MARCEL WAVE HAS GONE; ALSO THE POMPADOUR

Paris.—A reaction has set in in hair dressing at the French capital. No more marcel waving, no more of the long-worn pompadour. At the present time there is in all coiffures an endeavor to bring out unexpected lines. Light curls and puffs are still fashionable and are arranged in effects that one can scarcely become accustomed to, there being clusters over the ear and bunches at the back and low over the forehead.

The flat torcade of hair is still, however, worn drawn tightly around the chignon of curls set high upon the forehead, with a line of curls on the forehead. A charming headress recently seen was of old gold material, the ends deftly hidden among the hair, while an immense back aigrette was placed at the side, well back.

Neck of gold, top and bands of satin matching the gown, continue in favor for their ornaments.

King Edward's Bedroom.
London.—King Edward's bedchamber at Buckingham palace is to remain in precisely the same condition as when the king died there. It is to be closed and never used again. This is by the special request of Alexandra, though it is one of the most desirable rooms of the palace, looking over gardens and as quiet as if in the depths of the country, rather than in the heart of London.

FARMER'S UNION NOT OFFERING ITS WHEAT

(Special Correspondence.)
Helix, Or., Aug. 18.—Harvest is nearly completed in this section wheat yielding from 25 to 30 bushels, but of the very best quality. Hardly a crop tested less than 60 pounds and the most of the tests showing 63 to 65 pounds to the bushel.
Edgar W. Smith of Juniper has abandoned his caterpillar engine and is preparing to finish harvesting with horsepower machines.
While considerable wheat is being sold by farmers most of the early sellers are holding back, claiming that the prices have not yet reached their limit and it is not expected that much wheat will change hands until the market reaches 90c. Members of the Farmers' union are receiving the market quotations daily and in most cases steadily refuse to sell.

PRIZE CUP FOR DRY FARMING PRODUCTS

Portland, Ore., Aug. 16.—(Special.)—The accompanying cup will be awarded for the best Oregonian exhibit at the International Dry Farming Exposition at Spokane next November. The cup is offered by the Portland Commercial Club and its value is about $50. The conditions attending its award are that the products exhibited must be grown in Oregon on arid or semi-arid land without irrigation. On one side of the cup is an inscription giving the donor and the requirements to be met and on the opposite side is a blank space where the name of the winner will be engraved. It is a handsome piece of silver, standing nearly a foot high on a solid ebony base.

A PIPE IS BETTER THAN CIGARETTES, SAYS DUKE

London.—An interesting story is in circulation illustrative of the Duke of Connaught's democracy with the rank and file of the army. At Aldershot during the recent maneuvers the duke in civilian clothes, came across a young recruit outside the barracks smoking a cigarette. The duke engaged the soldier in conversation asking him why he did not smoke a pipe instead of a cigarette. The soldier not recognizing the duke, answered:

"Why, old Connaught smokes cigarettes. Why shouldn't I?"

"Yes," answered the duke, "but old Connaught never smoked a cigarette at your age."

YACHTSMEN STARTLED BY GERMAN SHAM INVASION

Berlin.—Rumors of the invasion of England by Germany would be surely revived were it generally known what a party of British yachtsmen witnessed while on a recent tour of German waters.

The Brits were sailing between the Friesland Islands and the German mainland, when they suddenly came across hundreds of barges laden with German troops being towed from the coast to the islands. Watching the operations from a distance the yachtsmen witnessed a full-dress rehearsal of the landing of an invading army, with all the necessary paraphernalia of horses, gun carriages and supplies.

When the Brits afterward questioned the German officers they made no secret of the fact that they were engaged on a sham invasion, adding that such maneuvers formed one of the most important parts of their military curriculum. The Brits departed more thoughtful men

MOVING PICTURES PUT UNDER THE LAW IN ITALY

Rome.—Objectionable moving picture shows are to be suppressed by law in Italy for the reason that the government believes that they are the main cause of the terrible increase in juvenile crime.

According to the new law which the government has framed all films must be submitted before exhibition to local committees for approval. After approval the films will be taxed unless they are of an educational character, representing natural scenery, cities, monuments, sports, industries, episodes in national life, etc.

Managers who infringe the law may be fined up to $60 for the first offense. For second and other offenses the penalty will be much heavier. All objectionable films will be destroyed. No children under thirteen will be allowed to witness the entertainments unless their parents are with them.

Disagreeable at Home.

Lots of men and women who are agreeable with others, get "cranky" at home. Its not disposition, its the liver. If you find in yourself that you feel cross around the house, little things worry you, just buy a bottle of Ballar's Herbine and put your liver in shape. You and everybody around you will feel better for it. Price 50 cents per bottle. A. C. Koeppen & Bros.

London.—The Duke and Duchess of Braganza, who came to London for the christening of the daughter of the Duchess of Vieter, who was a Miss Rhinlander Stewart, stayed at Claridge's hotel long after the ceremony and paid daily visits to the house of Mrs. J. H. Smith in Grosvenor Square. The duke is wonderfully proud of his grandchild, the baby Princess of Braganza, who rejoices in about a dozen names, including Marie Therese Elizabeth Anna (after the grandmother, Mrs. Smith); Michel (after her grandfather, the duke), who is called (Michael), and Nadege.
