CARNIVAL COMING.

Will Present Novel Features in Pendleton all Next Week.

Pendleton is to have a carnival all next week from July 24 to 30, opening Monday night at 7 p. m. sharp with a band concert followed by a high-class vaudeville which will present some unique features. Among them will be a performance given by Dare Devil Diavolo, who will make a slide of 500 feet in mid air through a mass of fire which a man of that title ought to be able to do without a singe or scratch. It is said however that Diavolo once in a while runs into hot things before he reaches the ground. There will be a high wire performance by Prof. Strang who is featured by the company.

The carnival will be held at the ball park. Five big free outside acts will precede the regular evening entertainments.

FAMILY IS ENGULFED IN OLD PALACE WELL

Milan.—A horrifying calamity has occurred at the Tagliatella Palace, Naples, five people being swallowed up in a sudden subsidence of the earth.

The building was occupied by Frau Hermann, the wife of a well-known music hall performer, Frau Hermann, carrying her baby, and accompanied by her daughter, had descended the staircase to find the porter in order to give warning of a huge crack that had opened in one of their rooms. While Frau Hermann was speaking to the porter's wife and child the ground beneath them suddenly opened, and all five persons fell headlong into a deep chasm, believed to be an old and unused well.

Firemen were quickly on the scene and bravely volunteered to be lowered into the pit, which was 150 feet deep. They could find no trace of the victims. It was only after a long and hazardous search that dead bodies were found beneath a great heap of masonry.

ECLIPSE AS SEEN IN MID-SEA DESCRIBED

London.—The Rev. Algernon C. E. Therold, of Hougham Rectory, Grantham, sends to The Daily Mail a vivid description of the recent total eclipse of the sun as seen from the R. M. S. Corinthic when at sea 500 miles north of Hobart, Tasmania.

"The eclipse began at 1:30 and lasted till 4. At 2:45 it was total, and the sun went out entirely. A bright corona shone around its disc. Totality lasted several minutes.

"The sight was weird in the extreme. The darkness was ominous, and the temperature went down suddenly from a mild 65 to 40. The clouds on the horizon turned opal, dove-gray, and black as the last rim of the sun was covered up, and when the light finally went out the effect was like the sudden switching of an electric lamp. The sun itself was a black ball with a pale but distinct crown of brilliance bursting arrow-wise unevenly on every side. Round the corona was a halo like the blurred radiance that surrounds a misty moon.

"The sea looked black like ink and the sky seemed to disappear, because it was neither measurable with stars nor realizable with clouds. It became, in fact, negligible, and the only proof that day and night had not come to an end was the extraordinary phenomenon of a black ball fringed with fire—a fire that gave little light to the earth, but seemed sputtering toward the stars in indignation at an insult offered by the moon."

PIONEERS WILL MAKE LONG TOUR AFTER 27 YEARS

Kellogg, Idaho.—After 27 years of continuous residence in this city, during which time neither of them have ever left the Coeur d'Alene mining region, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Gay, two of the best known as well as the oldest pioneers of the district, have at last packed their trunks and started on a voyage of discovery to the outside world. They will be gone from the district for about three months, during which time they will stay for a week or so at Coeur d'Alene Lake, go from there to Spokane, and from Spokane they will make a tour of the coast cities.

Mr. and Mrs. Gay settled in Kellogg in 1883, one year before the discovery of the great Bunker Hill and Sullivan mine, and at the time of the first great rush to the gold fields at Eagle.

During all of this time Mrs. Gay has never left Kellogg, while in the past 10 years Mr. Gay's only trips have been to Wallace. During this time he has visited Wallace 10 times, each occasion being in answer to a summons from the sheriff's department to act either in the capacity of juror or witness in some mining suit. Mr. Gay is one of the original locators of the Nabob mine, and is also heavily interested in the Sidney property, on both of which a splendid showing of ore has been made.

M. A. Sturtevant came in from Pilot Rock today to receive treatment for blood poison. He scratched his hand while out fishing Sunday and blood poison followed, the infection having been caused by a colored handkerchief.

Chief of Police Returns.

Chief of Police Gurdane returned this morning from Portland, where he had been to have a growth removed from one of his eyes. The operation was successful and the chief is rapidly recovering from the effects of it. He was accompanied by Mrs. Gurdane.

Receiver for Creamery.

It was learned today that the Pendleton Creamery would be placed in the hands of a receiver just as soon as Judge Bean returns from Portland, where he is attending the republican assembly. Following the death of E. O. Harper, who was president of the company and who died as the result of an accident in the plant, the creamery has failed to make expenses. Though the liabilities are nearly as great as its assets, it is hoped that a receiver will be able to keep the plant running until a purchaser is found. Mark Moorhouse was probably named as receiver.

Indians Will Wed.

An Indian romance terminating in a wedding has resulted from the recent celebration at Cayuse. Katherine Stephens a pretty Nez Perce Indian maid came down to attend the celebration and will remain to become the wife of Sam Sturges a well known member of the Walla Walla tribe, having his home on the Umatilla reservation. Both bride and groom have valuable allotments on the local reservation thought the home of the bride has been at Lapwai Idaho. The marriage license was issued this afternoon by Deputy Clerk Brown. The necessary affidavit was made by Philip Weasak another Nez Perce Indian. The groom was formerly a student at the Haskell Indian school while the bride attended Carlisle.

KAISER'S TIDY WAY OF "FIRING" HIS MINISTERS

Berlin.—The curious way in which Cabinet Ministers are dismissed by the Kaiser has been revealed by the departure from office of the Prussian Minister of the Interior, Herr Von Moltke, and the Prussian Minister of Agriculture, Herr Von Arnim. The Prussian Premier, who is also Imperial Chancellor, Herr Von Brethmann-Hollwig, thought that he would like to replace these two ministers by friends of his own. He told the Kaiser, and the Kaiser promised to arrange this little matter for him.

The Kaiser ordered the chief of the Civil Cabinet, Herr Von Valentini, to request the two Cabinet Ministers in question to hand in their resignations. Early the next morning Herr Von Valentini, dressed in the gorgeous blue uniform of his office, drove up to the official residence of the Minister of the Interior and requested to be allowed to see Herr Von Moltke. It was barely eight o'clock in the morning, and Herr Von Moltke was not dressed. Hastily donning a dressing gown he hurried in an unwashed and disheveled condition to receive the Kaiser's emissary.

With grave face and due solemnity Herr Von Valentini said, approximately:

"His Gracious Majesty our Master is deeply grateful to you for your services to the Fatherland, but doubtless the time has come when you have earned by your untiring labors the right to repose, and therefore as a mark of his royal favor he is willing to retire you from office, and begs that you will place your resignation in his hands without any delay."

The Minister of the Interior, overwhelmed, bewildered and dismayed by this communication, stammered a few inquiries as to whether he had given offense, but received reiterated assurance that his dismissal was nothing more than a mark of royal favor.

Herr Von Valentini then bowed himself out, and no sooner had he gone than Herr Von Moltke sent a telegram to Potsdam offering his resignation to the Kaiser.

AMERICANS IN LONDON ARE STINGY THIS SEASON

London.—Though the American invasion of London is already in full swing, and though the big London hotels all report heavy bookings, inquiry elicits the information that the American visitors this year are not spending their money freely, despite the prosperous business season experienced in the United States.

The less costly whisky and soda, the lighter and cheaper wines, and very often merely ice water, are preferred to champagne, on which the hotel keepers and restaurateurs make a substantial margin of profit.

Also a new spirit of economy seems to have taken hold of the American visitors, and their extravagances in the way of costly orchids for theatre buttonholes and morning wear, and their lavishness in the way of out-of-season fruits and choice peaches are being sadly missed in a season that has begun altogether inauspiciously.

Many American visitors are spending whole days riding on the tops of buses, there being keen competition to get a seat near to the driver, who is questioned and cross-questioned until he is almost worn out. The principal questions that are asked have reference to the houses in Piccadilly, Park Lane, Knightsbridge, and Grosvenor Gardens, the keenest curiosity being evinced as to the people who live there.

"WATER HOGS" TO BE EXPOSED SEPT. 5

On and after September 5 all claims for water from the Umatilla river will be on file at the office of County Clerk Saling and will be open for inspection. This is in accordance with the present plans of the Oregon board of water commissioners, according to a letter received this morning by the law firm of Lowell & Winter from Commissioner F. M. Saxton of Baker City. It had been originally intended to open the inspection during the month of August, but the commissioner writes that this will be impossible.

The opening for inspection of these claims will be the signal for the battle which is expected to be a long, hard-fought affair. The "water-hogs" will be revealed and it is declared that the number of these will be something amazing. Those having protests to make will file them as soon after September 5 as possible and then in due course of time each contested case will be tried out just as any other cases would be tried in the circuit court.

YOUTHFUL FILIBUSTER RELATES EXPERIENCES

Seattle, Wash.—Clifford Sands, a former Seattle high school youth, and erstwhile brigadier-general in Estrada's army, told some of his experiences in the Nicaraguan insurrection upon his arrival in Seattle on a visit with relatives the other night. Young Sands escaped being shot by a firing squad of the Madrid army by the chance aid of Dr. Clarence Burghelm, of Houston, Tex., who refused to give medical attention to the Madrid officers unless Sands was paroled.

"I was captured at Prinzapula, on the coast June 18, two days after I had made an attempt to blow up the Nicaraguan gunboat 'Venus,'" said Sands. "I was charged with being a dynamiter and a spy. Of course the trial was a farce and I was sentenced to be shot, but Dr. Burghelm intervened and I was paroled."

Sands tried to dynamite the gunboat 'Venus' by paddling out to her in a canoe as she lay off Bluefields Bluff. "They saw me," he said, "and sank the canoe with a machine gun. I escaped without a scratch and swam ashore."

With seven men Sands was sent two days afterward to Prinzapula, a town below Bluefields. The gunboat 'Venus' and Jacinta came down, shelled the town, landed 150 marines and captured Sands and two of his men.

"Two days after this capture," he said, "they took me out and made me watch them shoot my two men they had captured. It was to impress me with my coming fate. They blindfolded them, stood a file of soldiers off a few paces, and shot them."

PUZZLE FOR BERLIN POLICE.

May an Aviator Fly Over City Without Permit.
Berlin.—The recent flight of the aviator, Frey over Berlin has led to an interesting controversy in a portion of the Berlin press. The question is, "May an aviator fly over Berlin without police permission?"

It is pointed out that the police maintain law and order in the streets of Berlin, that they are responsible for the accidents that happen therein, that their permission has to be asked to hold open-air or political meetings and in fact their permission has to be obtained for almost everything under the sun.

When Zeppelin came to Berlin thousands of police looked after the public safety, when King Edward came to Berlin the streets were lined with police and troops and yet the aviator, Frey actually had the audacity not only to inform Berliners that he was going to fly over the capital, but greatest of all blunders, he omitted to inform the police and receive their permission to do so.

What would have happened, the papers ask, if an accident occurred to his airship, a portion of wood or steel become detached, and on its way to the ground struck some harmless burgher walking from his daily toil?

BAKER CITY BANK WILL GET NEW HOME

KAISER DECIDES THAT HE WILL BE AN EDITOR

Berlin.—The versatile Kaiser now intends to become a newspaper proprietor, manager and editor. His intimate friend, Prince Max Egen Furstenburg, has received instructions to make the necessary arrangements. The Kaiser's idea is to start a newspaper to combat the rapidly growing socialist movement and make a strenuous effort to prevent the overwhelming victories of socialist candidates who are expected at the election to the Reichstag in 1911.

The Kaiser believes the existing newspapers in Germany do not suffice to exert a sufficient influence against socialism and he thinks the reason lies in the unutterable dullness of his country's journals. He will make a sensational, enterprising, dashing news service with a tinge of "yellow" in its composition.

The Kaiser has carefully studied American newspapers and their methods and his news sheet is to be modeled largely upon the best productions of American journalism with attractive headlines and all the other features of the American newspaper.

From the participants in the Kaiser's cruise along the coast of Norway came heartrending walls of sorrow concerning the way the Kaiser teases and persecutes in a playful way his invited guests. His practical jokes are at times a source of trouble and embarrassment to his fellow voyagers.

For instance the Kaiser rises at 3 a. m., goes to the cabin of a guest and forcibly drags the sleeper from his repose. If one of the guests is conspicuously fat the Kaiser delights in ordering him to go through certain gymnastic exercises for the entertainment of the assembled company.

After dinner the Kaiser calls upon men who are notoriously the possessors of cracked and unharmonious voices to sing. In Germany it is considered such a high honor to be invited to take part in a cruise aboard the Hohenzollern that the guests bear the jokes with fortitude.

New Flag for Queen Mother.

London.—A new flag, to be known as the special flag of the queen mother, was hoisted at Buckingham palace on Wednesday. The design is apparently based on a combination of the British and Danish standards, a white cross of ample proportions being a prominent feature.
