

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 1, 1910.
Mr. Lee Teutsch,
Pendleton, Ore.

Dear Lee—
I have just returned from a month's vacation which I spent in and about Yellowstone Park and had a very fine time.
My trip took me to Gardiner, Mont., where I visited the Yellowstone Portland Cement Co. property and I want to tell you that I found everything progressing nicely and also found everything more satisfactory than I had expected. The main thing I saw that pleased me, was the vast quantity of lime rock the company has for its supply. It is doubtful if the company could exhaust its supply in a thousand years. There is a regular mountain of it which has been prospected in every direction so on that score there is no question. The plant I found just as Mr. Grant had represented it or if anything better. The Northern Pacific Railway has commenced building a siding right to the mill and the expense railroad is going in order to reach the plant certainly expresses the confidence it has in the proposition for the piece of work is an expensive one as the Gardiner river has to be crossed by a special bridge.
Very truly yours,
C. B. SAMPSON.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF OLD NEW YORK

New York—Breathes there booby with pride so dead, so hard of heart, so fat of head, that never to himself he's said, in part, that the particular city, town, village, hamlet or crossroads in, at or near which he resides is the one definite spot in the universe most favored by Providence? Answer: There are a lot of such knockers, and not a few of them reside in little old New York. It has been said—and with what truth we who live here will attest—that the American metropolis has a lesser pressure of civic pride to the square inch than any other city on the North American continent.

Be that as it undoubtedly is, there is a large number of the 4,766,833 people within the borders of Greater New York who point with pride to the census figures recently made public. An increase of 1,329,681 in ten years is not to be sneezed at, and this ten-year gain alone would make a husky rival to such a village as Philadelphia, that heartless city, where nobody cares.

Comparisons are often odious, but it is only true that if St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Louisville, Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Washington, Houston, Dallas, Denver, Providence and St. Paul were lumped into one town, the combined population would hardly exceed that of New York. Again, if all the people of all the larger cities of Canada were dumped down in New York, and the present population removed, the suburbs would not be nearly so crowded as they now are. New York's Italian population alone would make a city larger than eternal Rome, and the Irishmen of the metropolis could populate a city that would make Dublin look like one shilling thruppence.

Ten years ago Gothamites were saying that Manhattan was playing to capacity and that population gains would thereafter be confined to the outlying boroughs. Yet the census of Manhattan shows that the population of the tight little island has increased 26 per cent, from 1,550,993 in 1900 to 2,321,542 in 1910.

The present population of New York City exceeds that of many important nations. The continent of Australia has fewer people than the American metropolis, and Ireland lacks several hundred thousand of coming up to New York figures. Norway has fewer people than New York City, and Denmark's population is not very much more than half that of this city.

All of which goes to prove that while civic pride is very necessary to the small city which hopes to grow, the city which has arrived can get along very well without it. All of the press agents in the world couldn't give any other American city as much advertising as New York gets without the expenditure of a cent. Or, as some sage has remarked, "Nothing succeeds like success."

There are a number of reasons, aside from population statistics, for preferring New York to other cities. One of them is that the straw lid, which became tabooed in Chicago and other bucolic centers on the first day of September, remains good form in New York until the fifteenth. By edict of fashion, the summer bonnet will be put in the garbage can or stowed away with the mothballs on Thursday next. Any indigent or absent-minded party discovered wandering around under a top-piece of straw after that day and date will become fair prey for the argyle street archers, who so dearly love to knock a lid from a guy's bean and use it—the hat, not the bean—as a substitute for a football.

But the funniest thing about the disappearance of the straw bonnet has nothing to do with that bonny article, but its successor. For various reasons, among which financial stringency is not unusual, many men find themselves unable to secure new derbys at the time appointed, and appear with a hat rescued from under the sink or the refrigerator. There's nothing quite so funny as a last year's model hat which has seen its worst days, and the spectacle next Friday morn-

RHEUMATISM PAINFUL & DANGEROUS

Rheumatism is due to a diseased condition of the blood cells and corpuscles, brought about by an excess of uric acid in the circulation. It is not only a very painful disease but an extremely dangerous trouble. The briny, acid state of the blood gradually forms a coating over the muscles, and by depositing a cement-like substance in the joints frequently terminates fatally, or leaves its victim a hopeless cripple. It is natural to "doctor" the spot that hurts, and it is quite right to use liniments, hot applications, etc., to get temporary relief from a painful joint or swollen tendon; but Rheumatism is not a skin disease, and such things, when depended on alone make one careless, and the disease gets a firmer hold on the blood. S. S. S. cures the disease because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It goes into the circulation, and removes every particle of the irritating uric acid, builds up the blood, makes it rich and oily, and in this way prepares it for the proper nourishment of all joints, muscles, nerves and bones. If you have Rheumatism, get the uric acid out of the blood by taking S. S. S., a purely vegetable medicine, and enjoy freedom from its misery. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

ing will be worth coming miles to see. Next Saturday will usher in the week of the big cats for the gentlemen of the Press. Owing to the prevailing high cost of living, many of the genial gents who make the news of the nation have found it almost impossible to secure sufficient food, after other and more necessary expenses, such as Sunday school dues and pew rents, have been met—and passed. On the date aforesaid a national pure food show and exposition of domestic economy will be held in Madison Square Garden, and the most beautiful lady demonstrators of the country will pass out the eats, from breakfast food to coffee, to the hungry newspapermen who have been so fortunate as to secure passes. Incidentally, it is alleged that the show will be of surpassing interest to housewives, inasmuch as it will demonstrate ways and means of decreasing grocery and meat bills and at the same time provide a more tasteful and healthful diet.

New York republican leaders commenced active preparations today for the meeting of the National Republican League here the last day of the month. It is asserted that the session will be the largest in number of delegates and the most important in results to be accomplished of any ever held by the league. The Hotel Astor has been selected as headquarters, and Secretary Atherton has already received lists of delegates running into the thousands.

President Taft has promised President John Hays Hammond that he will attend the banquet and deliver an address. This speech will be the only important one to be made by the president during the present campaign and in it he will outline his views on all the weighty problems now before the American people. Vice President Sherman is also expected to be present, although it is possible that political developments may lead him to change his mind.

Coney Island is preparing for its annual high jinks marking the closing of the "playground of the people." Next week's affair will include many novelties in the way of spectacular pageantry.

The first important wedding of the autumn season took place today at Lenox, when Miss Helen Lispenard Alexandre became the bride of Bayard C. Hoppin. The ceremony was performed at the summer home of the parents of the bride. The families of both bride and groom are prominent in society in this and other cities.

NEW YORK DRAMATIC LETTER.

By William S. Brewer.

New York, Sept. 8.—It is easy to forgive the theatre-managers for producing so many new plays each week, because the standard of the plays presented so far is unusually high. So far there is not really one downright failure to be recorded and the advance sheets of the managers promise still more excellent offerings.

Many of America's favorite artists are to appear in New York this season in new plays. Everyone is glad to welcome dainty Pauline Chase, who returns to New York after a prolonged absence in England. Miss Chase has the leading feminine role in "Our Miss Giggles," Mr. Charles Frohman's annual musical production. This play is now in the second year of its continuous run at the Gaiety theatre, London and promises to duplicate the London success in America. Other artists in the cast are Bert Leslie, Ernest Lambert and Fred Wright. The plot centers around the romance of a pretty little department store girl, Mary Gibbs, who loves and is loved by Lord Enysford, who has masqueraded as a bank clerk. "Our Miss Gibbs" is at the Knickerbocker theatre.

"Bobby Burnitt" with Wallace Edinger in the title role, enters upon its fourth week at the Republic theatre next Monday night. The character of Bobby Burnitt is reminiscent in its attractiveness of Bertie the Lamb in "The Henrietta." Edinger gives a sprightly impersonation of the rich man's son.

"Miss Patsy" at Nazimova's Thirtieth street theatre gives Gertrude Quinlan wide scope for the charming humor she always radiates. The piece is a farce by Sewell Collins and takes its name from the Patsy Deliverlike characters of the central character, a young woman with a kindly heart, much good nature and a considerable bump of humor, who also possesses a veritable genius for making mistakes.

"The Commuters," James Forbes' farcial comedy now running at the Criterion theatre, may be reckoned as a big success if crowded houses count. Mr. Forbes' character studies arouse the merriment of the audience which was clearly the author's intention in writing the play.

John Barrymore continues to enact "The Fortune Hunter" at the Gaiety. The fact that he is engaged to a young New York society girl has for the present increased the interest of his personality for the feminine contingent and the matinee are invariably crowded. The comedy which reveals its native American types in the radiance of mellow humor bids fair to continue at the Gaiety for another season.

At the Knickerbocker theatre Miss Clara Lipman is Blount's play "The Marriage of a Star" has good opportunities to display her versatility. In the cast with her are Aida Corlebon, Clara Sydney, Lena Lorraine, Mabel Shore, Albert Parker, Arthur Gollister and Franklin Ritchie.

It has been many a day since Daly's theatre has housed so funny a farce as "Baby Mine." The reception which have greeted this comedy since its opening have indicated that "Baby Mine" will stay for some time. Prominent in the cast are Marguerite Clark, Ernest Glendinning, Walter Jones and Ivy Troutman.

Edgar Selwyn's new four-act comedy "The Country Boy" at the Liberty theatre is also another recent play to spring into instant favor. The story of the play is that of a young man hailing from a small town in northern New York who comes to the city to win fame and fortune. His lack of success on his native health he attributes to the limitations of his birthplace. In the city he soon is caught in the maelstrom and loses sight of the stimulus for his ambition by attaching himself to a chorus girl. On her he wastes his time and money and at last comes to the end of his rope. He is about to make away with himself when he is caught in the grip of a man with a healthy and optimistic view of life, who labors hard and succeeds in restoring the boy to his original self-respect and enthusiasm.

The "Arcadians" in its third home at the New York theatre, continues with the same popularity that it enjoyed in its former homes. The piece is really quite different from the ordinary slapstick musical show and yet manages to keep the audience in constant merriment.

The New York Hippodrome is drawing record crowds with its triple bill "The International Cup," "The Ballet of Niagara" and "The Earthquake." "Marceline" the clown is also included in the personnel of the company and Silvers Oakley returns after an absence of five years.

At the American Music Hall, Julian Rose returns to vaudeville after an absence of several years. He has prepared an original monologue for his vaudeville tour. Sharing honors with those are Pullen, Ettinge, the female impersonator, Count and Countess Chilo, Ed Blondell with his funny play "The Lost Boy" and others.

Next Monday Coney Island commences its annual Mardi Gras which will end Saturday September 17 and mark the close of the season at the seashore resorts.

SWEET TOOTH IN AMERICA.

Average Consumption Per Capita in 1909 Was Eighty-Two Pounds.

Washington.—Each person in the United States consumed 82 pounds of sugar in the fiscal year just closed, supposing each got that share, according to statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor, which show the average per capita consumption in that period to be precisely that quantity.

The figures further indicate that the American sweet tooth now demands more sugar than at any time in the country's history. There was consumed in the 12 months 7,500,000,000 pounds of which the United States, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands each contributed larger quantities than ever before.

Foreign countries supplied about 51 per cent of the sugar consumed in this country during the year, the sugar fields of continental United States about 24 per cent, and non-contiguous territories 25 per cent.

AMERICAN GIRLS LIBELED.

English Noblewoman Says They Have Revolutionized European Cities.

New York.—"American girls do not go ahead to have a good time by drinking wine, smoking cigarettes and following other European customs. Those who say they do libel them."

Thus said Lady Francis Cook (Tennessee Claflin), herself an American girl, who arrived yesterday from Europe. "It would do you good," continued Lady Cook, "to see the thousands of American girls who are touring Europe and to know the admiration with which Europe regards them."

"American girls have revolutionized Europe. Streets which were regarded as unsafe for women after dark are now as safe as our own avenues. It is the American girl who has worked this change."

"I have read a lot of this cigarette smoking by women, but I do not believe the habit is any cause for alarm in this country."
