AT THE THEATER.

That the colored minstrel troupe has a peculiar attraction to amusement seekers was evinced last night when a crowded house greeted Richards & Pringle's darktown brigade despite the dust storm that was raging on the outside. Those who went came away very well satisfied, for the program rendered was thoroughly wholesome and enjoyable. Clarence Powell and Billy King, the premier end men of minstrelsy, demonstrated that they are still able to coax laughs from an audience, and their appearances in different features throughout the evening were signals for repeated outbursts. The voices were good, and altogether the company this year is qualified to maintain the reputation which Richards & Pringle have built up in the past quarter of a century.

MEASURES ARE PROPOSED TO REPRESS THE APACHE

Paris.—One of the gravest tasks which confronts the Paris authorities is the repression of the "apache."

In the course of the debate in the Chamber some two years ago on the abolition of the death penalty, M. Briand, then Minister of Justice, declared that in his opinion one of the chief causes of the increase of criminality was the abuse of the privilege of carrying weapons and the facility with which arms can be procured.

One of the first measures to be taken therefore, if the apaches are to be got rid of, is to make it impossible or at all events extremely difficult, to procure the weapons which render him so dangerous an enemy of society.

The law places certain obstacles in the way of carrying arms, such as placing pocket pistols in the category of "prohibited weapons," the possession of which renders one liable to a heavy fine. But nothing is done to prevent the purchase of such weapons, and gunsmiths' shops are plentiful enough in Paris. The apache, however, buys his revolvers second-hand, as a rule.

To all intents and purposes the prohibition to carry arms is a dead letter. It comes into play, more often than not, after the harm is done, and sometimes an honest citizen who uses a revolver or pistol in self-defense is prosecuted by the authorities whose duty it is to protect him.

The only way to stop the murderous practices of the apache is to restrict the sale of weapons of all sorts, and the Surete has prepared draft regulations which, if strictly carried out, would certainly cut his claws. These regulations provide that any person desiring to carry a weapon of any sort must go to the police commissioner of his district and justify his request. If the commissary, after making inquiries, considers that the person may safely be trusted with a weapon, he will deliver a certificate, with a special note to the effect that the person in question may have need of the said weapon for self-defense.

RAILROADS WILL RAISE THE SOCIALIST BUGABOO

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Socialism, that bugaboo of frightful men, will be raised by the railroads in an attempt to frighten the interstate commerce commission when that body begins its examination into the proposed freight rate increases here next week. It was learned today that all plans have been made for putting the question of government ownership squarely before the federal authorities and the people, and a memorial with this object in view has been drawn up.

It will be urged by the railroads that increased cost of operation necessitates proportionate increases in rates, and that if the railroads are not permitted to make such increases the railways may as well be turned over to the government. Nothing is to be said in the memorial, however, about watered stocks or the payment of dividends and interest on stock and bond issues many times greater than the valuation of the roads.

Shippers have advanced an estimate that the earnings of the railways of the country in the fiscal year ending June 30 last have increased about $94,000,000 over the preceding year. While not denying that there has been a great increase, railroad men say that it has been eaten up by proportionate increases in expenses.

It is expected that the decision of the interstate commerce commission will be given this autumn, after a full consideration has been given to the facts, figures and statistics submitted by both railways and shippers.

CHANCELLOR CARICATURES DRAW OFFICIAL PROTEST

Berlin.—A strong official protest has been made against the general tendency of caricatures of the Imperial German chancellor, Herr von Bethmann Hollweg.

The caricatures represent the Chancellor as being an inert, helpless, bored, lazy philosopher, incapable of any definite resolution, and utterly unfit to possess any decisive power. It is complained that these caricatures of the chancellor are calculated to lessen the prestige of the German empire in the eyes of other nations, inasmuch as German caricatures of Herr von Bethmann Hollweg inevitably find their way into the columns of foreign newspapers.

It is alleged that the caricatures represent Herr von Bethmann Hollweg to be so grotesque a figure that a profound contempt for Germany having such a chancellor must be a certain result of looking at them. For this reason it is urged as a patriotic duty to refrain from caricaturing the chancellor in such merciless style.

Lloyd George's Toast.

London.—Lloyd George proposed the health of his brother, William George, and his bride, Miss Anita Williams, after their marriage at Hermon chapel, Fishguard, on Saturday. The occasion, the chancellor pointed out was tinged with sadness, as his brother had forsaken home rule principles in favor of unionism.

A wise man's happiness is in himself; all other happiness is superficial.
