by L. T. Link and the school at Prospect taught by Mrs. Grace Benedict. The Echo firemen held a special meeting last night to make arrangements for a series of dances. The first dance will be given on Monday evening, September 26, at the city hall and thereafter a dance will be given once a month and on all holidays during the season.

Rev. Clark of White Salmon, made a short business visit here this week, while on his way home from Spokane, where he had been attending the Methodist conference. Mr. Clark was located here two years ago and filled the M. E. pulpit.

L. B. Wells and J. Hutchins were business visitors in Pendleton today. P. C. Hunter, O. R. & N. company's agent, left Wednesday for his old home at Salix, Iowa, visiting with friends and relatives. Mr. Hunter expects to be back on duty by October 1.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Boyd are absent in Portland where they have bought a residence and will make that place their home, although Mr. Boyd will still conduct his business at this place and be here the greater part of the time.

Mrs. F. E. Everitt and Mrs. J. Frank Spinning spent Thursday in Pendleton.

The W. C. T. U. held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. F. W. Godfrey. There was a good attendance.

Frank Dorn returned to his home at Cashmere, Wash., on Friday after spending a short business visit here.

Mrs. Jas. Leizer, who has been quite ill with blood poisoning in her right hand, is rapidly improving.

Mrs. Silbaugh, national organizer of the W. C. T. U., lectured here last night at the Methodist church.

F. T. George, the local merchant, has purchased the two story brick building on the corner of Bridge and Bonanza streets of Frank Dorn. He will fit up the second story with modern suites of rooms, one of which he will occupy with his family. The first floor with its plate glass windows and admirable location on the corner of two of the principal streets will make a better location for his stock of goods which will be moved from the Koonitz building, occupied by him for the past five years.

Dr. W. J. Stapish returned yesterday from Walla Walla, where he had been for a visit with his family.

Hard Times a Comin'

First Hard Times Ball of the season to be given by the Hose Co. No. 2 Wednesday, September 21, 1910, Eagle-Woodman hall; United Orchestra. Price 99 cents. All are warned to wear their old clothes or be subject to a fine from the hard-times court.

Mrs. C. W. Oliver of Los Angeles, who has been the guest of Pendleton relatives since June, left for her California home on the local train this morning. She was accompanied by her nephew, Roland McBroom.

Now that political parties, as well as individual candidates, are in the race for office, the article, "The Race to the White House," will appeal to many readers. This is also in the North American Review.

This same magazine has a comparison of Shakespeare and Mollere by Brander Matthews, one of the best known of living American authors, this will probably be of interest to those keeping in touch with the best literature of the day.

How to learn to fly; the different machines and what they cost, is a well illustrated and decidedly attractive article in the World's Work.

Molly Elliott Seawell's "The Ladies' Battle," is a treatment of the suffrage question, whether the ladies believe it or not, they may enjoy reading this. It is in the Atlantic Monthly.

Popular Mechanics is always full of things that the boys are interested in and the following are some of the subjects treated in the September number: Odd Aids of Wireless Amateurs; How to Make a Wireless Telegraph Set; The Aeroplane and the Battleship; How to Make a Folding Card Table; An Outdoor Gymnasium, etc. Older people as well as the younger ones can appreciate the attractiveness of this magazine.

It may not be universally understood that we circulate our magazines, with the exception of the latest number, which is kept upon the table for the special use of the reading room, all others are issued for a period of four days.

A Poor Nightcap.

"I trust you slept comfortably and had everything you 'needed'?" said Sandy Macpherson's hostess one cold morning last winter.

"Ay, weel enough," replied her guest, a venerable Scot, "but I dinna see the guld of yon bottle in the bed."

"Why, wasn't the water hot?" the hostess asked in surprise.

"Verry hot," responded Macpherson "but ye forgot to put anything in it."

Mrs. W. A. Storie of 301 Cosbie street who has been suffering for several days with a felon on her finger, has finally been compelled to have part of the bone removed.

Ships Horses to Arlington.
William Rhae, the well known horse buyer, shipped a car load of brood mares to Arlington yesterday. His son, F. Rhae was in charge of the shipment.

Will Open Rooming House.
Joe Boyd will open his new rooming house in the Matlock-Brownfield building tonight. He has secured the large room formerly occupied by M. A. Rader with his furniture store and has furnished it with beds.

Instruction Car Here.
"A college on wheels" is in Pendleton today. It is the instruction car of the International Correspondence schools and is used in instructing railroad employes in the mysteries of the airbrake and other railroad appliances.

Collar Bone Is Broken.
Harry Hayes, one of the East Oregonian carriers, is carrying his collar bone in a sling as the result of a decidedly amateur game of football last evening. In company with a few other boys he was engaged in a rough and tumble scrimmage when the accident occurred.

Superintendent Bollons Here.
Superintendent William Bollons of the O. R. & N. spent last night in Pendleton, leaving for the west this morning when his private car the '03, was attached to train No. 1. J. T. Mayo, superintendent of bridges and building, who was also in town last night is still here on business in connection with his department.

Putting Out New Directory.
Local Manager Moore of the Pacific Telephone company is at work on a new directory which will go to press, Oct. 1. He therefore desires that every patron of the company in this city will look in the present directory for errors and notify the local office of those found, so that the new book may be absolutely correct. Spelling of names and street numbers are especially wanted as well as correct telephone numbers. The new book will cover the counties of Walla Walla, Columbia, Garfield, Benton and Franklin in Washington and Umatilla in Oregon. The cities of Pendleton, Walla Walla, Dayton, Pomeroy and Milton, will also be included. It will be distributed to 7,000 users of telephones.

LIBRARY NOTES.

The September magazines are now upon the reading tables of the library and we invite your attention to some of the things of interest to be found in them.

J. I. Hill in speaking of the conservation congress, held in St. Paul last week, said: "Men everywhere ought to take the advice that is given in an article in the September North American Review. That deals with the conservation of common sense and gives a good illustration of business conditions in the United States now and gives also, as the panacea for the business paralysis the suggestion that ordinary common sense be applied."

GIRL'S "BEAUTY DIET" SENDS HER TO THE GRAVE

London.—A grave warning to girls who act as their own "beauty" specialists is contained in a case which has just come before the Birkenhead coroner. The subject of the inquest was a young girl named Mary Cadyallader, and it transpired that she had had an inordinate appetite for raw rice. A doctor pointed out that many girls ate raw rice to improve their complexion, and said the rice eaten by the girl had a good deal to do with her death. The jury returned a verdict of death from natural causes.

A London physician explains that the habit of eating raw rice among working girls, and more particularly factory hands, was more widespread than is generally believed. They eat quantities of it to make themselves "beautiful." They want white complexions, and the effect of eating raw rice was undoubtedly to make them pale. But it made them pale by upsetting their stomachs and digestion generally, and giving them anaemia.

Others systematically drank pints of vinegar to obtain the same "beautiful" result, while some favored sucking lemons, eating pickles or raw cabbage with the same object, and the same result upon their complexions and digestions. Starch-eating was another form of the morbid habit, which, the physician declares, is by no means of recent origin.

The Vogue Millinery

Complete Line of Fall Hats Now Showing

What will appeal instantly to women is not the fact that values are remarkable, but that styles are new, distinctive, exclusive. A most welcome selection for the woman who has promised herself a new Fall hat awaits her at the Vogue.

There are two hundred beauties in this bevy of millinery, street hats that picture the last phase of New York street millinery fashions. The shapes are large, medium and small and prettily trimmed with feathers, ribbons and fancy mounts.

Nowhere else will you find such an array of such a variety from which to choose as we are showing—beautiful, tasteful and becoming hats that to duplicate elsewhere you would pay two or three times as much.
