BELGICSE ATHENANS BROUGHT TO COURT

SETTLE THEIR DIFFERENCES BEFORE JUDGE RICHARDS

C. A. Lovelace and Charles Grant Engage in Fisticuffs Over Debt—Former Is Fined—M. E. Presiding Elder at Athena—Rain Delays Harvest.

(Special Correspondence.)
 Athena, Or., July 20.—C. A. Lovelace and Charles Grant were brought before Justice Richards in his court yesterday to settle a little difference between them, as their difficulty resulted in a hand to hand combat Monday night.

What one could gather from the evidence in the case, the trouble occurred in the saloon of John Estes in which place Mr. Lovelace was employed. Mr. Grant was in the saloon at the time and he made mention of $5 that he loaned to Mr. Lovelace several months ago, which sum had not yet been paid. The mention of the debt enraged Mr. Lovelace and he assaulted Mr. Grant with a chair. Mr. Grant caught the chair in one hand and proceeded to pound his opponent over the head with his hand, but finding that he almost broke his finger that way, Mr. Grant then took the chair and proceeded to use that on the other combatant.

Mr. Lovelace then swore out a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Grant and demanded a trial by jury. The trial took place yesterday afternoon in Judge Richards' court and after a somewhat heated session a verdict of not guilty was returned by the jury and Mr. Grant went free. Lovelace seemed to be the aggressor, however, and Judge Richards fined him $7.50 and costs.

Rev. Sykes, the presiding elder of the Walla Walla district of the Methodist church, was in this city yesterday and held the fourth quarterly conference yesterday afternoon. The preacher's salary was raised and the affairs of the church in general were discussed as this is the last meeting of the presiding elder with the officials of the church here, before the annual Columbia river conference, which will be held this fall.

RICH FINDS OF THE "MOTHER" OF RADIUM

London.—The "Evening News" declares that a London engineer has discovered the richest deposits yet known of uranium, the "mother" of radium.

These deposits are now in British hands. The engineer in question is Harry March, C. E., M. I. M. E., who, after three years' pioneer work located uranium deposits within a narrow area in the mountainous district of Guarda, Portugal.

The extent of the uranium area is a strip of country approximately a mile wide and a mile and a half in length. The rock formation in which the precious element is embedded is sufficiently near the surface to be mined without difficulty.

Hitherto radium has been extracted by a tedious and costly process from pitchblende found at Joachimsthal, in Austria. The market price at present is $80,000 per gramme (15 432 grains), and the Austrian government has only a gramme of radium in its possession.

It is claimed for the newly discovered uranium deposits in Portugal that they are capable of turning out about 1000 tons of ore monthly, and that the mineral becomes richer as the depth of the shafts increases. Uranium has, indeed, been found at a depth of 200 feet.

ARMY COUNCIL ALARMED AT FEW CANDIDATES

London.—Secretary Haldane and the army council are once more seriously alarmed at the steady decrease in the number of candidates seeking commission in the army. Twenty years ago exactly the number of young men who presented themselves for entrance to the Royal Military colleges of Woolwich and Sandhurst was 2264. This year the number has been reduced to a little over 700.

The fact is the army as a profession is becoming more and more unpopular. Parents declare that the pay is so inadequate and the expenses so enormous that they prefer to place their boys in business. It is the same with the rank and file. In the Royal Engineers, once the most popular corps in the army, the war office economies have frightened off all the best men, skilled men such as electricians, engine drivers, instrument repairers and draughtsmen, are no longer attracted to the corps as they find good pay and more congenial employment in the shipping and electrical trades or the railways and many engineers may now be found on the streets of London, driving taxicabs or private motor cars.

The army council is so disturbed about this particular state of affairs that it is proposing to seek parliamentary sanction very shortly to offer a higher and new system of pay in the corps.

Secretary Haldane, who is admitted by army men to have done much better than any of his predecessors, is being severely criticised at the military clubs for snubbing the various cadet corps movements, and more especially the latest attempt to form a veteran reserve. He is accused, in fact, of discouraging anything that does not fit in exactly with his own pet territorial scheme. His intimate friends, however, declare that Mr. Haldane's career up to the present has only been one long struggle against Lloyd-George and Winston Churchill, who would like to reduce expenditure on the army and navy as well as to a minimum.

AUCTION FLIGHT SEATS.

Pauline Chase Quits at $900 Bid; Others Buy at $50.

London.—A contest for the honor of being the first passenger to be carried by Mr. Graham-White in his aeroplane resulted in some amusing scenes at Brooklands.

It was announced that passages would be offered by auction for the first time in England, and the auctioneer explained that though he had never been in a machine himself he believed the sale would be worth at least $1,000.

Bidding started briskly at 24 guineas and was quickly run up to 129 guineas, or $990, at which figure Miss Pauline Chase retired from the contest, leaving Lady Abby victorious.

Other passages were subsequently sold at an average figure of $50.

OVER 100,000 IMMIGRANTS TO NORTHWEST SINCE JAN. 1

Spokane, Wash.—Statistics compiled by the emigration departments of several transcontinental railroads show that more than one hundred thousand men, women and children have come into Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana since January 1, and of these between 55,000 and 55,000 have settled in the Inland Empire. Passenger traffic during the first six months of this year exceeded that of the same period in 1909, notwithstanding the fact that the rush to the exposition at Seattle began last week in May. The reports also indicate that fully 100,000 more settlers have arranged to come into the four northwestern states before the close of the year. Most of the newcomers are farmers, fruit-growers and dairymen, the majority taking up lands in eastern Washington and Oregon, north and central Idaho and western Montana. Others have gone into business in the larger cities and towns. Passenger traffic managers say that the eyes of the East are turned at last to the West and that from now on there will be a constant stream of homeseekers entering various parts of the country.
