedly will be discovered in this state.

The Ohio-Indiana fields, which rank next in importance to Pennsylvania, have an area of 2040 square miles and the supply in the ground is placed at three billion barrels. In Texas and Louisiana the fields have an area of not more than 350 square miles, only a small portion of which now are to be considered highly productive.

Taking these facts into consideration, it will be readily seen that California will, a comparatively few years hence, be depended upon to supply the United States with illuminating, lubricating and fuel oils.

AN UP-TO-DATE STOVE

Do you realize there is no longer any reason why you should use a coal range? Oil is cheaper than coal; it is lighter and easier to handle, and gives an intense heat. Provided you have the right stove, oil is more economical, cleaner and less trouble. Have you seen the

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

The accompanying illustration gives you only a rough idea of its appearance. You really can't appreciate it until you either use it yourself, or talk to someone who has used it. It does everything that a coal range will do—except heat the room. The New Perfection Oil Cook-stove will do anything from heating a kettle of water to cooking a course dinner, but it won't heat a room. It doesn't "smell," it doesn't smoke. It can't get out of order. Light it and it is ready. Turn it down and it is out. Only a woman who knows the trouble of carrying coal and cooking in a hot kitchen can appreciate what it means to have a clean, perfect stove that will cook anything, boil, bake or roast, and yet won't heat the kitchen. How is it done? The flame is controlled in turquoise-blue enamel chimneys, and directed against the bottom of pot, pan, kettle or oven, and only there. The flame operates exactly where it is needed—and nowhere else. With this stove your kitchen is cool.

The nickel finish with the bright blue of the chimneys makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

Every dealer everywhere; if not at yours, write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the Standard Oil Company (Incorporated)

Caution Note: Be sure you get this stove—see that the name-plate reads "New Perfection."
