SON OF WRITER DIGS UP A TREASURE BOX
San Francisco.—When little Louis Osborne, 8 years old, the son of Lloyd Osborne, and step-grandson of the late Robert Louis Stevenson, armed himself with his midget shovel and went out on a sandhill to dig, he had visions of finding a treasure. This is not an unusual thing for the lad, for he had not heard his father's illustrious stepfather talked about without getting some of the spirit of adventure of "Treasure Island" fixed in his mind.

So while Louis dug he hummed: "Fifteen men on the dead man's chest Yo, ho, ho, and a bottle of rum; Drink and—"

The lad stopped digging, because his shovel had encountered an obstruction. Tested carefully, the thing that resisted proved to be metal. Then Louis dug more furiously than ever.

In a few moments the law unearthed a metal box. And, sure enough it contained treasure. Opening it hastily, the lad found 2500 shares of valuable mining stock, some deeds to city property, other valuable papers and several empty ring boxes.

The papers belong to Augustus F. Imbrie, a wealthy man, whose house is closed and who is out of the city. Police think robbers have ransacked the Imbrie residence and after taking money and jewelry from the box, hid it.

Spanish Veterans in Camp.

ENGLISH COUNTESS WINS FAME AS AN ORATOR

London.—One of the most remarkable women in England today is hardly known in America at all, and, as a matter of fact, she is not so widely known in England as many women who are entitled to fame in a vastly less degree. She is the countess of Carlisle, who presided at the recent American meeting of the Women's Liberal federation.

Lady Carlisle is one of the most accomplished orators of the day, and is, moreover, an extremely skillful and practical farmer. It is not so many years ago since she took into her hands several thousand acres of land on the Castle Howard estate, which had remained uncultivated from time immemorial. By her orders steam cultivation was introduced, the soil was limed and artificially manured, with the result that it now produces magnificent crops.

Superintends Everything.
She personally superintends everything, and when she is in residence at Castle Howard it is by no means an unusual sight to see the hall and staircase lined with people waiting an audience with her in her business room. No trifle is ever too insignificant for her attention.

It often happens that she takes her place in the pulpit and in the private chapel attached to Naworth castle, the family seat in Cumberland, she has been known to conduct the whole service, sermon and all.

Temperance Favorite Theme.
But temperance is one of the favorite themes of the countess, and in this, as in other matters, she has always backed up her opinions by action. In her opinion, the excessive number of public houses is the greatest obstacle to temperance reform and as evidence of her practical belief in this, she has herself closed many public houses, reopening them as coffee palaces.

Her ladyship has always been a strong supporter of the women's movement. She has carried her convictions—that women should not be supplanted by men in work which they can properly perform—to the length of employing only female servants in her establishments.

The visitor will look in vain for a chef in her kitchen, a butler in her pantry, or a footman in her hall.

GIRLS RESENT CRITICISM

British Students Dislike Professor Muir's "Hoydenish Tomboy."
London.—Professor Ramsay Muir, of Liverpool University, is being assailed by scores of girl correspondents because he described the modern school girl as a "hoydenish tomboy."

In a speech-day address at Southport he charged modern girls' school managers with borrowing boys' school methods in their frantic desire to escape from old-style conditions. They had carried exaggerated athleticism to a more extreme degree than the boys' schools themselves and the product was a sort of hoydenish tomboy.

They have revolted against the un-intellectual character of girls' education a generation ago, but "in place of it they had created that dreary kind of product, the skillful examination crammer, deadliest of creatures in the male sex, but incomparably more deadly when found in the blue-stocking sex."

IRISH CONVENE

Ancient Order of Hibernians Meets in Portland.
Portland, Ore., July 19.—The forty seventh convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians convened here today with a Pontifical high mass in the Catholic cathedral. Immediately afterward the delegates met in the Masonic temple where the convention was called to order by P. E. Sullivan of Portland, chairman of the National program committee. Twelve hundred delegates are here and over 4,000 visitors and more are expected before the conclusion of the convention Saturday. This is the greatest number that ever attended a convention. This afternoon the delegates will be guests of the commercial club and this evening will be the convention ball and banquet. At the mass Arch Bishop Christie officiated, and Rev. John Carroll of Helena, Mont., preached the sermon.

CO. L RIFLE TEAM HOME FROM SHOOT

ADVANCE ONE NOTCH IN STANDING OF TEAMS

Finish at State Rifle Range in Twelfth Place—Captains Kern and Ferguson Distinguish Themselves—
Boys Can go to Encampment.

The rifle team of company L returned to their homes on Saturday morning after having spent the week on the state rifle range at Clackamas Oregon.

While the boys did not return with any of the medals or prizes they are consoled by the fact that they succeeded in climbing up one notch nearer the top. When the company L boys first attended the state shoot they were in something like the twentieth place but each year they have crawled up step by step. In 1909 the team shot into thirteenth place and this year they succeeded in making twelfth highest score.

Considering the different conditions between the Clackamas range and the home range and the much higher scores that were made this year over last and the fact that different ammunition was issued the company L boys are to be congratulated.

Each year shows a vast improvement in the rifle shooting of the National Guard and straight scores on all the ranges are now not uncommon.

The boys report a fine time and an enjoyable trip. Two stars stand out in prominence however and both hail from Pendleton. Captain Kern took the free for all cracker race which was only open to officers and Captain Ferguson distinguished himself by making an impossible on the thousand yard range, shooting a straight score.

While at the camp Captain Ferguson was unable to muster the required ing encampment at American Lake with General Pinzer and the General has consented to allow all the boys of Company L who desire to attend the camp to do so. If Company L will not be able to muster the required number as a company places are to be found for all the boys in other companies so that none of them will be disappointed. The list is now being made out and the report of all men desiring to go to camp must be sent in by the last of the week so the officers are anxious to hear from every man who can get away for camp. The boys will leave here on August 5th for American Lake.

PORTLAND SECOND IN WHEAT EXPORTS

Oregon News Bureau, Washington.—Portland rounded out the fiscal year ended June 30, 1910, with heavier wheat exports than any other city or customs district in the United States, except New York, according to figures made public Saturday by the Department of Commerce and Labor.

Portland's total wheat export for the year just closed amounted to 5,770,319 bushels, valued at $5,593,765, which, while lower than that of the year previous, permitted her to move into second place, where a year ago she stood fifth, though her total shipments to foreign lands that year were 6,350,133 bushels.

Puget Sound ports collectively exported during the year just closed 4,856,691 bushels of wheat, valued at $4,592,271 as against 4,630,174 bushels in the year previous, being one of the few districts showing greater exports this year than last.

On flour exports Puget Sound far distances Portland, having exported last year 1,296,681 barrels, or 250,000 barrels more than in 1909. Portland's flour export for the past 12 months was about 217,469 barrels, as against 552,423 barrels a year ago.

AUSTRIA PREPARES TO FIGHT STANDARD OIL

Berlin.—The government of Austria has finally decided to help the national oil industry by administrative measures in their battle against the Standard Oil subsidiaries, especially the Austrian Vacuum Oil company, and so the battle will from now on be conducted by the two princes, Emperor Francis Joseph, as the head of the government of Austria, and John D. Rockefeller, ruler of untold millions of Standard Oil dollars.

It was originally intended to strike against the American octopus by legislation, but the Austrian government has seen that this method would be too slow, and now quicker means to drive John D.'s representatives out of Austria will be adopted.

The Austrian Vacuum Oil company hurts the independent Austrian refineries in two ways—first, by raising the price of crude oil; second, by lowering the price of the refined product.
