COMIC OPERA "PINAFORE."

Ladies' Civic Improvement Club Back of Home Talent Show.

Mrs. Jas. A. Fee, president of the Civic Improvement club, and Mrs. E. T. Wade, chairman of the committee on arrangements, are interesting the singers in the preparation of the comic opera "Pinafore," to be given in the Oregon theater next Thursday and Friday evenings, November 3 and 4, as a benefit for the Civic club. The many good works of this club in the past, such as the support of the public library, the rest room, etc., is sufficient guarantee to the public that the funds derived from this benefit will be placed to the best advantage for public purposes.

The forty singers engaged in preparing the opera are very enthusiastic over the results of the rehearsal and no pains will be spared to make this the best local production ever given in Pendleton and all who attend the performance next week will not only feel that they have received more than their money's worth in mirth and music, but that they have also contributed to a good cause. The special object for which the proceeds will go have not been announced, but it is the desire of the Civic club to have some money in the treasury so that when they are called upon to assist in any public movement they may be in a position to materially respond at once.

SON OF SCOTLAND LIKED PENDLETON

Mr. Alex McLean Wilkie who has been the guest of his aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. John Vert has left for Portland where he will enter the office of the Oregon Mortgage company. Mr. Wilkie expressed himself as being very much pleased with Pendleton. He was surprised at the push, energy and progressiveness of our city. In comparing it with his native town of Thurma, Scotland, the population of which is about like Pendleton, and where his father owns linen mills, he remarked: "They can't hold the candle to Pendleton and could I induce my father or brother to visit the west, I feel sure they would return and revolutionize the place, especially would those large mills be overhauled. A visit to Pendleton's mills with up-to-date machinery would open their eyes. In Scotland I must confess we are apt to get into a rut, and think what suited our fathers and forefathers is good enough for us. I admire the American with his progressive spirit and as soon as the law will allow I intend becoming an American citizen." Mr. Vert accompanied Mr. Wilkie to Portland and will see him settled there.

They have both been arraigned and are now out on bail.

WOMEN PRETENDER TO THRONE OF PORTUGAL

London—Incidental mention was made during the progress of the Portuguese revolution to the possible recedence of the claims of the pretender to the throne of Portugal, and to the bearing this might have on the fortunes of his daughter-in-law, who was Miss Anita Stewart, but the true story has not been told.

It constitutes the only whimsical feature of the overthrow of King Manuel's rickety throne, save perhaps that other of the revolutionary leaders setting off the dethroned monarch and family on the royal yacht and then taking back the vessel on the grounds that it was republican property, and was only lent to the king for the purpose of getting rid of him.

It was while this instance of Castilian gift-making was going on that Don Miguel struggled to the lime-light. He made a stupendous fuss in London and Lenna for a day or two, and it all resulted in calling on the Brazans for a family council on the Austrian frontier.

In this particular case, it was decided that in view of the pretender's renunciation of rights, Anita Stewart's husband could easily be put on the vacant throne of Portugal if a million dollars were placed in the hands of the Braganza family as stewards of war. The entire family voted with unswerving loyalty and determination that the princess' mother, Mrs. James Henry Smith, would surely under the circumstances give this million dollars and promptly telegraphed her of her golden opportunity.

AT THE MOVING PICTURE SHOWS

The Orpheum.

Good program for Sunday's change.
1. Two Waifs and a Stray, Vitograph, 1000 ft. long. Somehow this picture takes a hold on our feelings and we must acknowledge the human side of our nature gets the best of us where children are concerned. It shows that our hearts are in the right place and such pictures as this keeps them there.
2. Patricia of the Plains. Essayy, 1000 ft. long. Patricia is the typical Western girl of the Golden Days of '49. She falls in love with a bandit who has planned to rob her but casts him off when she learns the truth. Later, when he begs her for protection from the sheriff, she takes him back and saves his life.
3 and 4. "Bertie's Elopement" and "Big Medicine." Selig. Two exhilarating comedies with a smile in every foot.
