The Orpheum.

1. A Postal Substitute. Mellies, drama, 1000 feet long. A thrilling story of an attempt to prevent the delivery of a certain letter which attempt is frustrated by a girl in very romantic way.

2. A Frontier Hero. Edison, 1000 feet. The picture illustrates the dangerous conditions which existed along in the 40's when Indian attacks were a constant menace to every family on the frontier.

3. Hako's Sacrifice. Vitagraph, drama, 1000 feet. A powerful Japanese drama, worked out with such careful attention to details that one feels that for the time one must be in Japan.

4. Lonesome Meyer.

The Orpheum—Sunday's Program.

1. An Arcadian Maid. Biograph, 1000 feet long. Woe to him who will prey upon those of pastoral and bucolic innocence, for fate is sure to wreak vengeance and that vengeance is terrible. Such was the lot of the conscienceless villain who imposed upon the trusting innocence of the little country maid.

2. The Detective's Dream. Pathe, 1000 feet. A bit of comedy which represents, possibly, the feelings of a detective who prides himself on ability to make important captures.

3. John Graham's Gold. Lubin, 1000 feet. A love story in which a woman who lost heavily on margins, sacrifices her daughter to an old miser to cover her debts and hide her from disgrace.

4. On the Ethiopian Frontier. Pathe. An excellent production showing some of the most interesting of that distant and almost unknown land.

5. Song—Blue Feather.

The Pastime.

Program for Sunday's change as follows:

"The Desperado." Essanay, comedy, 1000 feet long. This subject is an exceptionally thrilling one, quite out of the ordinary.

"Manon." Pathe, drama. A drama adapted from Abbe Prevost's celebrated work of the same title.

"Catching Lobsters." Educational. A picture of exceptional interest, as is always the case when sea views of merit are introduced.

More moving pictures shown than any other theater in the city—The Pastime.
