WORK UNDER WAY ON NEW LIGHT PLANT

(Special Correspondence.)

Herriston, Ore., Nov. 7.—B. A. Chisolm, head of the electric lighting enterprise, states work is now fairly under way. He and two other men are now busy on the river. The wheel pit has been finished and no matter how low the water may go they will get the benefit of whatever there is. On the other hand precautions have been taken to protect it against high water unless it be an unusual flood.

In a few days the contract will be let for the canal leading to the wheel pit. From now on until the plant is ready to furnish juice to the city there will not be an idle moment. Should the weather for a time prevent work the men will be kept busy getting poles ready. If there is no great delay and there is no reason for any. Mr. Chisolm says his plant will be in operation early in the spring. Yesterday's local brought in the first shipment of machinery.

Thursday evening Ernest J. Slas gave the first of a series of five entertainments under the auspices of the high school lecture course. His subject was the "Lost Chord." It was pronounced by all present a treat.

The next number of the course will be on Wednesday evening, Nov. 20, at which time Miss Bess Gerhardt Morrison will give a reading.

GERMAN CHANCELLOR'S COUSIN FIGHTS DUEL

Berlin.—It has become known that Herr Joachim von Bethmann-Hollweg of Runowo, cousin of the chancellor, fought a duel in the Grunewald forest, outside of Berlin, a few days ago, with the owner of a neighboring estate, Count Heinrich von der Goltz. The grounds for the combat are not stated, but they must have been of an unusually grave nature, as the conditions approved by the court of honor were an exchange of shots till one of the party was incapacitated.

A curious incident brought the duel, nevertheless, to a bloodless conclusion. At the second shot a bullet from Herr Bethmann-Hollweg's pistol ricocheted off a tree and struck his adversary in the abdomen. Count von der Goltz, who is 55 years old, though not wounded, was so severely shaken by the impact that the seconds decided that he was incapacitated under the conditions agreed upon.

STATE OWNERSHIP FOR ENGLISH ROADS

London.—There are signs here which point to a coming nationalization of English railroads. The army of railroad employes want it with all their hearts and the actions of the railroad companies themselves are hastening its coming.

Following the example of the American roads, the railroads of England have formed combines and signed working agreements, and even in a country as conservative as England, it is generally admitted that this grouping of the roads will eventually give them such monopoly and power that the suffering public will demand that the state must own them, as it now owns the telegraph and telephone service.

At the recent congress of British railroad employes a resolution was almost unanimously carried that they must encourage the coming of state ownership by every means within their power, and also that they must see to it that they are adequately represented in the house of commons when the change comes. Not one member expressed a doubt that come it must.

RUSSIAN INTERIOR HOTBED OF CRIME

St. Petersburg.—Considerable attention has been drawn to a rather alarming account of the condition of rural districts of the Russian interior, which has just been published by M. Yermoloff, ex-minister of agriculture, after a personal investigation in the provinces. From this it would appear that the state of peasant affairs is worse in some respects than ever before.

Not only has incendiarism all over the country not diminished, but is now being perpetrated from quite new motives, the result being at least two new forms of agrarian crime. The peasants no longer set fire to the landlord's property, but burn down their own and that of their fellow-villagers.

For instance, emigrants to Siberia destroyed their insured homes in this way as the easiest and most advantageous method of liquidation before starting, and worse than this, members of the village communes burn out those of their fellow members who separate themselves from it, under the new law, to become proprietors of small holdings. Many of these new peasant farmers told M. Yermoloff that they live in terror of this kind of vengeance from the members of the commune.

HOW TO CURE COLDS AND GRIPPE IN A FEW HOURS

You will distinctly feel your cold breaking and all the gripple symptoms leaving after taking the very first dose.

It is a positive fact that Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours, until three consecutive doses are taken, will end the gripple and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

It promptly relieves the most miserable neuralgia pains, headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

MRS. WEST ATTEMPTS TO SELL NEW PLAY

London.—Frederick Townsend Martin has been commissioned by Mrs. George Cornwallis West as envoy plenipotentiary to sell her play in New York and he will sail on this voyage of hope early in November.

It is an open secret that Mrs. West's son, Winston Churchill, the home secretary, has given his mother a good deal of advice as to the construction of the play. Should the play be accepted Mrs. West will go to New York and remain there, for the first time in many years, for the whole winter. Her young husband, who manages to get a good deal of enjoyment out of life, will accompany her.

WILL R. KING
Judge of the Supreme Court,
CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION, SIX YEAR TERM,
WHOSE PLACE IS SOUGHT BY GEO. H. BURNETT, ASSEMBLY NOMINEE.

Eastern Oregon has a great friend on the Supreme Bench in Justice Will R. King, who is a candidate for re-election and whose place George H. Burnett, nominee of the Republican Assembly, is trying to secure. Judge King is a candidate on the Non-Political Judiciary movement, together with Judges Slater, McBride and Moore. The Non-Political Judiciary movement was started by the Oregon Bar Association and has as its object the removal of the Supreme Court beyond the reach of political influences. The State Bar Association, in common with these four judges, took the stand that the Supreme Court would have nothing to do with politics and politics nothing to do with the Supreme Court. In addition, Judges King, Slater, Moore and McBride have the vast amount of work before the Supreme Court well in hand and the organization of the Supreme Court well perfected.

Judge King, whose cut appears above, has made an enviable record on the supreme bench. He was the author of the noted opinion in case of Hough vs. Porter, which is now used all over the West as authority on irrigation law and is used as a textbook in some Eastern law schools. Three months work required in examining the law and evidence in writing this one opinion. Other notable opinions by Judge King, which have commanded the admiration of the people and the bar alike, are Straw vs. Harris (54 Ore., 424), upholding and clarifying the initiative and referendum system of law making and Hough vs. Porter (51 Or., 318) which has become a leading case on irrigation law. He has turned out many other heavy decisions, yet the total number of opinions he has rendered is as great as that of any Supreme Judge in many years, the false reports of the Oregonian notwithstanding.

Judge King has the support of practically all Oregon lawyers, who have manifested great approval of the thoroughness of his research work in the Supreme Court. He was nominated not only by the Non-Political Judiciary convention but also by the Democrats. In addition thousands of republicans wrote in his name on the primary ballot.
