SOME SHORT NEWS NOTES FROM WESTON

(Special Correspondence.)
Weston, Ore., Aug. 5.—Miss May Carmichael is at Wenatchee, Wash., visiting among friends.

Miss Della Compton of Portland, where she is employed as stenographer, came in on this morning's train to spend a few vacation days with her parents.

Mrs. George Badgett of Pilot Rock, is here visiting among her relatives and friends.

Mrs. Fred Kershay who has been visiting at her sister's home in Portland has returned.

ENVOY OF MIKADO TALKS ON SUFFRAGE

London.—The Japanese ambassador, responding as the chief guest to the toast of "Japan" at the Lyceum club dinner, said that the people of Japan had the shortcomings, weaknesses and defects common to all mankind, but this much could be said for them—they were always ready and eager to learn from others that was good for them and for the rest of the world.

In this respect the women of Japan were equally eager. Fundamentally, the moral code of women was a doctrine of obedience to three persons in the course of life—to their parents, then to their husbands, and finally to their children. That code had come to be regarded as quite insufficient for modern relations between men and women. They were beginning to think they were as important, if not more important, a unit of society as men, and at the present rate of progress the day must soon come when the rules and customs which have always regulated the relations of the two sexes had to be entirely recast on the principle of more power to the women.

Personally, he did not regret the movement; on the contrary, he was fully convinced that the real progress of any nation could only be secured by the recognition of the claims of woman, and the recognition by her of her proper place in the domain of domestic and social life.

The women of Japan had not reached that stage where they demanded political rights, and he could not help thinking that he day was long distant when they would. But in other respects they were coming forward, and their position was rapidly becoming more important.

JUDGE ADVOCATES REFORMS IN PRESENT DIVORCE LAWS

Spokane, Wash.—Publicity as a precaution against fraud in actions for divorce is advocated by Presiding Judge J. D. Hinkle of the superior court of Spokane county, who announces that the rule, permitting 30 days to elapse between the filing of the suit and the trial of the case, undoubtedly will be adopted by the judges in Spokane county, going into effect on November 1.

Judge Hinkle, who has studied the question for years, also advocates these reforms in requirements and procedure in divorce cases not only in this county, but all over the country.

Six months or a year between the time of separation and filing of complaint in actions on grounds of cruelty and nonsupport.

Two years' residence in the state to enable a former non-resident to sue for divorce.

Interlocutory decree of divorce not to be made final until six months or a year after the trial of the case.

Requirements that parties may not remarry within a year of the granting of the divorce.

"The requirement now is that a suit be filed at least five days before the trial," Judge Hinkle said. "It used to be that a case would be started one day and rushed to trial on the next. Publicity was dodged and often a year would pass before relatives or friends of a couple knew they had been legally separated."

SPOKANE JUDGE OUT FOR LONGEVITY RECORD

Spokane, Wash.—"I have been working on this theory two years and if I live two years more and am in good condition I am going to live to be 120 years of age," said Judge E. H. Sullivan of the Spokane county supreme court. "Moreover," he said, "I believe that members of the human race will live to be 400 or 500 years old in time." Judge Sullivan, who is 60 years of age and as strong as a new arrow, ascribes his physical and mental vigor to exercising regularly, drinking plenty of water and breathing pure air. "The matter of life," he said in explaining his theory, "is mainly a question of renewal. Barring accidents, if we take care of ourselves and don't give up, we should live many years longer than we do at this time. Old age is nothing more than fear, ignorance and giving up. There is no need for old age in the body. Just keep the joints springy and the blood pounding through the veins and arteries and the body will renew. My rule is to drink more water than the foodstuffs I eat and walk as much as possible."

Man and the Earth.
(N. S. Shaler.)

At present when we hear so much upon conservation of resources, especially when we have seen resources conserved in such a way as to bring only loss of money and opportunity, it is wise to listen to the other side and hear what the right kind of conservation means.

Professor Shaler in his little book, "Man and the Earth," explains how long various products and forces of nature we depend upon will last, such as oil, coal, light and heat. He binds us as to how we can get the best use from them for ourselves and those who come after us.

The whole tone of the book is inspiring. It gives us a noble idea of our duty to the earth on which we live.

MOSQUITO-PROOF BOAT.

One of Fleet for West African Trade—Copper Gauze Used.

Liverpool.—The Jonathan Holt, the first ocean-going mosquito steamer, has arrived in the Mersey from the Clyde, where she was built to the order of Messrs John Holt & Co. of Liverpool, being the first of a series of ships of special design for the Liverpool West African trade.

Of a small draft, she has an extra strong bottom for crossing sand bars and navigating the African rivers.

All the doors, windows, ports and other openings are provided with copper gauze fittings to prevent the entry of the malaria-bearing mosquito.

Winnie, aged five, was much impressed by a cuckoo clock which she saw while on a visit to a friend. When she came home she said to her mother:

"Mother, when 4 o'clock came something came out that looked like an imagination of a chicken."

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED

For Benefit of Women who Suffer from Female Ills

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. My pains all left me, I grew stronger, and within three months I was a perfectly well woman."

"I want this letter made public to show the benefit women may derive from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JOHN G. MOLDAN, 215 Second St., North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. For 20 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

TO KOWTOW OR NOT TO, THAT IS THE QUESTION

London.—Dispatches from Cape Town state that democratic South Africa is wrestling with the problem, "To kowtow or not to kowtow?" The new governor-general, Lord Gladstone, shows a tendency to fussy ceremonial which the Africans don't understand—and don't like. The atmosphere of the Court of St. James is an importation which they have no use for.

Society women are especially indignant at an unofficial edict requiring them on official occasions to curtsy to Lady Gladstone. Although Lady Gladstone is a very charming woman, the society leaders here do not see why she should receive the obeisance due to the queen. Many of them, including the wives of the ministers, have shown their views of the matter by straightening their backs in a marked manner on occasions when they should bend them in a humble curtsy.

It is true that Lord Gladstone, as first governor-general of United South Africa, occupies a higher position than any previous representative of the British crown sent there; but South Africans have been used to democratic governors who did not surround themselves with royal state, and were, in fact, "good fellows," and they expected the new governor-general, as a professed radical, to be even more so.

A PIPE IS BETTER THAN CIGARETTES, SAYS DUKE

London.—An interesting story is in circulation illustrative of the Duke of Connaught's democracy with the rank and file of the army. At Aldershot during the recent maneuvers, the duke, in civilian clothes, came across a young recruit outside the barracks smoking a cigarette. The duke engaged the soldier in conversation, asking why he did not smoke a pipe instead of a cigarette. The soldier, not recognizing the duke, answered:

"Why, old Connaught smokes cigarettes, why shouldn't I?"

"Yes," answered the duke, "but old Connaught never smoked a cigarette at your age."

Just then an officer saluted the duke and the young recruit fled on discovery of the identity of his visitor. The duke enjoyed the incident immensely, ascertaining the recruit's name and sent him a briar pipe, some good tobacco and a little note reading "Take my advice—Connaught."

FEAR TIBET OUTBREAK; TROOPS IN READINESS

Simla, British India.—The unrest in Tibet, due to the continued activity of the Chinese, has assumed so threatening a form that the English government has ordered a sufficient number of Indian troops to be held in readiness on the Tibetan frontier, to proceed, if necessary, to the relief of Gyantsé and Gatsong, the British agencies in Tibet. The Chinese government in its efforts to re-establish its authority in Tibet sent troops and officials into the country. These were opposed by the Dalai Lama and the theocracy governing the country, the conflict culminating in the flight of the Dalai Lama to English territory early this year. Advances from the British protectorates of Nepal and Bhutan, which adjoin Tibet, at that time, indicated that the Chinese occupancy of Tibet had excited unrest in the protectorates, which might call for interference to protect British interests.
