PORTLAND WOULD WELCOME RECOUNT

BELIEVED CENSUS FIGURES WOULD BE EXCEEDED

Supervisor Beach Declares There are 15,000 More People in Metropolis Than When Count Was Taken—Errors Believed to be Unintentional.

Portland, Ore.—Portland had nothing to fear from a census recount, declares S. C. Beach, supervisor of the census, who directed the taking of the enumeration in this city. He says he will welcome a recount for the total will now show at least 15,000 more people than his count included.

But there will be no recount of Portland's people, according to the best information obtainable. The census authorities are satisfied, it is learned, that the few errors that crept into the count were unintentional and are more in the nature of commonplace errors to be eliminated rather than deliberate falsification.

In a few instances, it is true, it is noted that enumerators appear to have been over-zealous, but in these scattered cases it is thought the desire of the enumerator was to add as many names as possible to his string in order to increase his earnings. Certainly those who did this acted on their own initiative and in spite of repeated cautions by the supervisor.

"The Portland count was correct and was an honest one," said Supervisor Beach. "The yellow label campaign poured thousands of names into our offices but every one of them was checked-up and not a name was placed on the census roll that had not been verified."

"I would welcome a recount of the entire city for I am certain that Portland now has over 15,000 more people than were found by my enumerators and turned in on the census rolls April 15. With a five per cent reduction or 223,000, Portland will still have approximately 212,000 people, according to the first count. If that count could be made today it would show a much greater total."

It is in time of sudden mishap or accident that Chamberlain's Liniment can be relied upon to take the place of the family doctor, who cannot always be found at the moment. This is that Chamberlain's Liniment is never found wanting. In cases of sprains, cuts, wounds and bruises Chamberlain's Liniment takes out the soreness and drives away the pain. Sold by all dealers.

BAKER GIVES WOOLGROWERS' CONVENTION TO PORTLAND

Baker has waived claims for the 1911 convention of the state wool growers' association in favor of Portland, in order that the national convention can be made more of a success by holding the next season's meeting in the larger city, says a Baker exchange. The Baker Commercial club has received a letter from D. O. Lively, chairman of the arrangements committee, in which is placed a copy of the committee's resolution thanking Baker for the stand taken in the matter and assuring the convention for this city in 1912.

The resolution is as follows: "Resolved, that an expression of appreciation be transmitted to the Baker Commercial club in acknowledgment of Baker's generosity in waiving her claims to the annual convention of the Oregon State Wool Growers' association for 1911, in favor of Portland, that the national convention might thereby be made a greater success." Mr. Lively further adds, "Innumerable kindly comments were made on your action in this regard."

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

Lumber Crushes Workman.

Astoria, Ore.—Alex H. Johnson was killed at the Hammond lumber mill on Monday night, when a platform carrying 2000 feet of lumber gave way and fell on him. He died soon after. Johnson was 23 years old, and came from Sweden.

Aged Woman Injured.

Eugene, Ore.—Mrs. Arminda Kay of Monroe, mother of Hugh Kay, a prominent merchant of Eugene, was seriously injured here Tuesday noon when she attempted to alight from a rapidly moving streetcar. The attending physician thinks she is suffering from concussion of the brain, as she was rendered unconscious by the fall.

Hogs Bring Big Money.

Goldendale, Wash.—Hogs are a valuable asset in this section, and Klickitat county takes second place in this state in their production. W. E. Hornbrook a few days ago shipped 22 fat hogs to Portland and netted $32 each. Chas. Swan sent 20 head, bringing $25 each, and Robert McGraw recently shipped a carload of hogs averaging 270 pounds in weight.

Draws Fine and Jail Term.

Roseburg, Ore.—A fine of $490 and costs and 30 days' imprisonment in the county jail was the sentence meted out by Judge Coke in the circuit court here Tuesday to Max Weiss, operator of a local cold storage plant, who was convicted by a jury last week of violating the local option law by selling real beer. Weiss' attorneys will carry the case to the Supreme Court. Three more charges are hanging over Weiss in connection with this cold storage business.

No Football at Kalama.

Kalama, Wash.—At a meeting of the high school athletic board Tuesday night it was decided to abandon football this season. The new $2900 addition to the high school was first occupied today with a 40 per cent increase of pupils. Theatory has been greatly augmented, a well equipped laboratory has been added, which together with the advanced course of instruction, now places the Kalama high school on the accredited list.

Auto Thieves Sentenced.

Roseburg, Ore.—Convicted jointly on a charge of larceny, Chick Wright of Roseburg and Ralph Casey of Walla Walla were Monday sentenced to serve five years in the state penitentiary by Judge Coke in the state circuit court. Neither thief made a statement when arraigned for sentence.

The crime for which Casey and Wright must pay the penalty was committed July 23, when they stole an automobile belonging to the Harding Land company. The men were traced across the country and arrested later at Marshfield.

Fruitmen Pool Apples.

Walla Walla, Wash.—Fifteen cars of fancy apples have been pooled by Seth Ferrel and Fred Rohm, Mill Creek orchardists, who are asking $1.75 a box for the fruit. The apples are of the Spitzenberg variety and are practically perfect. Between 300 and 10,000 boxes of apples are held in the pool.

Many offers have been made for the apples, including one from an English firm, and several of them are said to be close to the mark at which they are held. If sold at the price asked by the farmers, the fruit will make a cash return of about $12.50 a tree. Each of the farmers named has about 500 trees of Spitzenbergs.

Divorces Made Harder.

Tacoma, Wash.—Announcement was made by the superior court judges today that after November 1, no more default divorces will be granted on hearing only one side of the case. Under the new order of things, the plaintiff must leave with the county clerk a copy of the summons and complaint, and, after 26 days, if no appearance is made, the prosecuting attorney must be notified and he has 20 more days to investigate and be prepared to appear in court and testify when the case is called.

It is also ordered by the judges that decrees of divorce must be filed at once to become effective, thus doing away with the practice of some attorneys to hold their decrees in order to collect fees. Last year there were 186 default cases in Pierce county.

MIGRATORY BIRDS SHOULD BE EXTENDED PROTECTION

Portland, Ore.—Federal protection for migratory birds during their flights must be had if these feathered creatures are not to be exterminated, says William L. Finley, of Portland, a widely known ornithologist. Mr. Finley is a bird authority whose researches have been prosecuted from the Atlantic to the Pacific, as well as abroad. He is a lecturer for the National Association of Audubon societies of New York City.

He favors the establishment of government or state reservations that shall be retreats for wild birds. These areas, he suggests, may be established on private estates where the owners are willing and placed in charge of good game-keepers who shall prohibit all shooting. Song and game birds, he believes, will thus become abundant in these refuges and will spread out and populate the surrounding country.

Mr. Finley has just returned from California, where he visited the state game farm at Haywards. There he found the state has gone into the business of raising pheasants, which are furnished to farmers and others for propagation, the young being liberated in favorable places throughout the state.

"Pheasant farming offers splendid profit paying opportunities right here in Oregon," says Mr. Finley. "For the climate is well adapted for this business. Pheasants are hardy birds and can be raised about as easily as chickens, while there is much profit in them. Since the numbers of our wild pheasants are being depleted, the state will eventually have to close the season on these birds entirely, or else secure new birds for restocking the fields and woods. If farmers in different parts of the state would raise pheasants, a part of the game fund could well be spent in buying and releasing these birds."

SURVIVE ARCTIC WINTER ON RAW SEAL MEAT

Dundee.—A thrilling account of Arctic adventure was given by two of the crew of the Dutch whaler Janita Agatha, who were brought to Dundee by the Dundee schooner Thomas.

The Janita Agatha sailed from Dundee 13 months ago, and nothing further being heard of her, the Thomas was fitted out and dispatched in search of her. The crew of the Thomas found the two men living with the Eskimos.

It appears that the Janita Agatha was caught in a severe gale and driven against an iceberg. Attempts to save the schooner proved fruitless, and eventually the crew had to take to an open boat.

For days they drifted about, buffeted by blizzards and in constant danger of being sung by icebergs. Eventually they reached Cumberland gulf, but found their provisions far from ended, as they had to live through an unusually trying Arctic winter with the natives. Native fare, mainly raw seal meat, was their only means of subsistence, and even that was giving out when they were found by the Dundee whalers.

The remainder of the crew are coming home on the Dundee whaler Scotia.

Notice to Voters. I wish to most emphatically contradict the statement which is being circulated about me to the effect that I intend, if elected to be office of county sheriff, to immediately resign this office to take up other work. There is no truth in the statement and has no foundation whatever.

YOUNG MOTHERS

The greatest crisis in a woman's life is when first she becomes a mother. All the physical strength of her nature is demanded at such times, and it is necessary that her system be thoroughly prepared for the event, in order that her health be preserved for future years. Mother's Friend is woman's safest reliance; it is a medicine for external use, composed of oils and other ingredients which assist nature in all necessary physical changes of the system. Its regular use before the coming of baby prepares the muscles and tendons for the unusual strain, aids in expanding the skin and flesh fibres, and strengthens all the membranes and tissues. Mother's Friend lessens the pain and danger at the crisis, and leaves the mother in such healthful condition that her recovery is always rapid and natural. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores.
