KING'S SECOND SON IS COXSWAIN FOR CREW

London.—Prince Albert, the King's second son, was a competitor in the cadet's regatta at Cowes, when he acted as coxswain in a gig race for Commander Champlain's cup.

The young prince was one of the most eager of the competitors. Dressed in white flannels, sweater, brown sand shoes and short naval coat and cap, he could scarcely contain himself when the time came for the first race. He threw off his coat and cap and joined the crew consisting of four other cadets, in a smart looking gig. The prince took the tiller and made a very smart little coxswain.

There were three other gigs in this race, which was a very exciting one and, despite the presence of the royal coxswain, who steered a good course, the prince's crew failed to win the coveted prize and were last to finish in a close race.

Going ashore, the prince joined the other boys and promptly proceeded to cheer himself hoarse as the other races proceeded.

New Sheaf From Babel.

Calcutta.—Remarkable interesting documents from Central Asia have been acquired by the Asiatic Society of Bengal. They consist of five leaves of brownish-yellow paper measuring 8 inches by 2 3/4 inches.

The true significance of these five leaves, the genuineness of which cannot be doubted, is that scholars are here confronted with a number of consecutive passages in a language to which no clue has yet been found, and of which hitherto only fragments have been rescued from the sands of Central Asia.

It is quite possible that by means of these five leaves, an important literary language, of whose existence the world has had no suspicion, may be rescued from oblivion.

$50,000,000 For Two Forts.

St. Petersburg.—The imperial defense committee has decided to authorize the immediate construction of two forts in the Gulf of Finland—one in the sea near Reval and the other on an island of the Finnish archipelago.

The fortress near Reval will contain 170 guns, twenty of which will be 12-inch guns mounted in turrets. The total cost of the forts is $50,000,000, and they will be finished in three years.

The construction of these defenses will protect St. Petersburg from attack and make the Gulf of Finland impassable in the event of war.

Funeral Mutes Complain.

Paris.—For some months past there has been discontent among the funeral mutes of Paris—discontent with their pay and discontent with their uniform. An illustrated paper, the Illustrated Hearse, printed in black and white, is published weekly under the auspices of the fraternity, and every now and then the paper contains an interesting piece of information.

This week an article discloses the enormous profits which the town of Paris makes out of coffins. The cheapest coffin supplied to the poor of Paris costs $10.75. On this the town makes $8 clear profit. And everything is in proportion, so that on a second-class funeral (a first class funeral is very rare in Paris) the profits made by the town run into well over three figures.
