ITALIANS DRAW KNIVES AND ATTACK OFFICER

Marshall Interferes in Drunken Brawl and Narrowly Escapes Being Carved Bystanders Assist in Arrest of Italians--Prisoners Brought to Pendleton.

(Special Correspondence.)

Weston, Ore., Aug. 8.—Four Italians were placed in the city jail yesterday evening charged with resisting an officer and using a deadly weapon in addition. A slighting or insulting remark made by a harvester to some Italians led to a scuffle to stop which Marshall Snider interfered but was met with resistance by the Italians two of whom drew knives and attacked him. Bystanders promptly knocked the men down in time to prevent the carrying out of their intent. As it was the knife used cut quite a gash in the officer's hat. All of the combatants were under the influence of "near beer" but the Italians were in no way interfering with those who, by their insulting remarks, caused the trouble. The prisoners will be taken to Pendleton on this evening train and will be brought before the court by the district attorney, there being no justice of the peace here. The city was greatly excited over the affair and is the main topic of discussion. George Carmichael who has been in attendance at the head camp of the Woodmen of the World at Portland, has returned.

Mrs. Maude Wright and little infant daughter is here from Athena visiting relatives.

Clark E. Nelson is up today from Pendleton giving his attention to business matters connected with his interests in Weston Brickyard company.

Mrs. Cort Noble and her two children, from Tekoa, Wash., are here on a visit at the home of Mrs. Noble's brother, L. B. Davis.

NEW CHAMPIONS ARE RAISING BRITISH HOPE

London.—A feature of athletics so far this year has been the number of new champions, some of whom are youthful, notably J. M. Till, "half," A. G. Hill, "four miles," and B. H. Baker, high jump, all of whom give promise of doing big things. Hill made all the pace in four miles and broke the tape in 20 minutes and 35 seconds—real good running. Another promising performance at the Stamford Bridge championship meet last month was G. L. and E. Voight and A. Anderson's 16 seconds for hurdles on the sodden turf. He is cultivating the straight front leg style and will improve.

The "mile" produced the best race of the meet and E. Voight owed his win to splendid judgment. F. J. Baker of Cambridge university was probably the best "miler" of the field, but he displayed poor judgment. Voight delayed his effort until 200 yards from home, and overhauled the tiring Baker on the straight, while Owen was balked when trying to come through and was beaten three yards. The time was four minutes 26 3-5 seconds, probably equal to 4 minutes 22 seconds.

CONTROL OF BOXING SAID TO BE SINCERE

London.—Some wag started the report that the English prize fighters were going to form a union. This news was cabled to the United States where it caused a great deal of comment and, doubtless, a few smiles. The committee of sporting writers, headed by the weekly journal, "The Sporting Life," is still trying with undiminished vigor to have the international boxing board of control established.

Some time ago it was intimated to those sportsmen who had favored us with their knowledge of the proposal to create a board to control international boxing that we had presented the whole evidence collected by us to the National Sporting club, that we had asked Mr. Bettinson to kindly bring the matter before his committee, and that the committee would consider the matter. Mr. Bettinson now informs us that a very representative committee, with the Earl of Lonsdale in the chair discussed the proposal. Mr. Bettinson further tells us the whole committee were in entire accord with the principal of the board.

TWINS ARE PUZZLE TO IMMIGRATION CHIEF

New York.—If the immigration officials of this port could have their way, twins would be forever barred from entering this country, at least through this city. The greatest concession which these officials would be willing to make from this stand is that all twins desiring to enter be branded in such a manner as to insure their easy and certain identification.

This drastic solution comes as a result of one of the most perplexing riddles which immigrant officials have ever been called upon to solve, involving twin brothers, John and Andrew Horn by name. Compared with them the two Dromios had absolutely no resemblance, and the trouble which they gave the department is not yet ended.

The two, alike in weight and height, wearing similar mustaches and dressed alike to the last detail, arrived here recently with the avowed intention of becoming citizens of this country. In answering the questions, which are put to arriving foreigners, John made admissions which disqualified him for entrance.

Then, when the immigration officials decided to deport John, Andrew said he would go along. Once at the island, the pair refused to say which was which.

"Which of you is John?" asked the inquiring member of the board of inspectors, since no one could tell them apart.

"Find out," said one of them through an interpreter. By a ruse it was discovered which was John and a chalk mark was placed on his back. The next day both had crosses in chalk on their coats.

In the middle of the night they changed coats for fear they might be identified, and finally the immigration officials were about to give in. Andrew had declared at the start that if John was deported he, too, must go back, but he refused to pay his way in the steamer. So back they have gone, no one knowing which was which.

Before they sailed they said they would be back again, but that they would come separately and thus be able to enter the port at separate times as Andrew.

Library Notes

Italian Letters of a Diplomat's Wife.

(M. K. Waddington.) A delightful set of letters telling in the first part of Italy twenty years ago and in the second of Italy of today. Like many other women writers as for instance Catherine Kirklund in Some African Highways, Madame Waddington gives many charming details of her daily life. This gives a sense of reality to her description of places, for really after all the majority of us are liable to remember a place as much by what we had to eat there as by its scenery or its historical association. The meeting of agreeable people in one town will always leave a pleasant memory of that spot. And we meet all kinds and descriptions of people in the Italian letters. The author has a keen sense of humor and is an excellent judge of character so that we get all sorts of light and shade upon her fellow travelers.

But the description is not confined wholly to people, rather they serve as a setting to a most agreeable jaunt through Rome, Venice, Turin, Naples and many other well known places that might almost be named at random.

For any one who cares to catch the spirit of every day social life in modern Italy, this book is admirable. The numerous portraits also add to the pleasure of the reader.

Disagreeable at Home.

Lots of men and women who are agreeable with others, get "cranky" at home. Its not disposition, its the liver. If you find in yourself that you feel cross around the house, little things worry you, just buy a bottle of Ballarr's Herbine and pur your liver in shape. You and everybody around you will feel better for it. Price 50 cents per bottle. A. C. Koopen & Bros.

ABERDEEN SPENDS A MILLION IN A YEAR

Aberdeen, Wash.—Public improvements in Aberdeen during the last 18 months have cost more than $1,000,000. This sum is represented largely by street and sewer work. There are also being put up business blocks that will cost several hundred thousands of dollars, and work is being rushed to complete the new $125,000 brick and stone high school for occupancy by pupils at the opening of the fall term. Besides the evidences of growth outlined above there is being spent $100,000 in opening up a residence section in the hill district of the Broadway part of town.

According to figures prepared by City Engineer Charles W. Ewart, showing completed and uncompleted public improvements, Aberdeen has reason to challenge any city of the United States of its size to make a better showing in the upbuilding line. Of the total already stated, $569,581.89 has been paid out for street and sewer work that has been completed. Of the uncompleted improvements the largest undertaking is the tide-flat fill west of Broadway, which will cost $13,200. For the Terrace Hill improvement a $60,000 contract has been let; also for the Second street pavement $16,000; B street improvement $13,500, and G and I streets asphalt paving to cost more than $30,000.

The completion of present contracts will give the city 25 miles of sewerage. There are 8 1-2 miles of electric railway in the city and the municipal water system's value is put at $227,000.

In the business world Aberdeen continues to advance and keep pace with city improvements. Two of the largest undertakings that are looming up are on the principal thoroughfare, Hornon street. W. B. Mack of this city and J. B. Dabney of Oakland, Cal., are erecting a two story reinforced concrete store and office building, 100x150 feet, which will cost $75,000. Adjoining it C. M. Weather-wax and associates are putting up a similar building, to cost $60,000. J. D. Cleary, formerly of the Grays Harbor Railway company, who sold out his interests, has gone east to finance the building of a five or six story office and store structure at the corner of Herson street and Broadway.

WOMAN MARRIED AND DESERTED IN ONE DAY

Chicago.—Mrs. Hilma Shasta answered an advertisement for a house-keeper last Thursday, was employed last Monday morning, and before noon had become Mrs. Charles Natner, wife of her employer, who, she says, told her he was a farmer from Johnson Creek, Wis. Shortly after noon, on their way to Natner's farm via the Chicago & Milwaukee electric, Natner, she says, complained of a violent pain in the stomach. They left the car, and the bride waited while the bridegroom went to a drug store for medicine. He did not return and Mrs. Natner, after searching, asked the Evanston police to find him, as she had been forced to conclude that she had been deserted. Mrs. Natner is 35 years old and has two children. The police say she was divorced from her first husband.
