OREGON IMPORTS TOO MANY EGGS

OVER 100 CARS SHIPPED INTO STATE ANNUALLY

O. A. C. Experiment Station Experts Declare That Hen Fruit Should Be Produced Here—Would Promote Poultry Industry.

Portland, Ore.—Oregon is importing more than 100 carloads of eggs each year, according to the Experiment station of Oregon Agricultural college.

Conditions here for poultry growing are ideal. By experiment and practical demonstration it has been shown that the hen thrives throughout this state and shows a handsome profit to her keeper when handled properly.

Prizes are offered for the best flocks and the best progress made during the year. Indeed the premiums are well worth striving for, the first prize being $100 and the second $50.

SPOKANE DEALERS DON'T WANT TRADING STAMPS

Spokane, Wash.—Prominent retail dealers in all lines in Spokane have united to wage a fight against the introduction of trading stamps which representatives of New York and Chicago houses are attempting to place with small stores.

Life's Blessings

Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much of the discomfort and suffering so common with expectant mothers. It is a penetrating oil that thoroughly lubricates every muscle, nerve and tendon involved at such times, and thus promotes physical comfort.

said that no store can stand this added expense, hence the consumer must pay the cost. Persistent efforts were made to introduce eastern trading stamps in Spokane seven years ago, but the campaign failed.

MAY HAVE TARIFF WAR WITH GERMANY

GERMAN TAX ON POTASH EXPORTS STARTS TROUBLE

State Department Receives Urgent Appeals from Farmers to Intervene for Protection of American Consumers.

Washington.—A tariff war is threatened between this country and Germany as a result of a tax imposed by the German government upon exports of potash which works to invalidate contracts involving about $27,000,000 entered into between American firms and German miners.

The state department has received urgent appeals from agricultural societies; every breed of politician; the fertilizer manufacturers and interested mercantile firms, to intervene for the protection of American consumers.

The farmer has taken quick notice of this state of affairs with the result that every diplomatic pressure is being brought to bear by the state department to effect an amicable settlement of the difficulty.

The export tax upon potash which was passed by the German Reichstag on May 10 last increases the price of potash in this country about seventy per cent. This tax was imposed after American buyers, taking advantage of a peculiar situation in the German market had entered into contracts for vast quantities of potash at a very favorable price.

For several years the production and sale of potash in Germany was controlled by a syndicate which practically dictated the output and consequently, the price of potash. This syndicate expired in June, 1909.

Just exactly what the American buyers anticipated did happen. The German producers smothered their differences and the old syndicate was re-established. American manufacturers found themselves on top with long-time contracts to protect them.

Finally, in June, 1909, a bill was passed imposing the heavy export tax. The American manufacturers had already made contracts for the sale of their products at prices based upon the figures of their German contracts.
