ANOTHER HARVEST ACCIDENT AT ATHENA

D. C. BAKER THROWN UNDER WHEAT WAGON

In Effort to Stop Runaway Team, Falls Under Wheels—Hip Badly Injured—Teachers Begin to Arrive for Opening of School.

(Special Correspondence.)
Athena, Ore., Aug. 29.—D. C. Baker who has been in the employ of George W. Gross, a prosperous wheat raiser of this community, met with a serious accident a few days ago while hauling wheat from one of Mr. Gross's fields west of town. Mr. Baker had just started to load his wagon with the wheat sacks, when the four horses started to run and on his attempting to check the running horses, he was thrown out in front of the wagon and the wheels ran over his hip, thus injuring him so badly that he was brought into town on a stretcher. The injured hip was examined by Dr. G. S. Newsom of this city and he reports it to be in a very serious condition. Mr. Baker is improving, however, and it is thought that it will not be many weeks until the disabled man is on his feet.

Prof. Ernest Wells of Seattle, who is to take charge of the high school department of the schools of this city was up for a few minutes from Pendleton last Saturday and after making some arrangements with the local school board, he returned to Pendleton en-route to Seattle where he will spend a few days before returning to this city to take up his duties here September 12th.

Prof. C. C. Baker, formerly of Gresham, Oregon, who is to take charge of the schools of this city as superintendent, arrived late Saturday evening with his wife and children. School begins here the 12th of September and Prof. Baker is here before time in order that all arrangements and plans for the future year may be made before registration day. By the carefulness and thoroughness with which the teachers have been selected by the school board of this city, the best corps of teachers are to take charge of the schools this year that have ever been hired here. There will be more students enrolled this year than ever before and with the improvements in the various departments of the school, the most successful and prosperous school is before the citizens and pupils of this community and vicinity.

EX-QUEEN RANAVOLO OF MADAGASCAR IN PARIS

Paris—The ex-Queen Ranavolo, of Madagascar, is at present in Paris, where she is spending a few days in strict incognito. Queen Ranavolo, by her modesty and the quiet resignation she has shown since her dethronement, finds a great deal of sympathy in France, where she is always treated with the best hospitality. Since her arrival in Paris she has been staying in a boarding house in the center of the city, for she does not hide her dislike for sumptuous hotels and society life. Her visits to Paris are by no means few, and the rest part of her time here is spent in receiving interviewers. But Queen Ranavolo has also a dislike of talking about herself and replying to questions which revive memories which she would prefer to forget. So this time, after receiving her interviewers with characteristic courtesy, she leaves her lady in waiting to speak for her.

Low is the whisper of night in the grasses, Endlessly, sweetly, the night things rejoice. Chiggers get busy; mosquitoes don glasses, And only the camper gives resentment voice.
