108 BUSHELS WHEAT SOLD BY ONE MAN

Walla Walla.—This week has been one of unusual activity in the wheat market, and in the operations on the farms of the Walla Walla valley. Not only did the week see the biggest wheat sale on record here, but several other deals were made, and the beginning of fall seeding was noted as well.

In the sale of 108,000 bushels of bluestem and Turkey Red by George Drumheller to the Jones-Scott company of this city, the largest single wheat sale of the northwest is recorded. The price paid was about 80 cents, the grain being mostly bluestem, little Turkey Red being in the lot.

Several smaller sales were also reported at about these figures, but farmers generally are still holding for better prices. Club has gained on bluestem until now there is only about 4 1-2 cents difference between the two in price, where three weeks ago bluestem would bring 10 and 11 more than club. This is due to the ruling of the export market, wheat for that purpose being only about three cents different.

On Eureka Flat a pool of six farmers, of whom three, John Webb, Ben Grote and Sam Smith, hold by far the largest amounts, has been formed, and their entire holdings, about 150 cars, are on the market for a price that is about three cents higher than is now ruling. While the definite figure asked cannot be ascertained, it is understood they ask about 83 cents, f. o. b. Eureka. Dealers say they cannot get the price asked; but farmers are confident the wheat will be sold within a week.

Fall seeding was begun this week and farmers will brook no delay until the winter weather cuts short the work. Some of the more conservative claim that the rains that have so far fallen have not sufficiently brought up the weeds; and that they will later come up and get the best of the grain. By far the most of the farmers, however, claim that the rains have been sufficient and that there is more danger of waiting for rains than in seeding now and taking chances with the weeds.

SALVATION ARMY MAY PENETRATE FAR LANDS

London.—General Booth has made an important declaration with regard to considerable extensions in the near future in the work of the Salvation Army in India and elsewhere.

"We are," he said, "striking out on a larger scale in dealing with the criminal tribes of India. I saw Lord Morley on the matter a fortnight ago and he was at once deeply interested. There are three millions of people in India who live by robbery in various forms, and we propose to take charge of them if the government will furnish us with land reservations such as those given to the red Indians in the United States. Given suitable land, we will endeavor, under the influence of religion and kindness, to teach these criminals to earn an honest living.

"Most of them are in the United Provinces and the Punjab. We have already five settlements there, with fifteen hundred men, women and children in them. These are doing well."

"Will the criminals voluntarily enter the settlements?" asked the interviewer.

"Well, it will be voluntarily so far that they would rather be with us than in prison," laconically answered the general. "At present these men undertake long journeys, and after performing their criminal work return home with their booty. Our experience goes to show that if these people can be furnished with some form of industry and taken care of they will settle down, and we shall be able to convert them into valuable and loyal subjects. I have seen Sir John Hewitt, governor of the United Provinces, and one of the most influential men in India, and I have also seen the governor of the Punjab. They, and I think also Lord Morley, believe in the practicability of the scheme."

Proceeding to discuss new fields of labor, the general said he was now opening Peru, Chile and Bolivia. He added: "It is probable now that Spain will be opened to us. We commenced in Spain 10 years ago and had some splendid Spanish officers. Opposition arose, and we had to leave but the Spanish sergeant major determined to keep the flag until the army came to claim it in Madrid. There are now hopes that it will be claimed soon, owing to the religious toleration that is being insisted upon by the government of Spain. We have strong corps in Finland, where we have three hundred officers. We have not settled in Russia proper, but we have now decided to do so and appointed officers for that purpose. M. Stolypin has pronounced himself in our favor and his approval has been published."

British Airship Meets Costly. London.—It is not likely that there will be any more airship meetings in this country, since those which have been held proved financial failures. An official report for the first six months of 1910 indicates that the fall in wages, which began in 1908, has been arrested, and that the market rate for labor is beginning to feel the usual effect of improving trade and employment.

Alfonso Displeases Court.

Madrid.—The gay doings of King Alfonso during his recent visit to England has brought down upon him the wrath of his etiquette-ridden court. If the courtiers had their way Alfonso would never be allowed to throw aside his kingly dignity for one moment. Queen Victoria has also highly offended because she took an active part in the sports at Eaton hall.

Will Stop Raising Cheap Barley.

Dublin.—A number of Tipperary farmers have decided to cease raising barley unless those who buy the produce pay higher prices. Since 1885 prices have dropped almost 25 per cent.
