CHANGES IN VOTING PRECINCTS ARE MADE

The details of some important changes in the voting precincts of the county were completed at the adjourned meeting of the July term of court Saturday afternoon. Three new precincts were created, three were abandoned and one was made larger. The three new precincts are Hermiston, Stanfield and Gibbon. The three abandoned are Bingham, Rudock and Riverside. Gibbon precinct was enlarged as to include five additional sections on the south. Hermiston and Stanfield precincts were created out of the old Echo precincts while Gibbon precinct is made up of the old precincts of Bingham and Rudock and a part of South Reservation precinct. Riverside precinct was abandoned and absorbed by Cottonwood and South Milton precincts. All arrangements for the coming elections have not been made with the single exception of voting places. The members of the court are now engaged in making provisions for these and they will be announced at the August term of the county court.

Strayed—From my ranch at Holdman, Ore., July 9, one brown mare 5 years old with roached mane. Branded J. T. on right shoulder and 87 on left shoulder; a liberal reward will be given for any information as to her whereabouts. Write J. T. Thorn, Holdman, Ore.

SEA LION HUNTERS HAVE BIG SEASON

Marshfield, Ore.—The gasoline boat Ranger, in charge of Captain John Swing, and George Porty, has returned from the Curry county coast where for the past two months she has been engaged in hunting sea lions. Captain Swing managed to kill 49 sea lions and one sea otter. The latter is an especially fine specimen and the skin is worth from $300 to $500. It is rather rare that a sea otter is killed on this part of the coast. The sea lion skins will be shipped to San Francisco. The business of shooting sea lions off the reefs of Rogue river and Port Orchard has been profitable this season.

NEW STEEL PLANT SHIPS ITS FIRST BIG ORDER

Seattle, Wash.—Three hundred and fifty tons of steel bars were received in Seattle Thursday, marking the first shipment to this city of product from the big steel mills of the Western Steel Corporation at Irondale Sound. It also marked the first commercial order of the plant. The material is part of heavy orders placed by two Seattle firms. The Irondale steel mills now have specifications on hand for 400 tons of manufactured product and additional orders are being received at a rate that will keep a full force working to the limit for some time.
