Fitzgerald, who has been visiting in Pendleton with relatives for the past month, has accepted the position of chief engineer and superintendent of a sugar plantation at Cullocan, Mexico, and will leave for his new post tomorrow by way of Seattle. Mr. O'Melveny was formerly connected with the city engineer's office in Seattle. His family will remain in Pendleton until he is settled in his new home.

Roundup Pictures in Demand.
That the Roundup postal card pictures are proving to be almost as popular as the big frontier show itself is evidenced by the fact that W. S. Bowman, the official photographer, has been working overtime to supply the demand. He has already printed more than 8000 pictures and is now turning them out at the rate of 1000 per day. But even at that rate he is unable to fill his mail orders and keep the local demand supplied.

FLOCKS ARE MOVED TO WINTER RANGES

Umatilla county flocks are now on their way from the summer range in the national forests to the fall and winter range on the foothills and lower valleys. Yesterday was the expiration of the time limit fixed by the government officials and those sheep which are not already on the trail were shoved over the lines. Owing to the unusually dry summer in the mountains and the fact that the range on the foothills has been better than that further back a great many sheepmen did not wait for the expiration of the time limit, but moved their flocks several days ago.

Notwithstanding the fact that the unusually dry summer resulted in the drying up of the range long before the usual time and prevented the starting of the fall grass, the sheep are coming out in fairly good condition. According to Dan P. Smythe, who is probably the best authority on sheep in the state and who has been making inquiries since his return to this city, the condition of the sheep is remarkably good considering the adverse conditions with which the sheep men have had to deal.

He has been a user of opium and says there is someone who has power over him to make him do things against his will.

RAISES POTATOES SO SHE CAN STUDY ART
Spokane, Wash.—Frances E. Parker, an ambitious young woman, who came to Spokane several years ago from Henry county, Iowa, with two purposes in view, is likely to realize the greater as a result of her summer's work in a vegetable patch at Garden Park near here. Miss Parker's goal was to harvest the largest crop of commercial potatoes ever gathered from a four-acre tract in eastern Washington, also to paint the best pictures in the inland empire. Her tract yielded more than 1000 bushels of tubers this season. As soon as these are marketed she will go either to Chicago or New York to study portrait painting. Miss Parker's two landscapes have been praised by competent critics and they have encouraged her to continue her studies along that line, but she prefers portrait work. She has young and plenty of enthusiasm and is not afraid of hard work. William Rhodes, an artist-farmer at Mount Pleasant, Iowa, is her uncle. Miss Parker is employed in a local gallery and lives with her mother, Mrs. Alice B. Parker, in a pretty suburban home near Lincoln Heights.

IMMENSE DEPOSITS OF EPSOM SALTS IN LAKE
Spokane, Wash.—Workmen are draining a small lake near Oroville in Okanogan county, Wash., to save an immense deposit of epsom salts, owned by M. McCammon of Oroville and his associates, who took up the land under a mineral right. A. W. Doland, president of the Spokane Drug company has made numerous laboratory tests and pronounces the salts equal to the German product, the wholesale price of which is 25c a pound. The lake, in which the deposit was found some time ago, is 1,000 feet in length and about 150 feet in width and of unmeasured depth. The bed and banks are covered with a thick deposit and it is believed there are thousands of tons of salts available for commercial purposes. The discovery was made several years ago, when hunters noticed the glistening white crystals along the shore. The find was reported in Spokane, but little attention was paid to it until after Mr. McCammon had perfected his claim to the land.

GERMANY PRETS OVER LORD ROBERTS' ELEVATION
Berlin.—The selection of Lord Roberts to head the special mission sent to Berlin to formally notify the Kaiser that King George V has ascended the throne has aroused some resentment in court circles because Lord Roberts is regarded in Germany as the head of the anti-German movement in England. Almost on the eve of his departure from England Lord Roberts expressed public approval of the virulently anti-German pamphlet written by Colonel Lyndell entitled "How Germany Makes War."

He said he hoped the pamphlet would be widely circulated in England. Its contents are regarded in Berlin as grave aspersions in Germany hence the anger that Roberts should be selected as special emissary.

During the last few days an eminent official of the German army, General Gagner, has been involved in a painful scandal, the details of which aroused indignation throughout Germany. It is significant of the fundamental idea of German officers code of honor that a deputation of officers of the German army went to General Gagner and requested him to commit suicide. It was represented to General Gagner that self destruction was the only way by which he could rehabilitate himself and wipe out the stain on the character of the German army.

The advice has not yet been accepted. The officers' advice to General Gagner appears to be generally approved by public opinion.

Paderewski, the great Polish pianist, has composed a new opera entitled "The Symphony of Chivalry." It is a colossal work and expresses in music the ancient glory, decline and fall of the Kingdom of Poland and the present hopes of all patriotic Poles that the Kingdom of Poland one day will be reestablished.

Paderewski has invented a musical instrument called the tomtrone, in order to produce certain necessary sounds in the music of his opera.

WEE GRUB IS CAUSE OF JUMPING BEANS
Berkeley, Cal.—Professor C. W. Woodworth, university entomologist, has solved the mystery of the jumping bean of Placer county by the discovery of a tiny worm inside whose efforts to escape cause the bean to hop in a peculiar manner.

The university scientist was recently asked for an explanation of the phenomenon, which for the last 50 years had been a conundrum to the residents of the foothills west of Roseville.

The beans, which resemble mustard seeds in size and color, hopped in an active manner, sometimes several inches in the air, and the mountaineers were baffled.

Woodworth found that a small worm, the offspring of a wasp, occupied the ball and was making efforts to escape.

The beans were formed by wasps stinging the oak leaves as a nesting place for their young. When the eggs developed they formed worms, which by their gymnastics caused the ball to fall from the trees and continue their odd jumps.

Many a rich man labors under the delusion that he can right himself by writing a check.

First Formal Party.
Invitations are now being circulated for the first formal dancing party of the season to take place in the Eagles-Woodmen hall Friday night. Several young men of the city have taken the initiative in arranging the affair but an organization will soon be perfected, the purpose of which will be to conduct a series of such dances throughout the winter.

Secures College Honor.
James Johns, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Johns of this city, who is now in his junior year at the University of Oregon, has been elected to the position of assistant manager of football for the present season. This position is no great honor in itself, but as it is the stepping stone to the management of the next year, it is one quite generally coveted by ambitious students.

Would Collect Life Insurance.
A suit to collect $1,000 alleged to be due as life insurance was filed today in the circuit court by Joseph Parazo and Louis Van Orsdall as administratrix of the estate of Josephine Woodall, deceased, against the Woodmen of Woodcraft. It is alleged that Miss Woodall was a member of Daphne circle No. 3, Women of Woodcraft and that when she died she was in good standing.
