A CREED.

Let me not set my foot on easy ways,
 Let me not know the dull content which slays
 Ambition's soul, but in life's ruck and roar
 Let me stand forth to battle all my days!

It matters not whatever the ending be,
 Defeat or yet exultant victory;
 I shall have known the surging joy of strife,
 Which in itself is end enough for me!

There is no true reward but this: To fight
 With stubborn will to wrest from Chance's might
 The hot, high consciousness of having tried—
 No easy triumph matches that delight!

Therefore I measure living thus: That when
 I sink reluctant into darkness, then
 I ask no better paradise than this—
 To be put back into my life again!

To face undaunted life's grim strife anew,
 To strike and struggle—yet! to even do
 My part for that large Purpose all unknown,
 But which, resistless, has its progress, too!

—Charles C. Jones.

GOOD ROADS AMENDMENT.

"An amendment of section 19 of article 11 of the constitution of the state of Oregon permitting counties to incur indebtedness beyond $5000 to build permanent roads, and providing that debts for permanent roads may be incurred on approval of a majority of those voting on the question."

This is the title of the proposed good roads amendment to the constitution upon which the people of the state must vote on November 8. The amendment was submitted by the Oregon good roads association of which organization Dr. Andrew C. Smith of Portland, is president and Judge L. R. Webster is executive committee chairman. It is one of the most important measures up for consideration and in the view of the East Oregonian the amendment should carry.

Briefly stated the great thing about this amendment is that if adopted it will give counties the power to issue bonds for permanent road building. It will not be necessary to pay for the construction of roads out of current funds. The future generations, which will share in the benefits of such roads, will also share in the expense of building them. It is logical they should do so. Furthermore when bonds may be sold for roadbuilding then work may be carried out upon a scale that is now impossible.

As may be seen by the title the proposed amendment safeguards bond issues in that it requires that the people must vote for a bond issue before it can be made. The county court does not have the power to order a bond issue for this purpose. Nor will it follow, if the amendment is adopted, that it will be made use of everywhere. There may be counties that will oppose the issuance of bonds for road purposes. They will have that privilege. On the other hand counties that want to establish permanent road systems may take advantage of the law and sell bonds. The question that is to be voted upon in November is not as to whether or not a county shall sell bonds for road purposes but as to whether or not a county shall have the right to do so if the people so desire.

A TIRELESS, LOYAL WORKER.

In speaking of the senatorial election yesterday a prominent business man of this city said: "We cannot afford to allow Dr. Smith to be defeated. He has done more for Pendleton and Umatilla county than almost any other man that ever lived here. Local people will be acting poorly if they do not support him almost to a man for re-election."

This man was not talking from a political standpoint. He takes but little interest in politics as such. He was speaking from the standpoint of one who is interested in the welfare of this town and of Umatilla county. He is supporting Senator Smith because of the good service he knows the doctor has rendered this community in the past and because he wants nothing to occur that might interfere with such service in the future.

Surely this is a phase of the senatorial contest that is well worth considering. No one can deny that for many years Dr. C. J. Smith has been a very valuable citizen of Pendleton and of Umatilla county. He is one of the few big men of this county who can always be relied upon when there is something to be done for the public welfare. Though one of the busiest men in the county he is never too busy to lend a hand towards furthering any good public cause. Nor does he merely give nominal support as so many do. Dr. Smith is a man who will devote time and money to a cause when other men who should be doing as much as he sit back and offer kind words instead of deeds. Dr. Smith is always ready to work or to fight for the advancement of Pendleton and of other parts of this county. He has done so many, many times.

It is because the East Oregonian knows this and appreciates Dr. Smith's efforts in behalf of this community and county that this paper is supporting him so earnestly in this campaign. Aside from endorsing Dr. Smith as a progressive in politics—as one who stands and has always stood openly and squarely for statement No. 1 and the direct primary law—the East Oregonian also feels an obligation of gratitude to Senator Smith for the good and loyal work he has done for Pendleton and Umatilla county during many years.

He deserves re-election for the good service he has rendered the public, if for no other reasons.

ELECT BOTH THESE MEN.

If the people of this county want to bring on a "new deal" in the administration of county affairs then they should vote for J. B. Saylor for commissioner as well as for J. W. Maloney for county judge. Messrs Maloney and Saylor are running mates in this campaign. They are personal friends and are of much the same type. They are both clean-cut, capable business men. They are both running for office for the same reason—because many friends urged them to do so, having the idea that they are the sort of men who should be placed in charge of the county's business. If they are both elected they will work together and will give this county a proper administration.

On the other hand should Mr. Saylor's opponent, Mr. Cockburn be chosen along with Mr. Maloney, the new judge might find himself handicapped in carrying out his plans for the betterment of conditions. Mr. Cockburn is not in sympathy with Mr. Maloney, either personally or politically. If elected as commissioner he would doubtless line up with Commissioner Walker, the holdover member, and Mr. Maloney would not be able to accomplish the good work that would be possible should he have a colleague like Mr. Saylor.

If you favor a new deal in the county court then vote for J. W. Maloney for county judge and for J. B. Saylor for commissioner.

In the primary campaign C. A. Barrett was maligned in every possible way by those in the assembly machine. Because Mr. Barrett had taken statement No. 1 and had refused to "line up" with the bunch they could find nothing too mean to say about him. In a political way they spit in his face and abused him shamefully. Now their own senatorial candidate is trailing after Mr. Barrett into the statement No. 1 corral. At least his press agent so asserts. What a spectacle!

The assembly candidates are certainly showing themselves to be expert on the "flip-flop."

Principle should always stand above partisanship.

A FEMINE FIELD.

In New York a new profession for women is being established. It is domestic architecture and as the name would indicate the work has to do with the designing of the interior of homes. The argument that women should take up this line of work is based on the idea that no man can hope to know just how a kitchen or a closet should be built. He cannot be expected to know how deep shelves should be nor how large a clothes closet should be made. Nor can he tell how to arrange the interior of a home so as to make it pleasing to the queen of the domicile.

Surely domestic architecture is a field where the feminine mind should be of value and it is safe to predict that the women who take up this calling will be able to offer some pointers to masculine house builders.

Republicans who opposed assemblyism in the primary campaign should oppose it now. The fight that was on then is on now.

DRESDEN'S CHINA MANUFACTURER
 (London Globe.)

During the past week a noteworthy anniversary has been celebrated, but informally. It was the bicentenary of the foundation of the Royal Porcelain Works of Saxony at Meissen, which, by the way is near Dresden. By the order of Augustus II of Saxony, the works of Boetiger were transferred to Albrechtburg from Meissen in 1710. Augustus was a man of action, and the potter was a reticent person. The potter held his secret, and Augustus held the potter a prisoner for four years to guard the process. In 1719 the potter died at the early age of 35. The secret was rigorously kept, according to Les Nouvelles, until 1810, when Brongnart, the chemist, was admitted as a special favor to Napoleon I to study the fabrication. Napoleon having expressed the wish, it was difficult to treat it other than as a command.

The material used for the fabrication of Dresden china are rose feldspath from Carlshad, argillite coalin from Auc, near Schnerberg, sellitz coalin and sosa coalin obtained near Johannegeorgen-Stadt. The mixing includes carbonate of lime and silica, pit coal being used for firing. In the Saxon process of decoration, a method of which they possess the secret is employed, and the same may be said of the gold-laying. In 1863 the factory ceased to be at the castle of Albrechtburg, which then became a royal residence. The present works are not far away.

Lady (to her gardener)—John, wonder you don't get married. You've got a fine house and a good wage. All you need is a wife. You know the first gardener that ever lived had a wife?
 John—Yes'm; but you know he didn't keep his job long after he got her.

"The man I marry must have common sense," said the haughty one.
 "He won't," the other answered bitterly.

RHEUMATISM
PURIFYING THE BLOOD
THE ONLY PERMANENT CURE

No case of Rheumatism was ever cured except by a thorough purification of the blood; just as long as the blood remains charged with fermenting uric acid poison, the painful disease will continue. The pains and aches of Rheumatism are simply superficial effects of the impurities in the circulation, and sometimes may be temporarily relieved by the application of plasters, liniments, hot cloths, etc. But the person who trifles with this dangerous disease by depending on local treatment alone, is certain to pay for the mistake with constant suffering later on. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism in the only way it is possible to cure the disease. It goes down into the blood, and removes the uric acid from the circulation, so that the nerves, bones, muscles and joints are lubricated and fed with nourishing elements instead of being continually irritated and inflamed with the sharp, uratic impurity. When S. S. S. has cleansed and purified the blood, the pains and aches cease, all inflammation disappears, stiffened muscles are made pliant, and every troublesome symptom of Rheumatism is permanently corrected. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.
