

TWO U'REN MEASURES GAINING IN COUNT

PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY AND JUDICIARY BILLS FAVORED

Complete Vote Not In—Belated Returns Cast Doubt on Fate of Labor Tax Amendment—Home Rule Majority Is More Than 3000.

Election returns from missing counties and precincts yesterday practically settled the fate of the presidential primary bill and the constitutional amendment changing the jury system in civil cases and reforming procedure on appeals, but served to cast doubt on the fate of the taxation amendment proposed by the labor organizations and intended to give counties control of their own taxation methods.

Nineteen precincts in Multnomah county not given in the totals of the preceding day added materially to the favorable affirmative majority on the presidential primary bill and returns from other counties did not cut down this lead materially. The vote on the bill as now reported stands: Yes 37,153, no 35,825, or a majority for the bill of 1328 in a total of 72,978. It is probable that these figures include all but about 8000 to 10,000 votes.

Jury Amendment May Win. The affirmative majority for the jury amendment now stands at 2896 in a total of 68,564 votes counted. About 10,000 to 12,000 votes will be added to the total, but it is not likely that they will affect the general result. The bill apparently has been approved, and it is also indicated that the presidential primary bill is out of the woods.

The labor tax amendment has a majority of 730 recorded against it in a total of 74,508 votes counted. In the returns included the vote in Baker county is very incomplete, representing about one eighth of the total probably cast in that county. The first returns from Baker county give the bill a majority there of 255 and if the remainder of the vote is on the same ratio there will be enough there to overcome the lead on the negative side of the bill. The first reports, however, were city precincts where the bill likely received more favorable consideration than in the county.

Prohibition Is Downed. The majority against prohibition now stands at more than 16,500 in a total count of 95,523. In this total are represented 39,444 affirmative and 56,079 negative votes and the total is probably within a few thousand of the total cast in the state on the amendment. It includes the complete figures in all others except Baker, Columbia, Curry, Harney, Klamath, Lake and Lincoln.

From all of the counties named, except Baker, no reports at all have been received on the prohibition amendment. The recent storm destroyed telegraph and telephone communication throughout Curry and Lincoln counties and the election figures await the arrival of the election board reports at the county seats. It is probable that more than 100,000 voters expressed themselves on the prohibition question in Oregon. In view of the unexpected disapproval of prohibition by the rural districts an estimate of 18,000 majority against the amendment is believed reasonable.

Returns on the home rule bill are wholly lacking only from Curry, Harney, Lake and Lincoln counties and out of a total of 95,919 reported there are 49,409 affirmative votes and 46,510 negative votes, giving the amendment a favorable majority of 2799. The majority will be increased to more than 3000 in all probability.

School Totals Same. The belated returns yesterday did not change the general situation in respect to the normal school bills. The majority against the Ashland school was cut down to 7539 by the complete figures on Jackson county, in which the school is situated. Jackson gave a six-to-one vote in favor of the bill. The vote now stands: Yes 33,816, no 41,355, making a total reported of 75,171.

The majority against the Weston school on the incompleteness count was also cut down by the Jackson county vote for Jackson county approved all normal school bills. The vote on the Weston bill now stands: Yes 34,073; no 39,340, giving a negative majority of 5267 in a total of 73,413.

The majority in favor of the Monmouth bill stands at 9037 on the incomplete returns, there being 42,794 in favor of the bill and 33,757 against it, or a total reported of 76,551—Sunday Oregonian.

JUNCTION MAN MAKES DIVERSIFIED FARMING PAY

Portland, Or.—A. C. Nelson, of Junction City, is one who has made diversified farming pay. Coming to Oregon in 1902 from Wisconsin, seeking a mild climate and a fruit country, Mr. Nelson purchased 30 acres of land near Junction City. In 1903 he built a modern home and planted 12 acres to apples, principally Lel-low Newtown Pippins with a few Baldwins and Spitzenbergs. This year he marketed one carload of choice fruit.

Mr. Nelson has sent several boxes of his apples to the Albany apple show that will later be exhibited at Portland in competition with prize fruit from other sections of the state. His orchard is well cared for and the fruit was so heavy this year that it had to be thinned twice.

Besides making the fruit growing business a success, the owner of this model place is keeping 200 hens and six fine Jersey dairy cows.

DRYS DECLARE WETS WON BY SUBTERFUGE

SAY GUMSHOE CAMPAIGN DEFEATED PROHIBITION

Anti-Saloon Advocates Say "Wets" Got Votes "Buttonholing" While Rum Foes Devoted Time to Speakers for Other Side.

"I can't understand it; I can't understand it," declared J. R. Knodell, superintendent of the Oregon Anti-Saloon League, yesterday, when asked for an explanation as to why the state went "wet" and for an analysis of the vote, says the Sunday Oregonian.

"We have been whipped hard and there is no denying it," he said. "I have several opinions, but one opinion might be as good as another. I do not believe the vote reflects against prohibition or our cause—we were outgeneraled, and that is all there is to it. The big speakers sent here by the liquor interest were not sent for the purpose of making votes. They were sent here to distract attention while the 'gumshoe' men did the work.

"We preachers have been confident that no one dared speak in public in behalf of the saloon, that there was no argument to present in behalf of the saloon and there is none. We thought no one dared appear in public and defend the saloon. When the liquor interests sent their speakers here we were astounded. The prohibitionists stampeded to get on their trail, dropped all of the work and left the field open for the 'gumshoe' men. It was a 'button-hole' campaign, a system of talking to each man personally while we were after the speakers. It was a clever coup and we were caught in it. We were outgeneraled."

Officials are Blamed. J. P. Newell, chairman of the executive board of the state prohibition party, said:

"I will not acknowledge that the cause of prohibition has been defeated. The election illustrates one thing. We must elect proper officials first and then enact laws. We have prohibition laws in counties, but they were not enforced. It was not the fault of the law but the officers who were elected to enforce them. So the situation was this, we had the laws but no officers to enforce them.

"In communities where this condition obtained, the people did not like it on either side, and, rather than have it continued, voted against state-wide prohibition and for the home-rule bill. The next time we have prohibition laws adopted we shall have officers who will enforce the law first.

"The next time a prohibition election comes around the state will go 'dry,' for, by that time, the voters will be educated in the cause of prohibition. There may be sincere men in the Home-Rule association who will try really to reform the saloon. We, who have been through the mill and have tried it, know that it cannot be done, and at the next election, these men will be with us."

H. C. McAllister, general manager of the Greater Oregon Home-Rule association, said:

Prohibition Itself Blamed. "The failure of prohibition to prohibit the sale of liquor in 'dry' counties in Oregon turned the tide. The adoption of the home-rule is a victory of temperance over prohibition. Citizens of Oregon have seen both extremes tried and after a fair trial, decided that prohibition does not abolish the evil of the saloon and that regulation measures will accomplish the desired result. Another thing that hurt the prohibitionists in this election was the campaign of personal vilification and attacks on the character of good citizens who could not bring themselves around to look at the liquor question through prohibition spectacles. The public does not approve of a campaign of personal malignment, no matter what the issue or cause. But paramount to all, in my opinion, were the principles enunciated by the Greater Oregon Home-Rule association that led to success."

JACK JOHNSON NO PUGILISTIC BUBBLE

San Francisco.—They are still talking about the heavyweight fuss up in the sage brush country and from present appearances there will be nothing to supplant it as a pugilistic theme for some time to come.

With Jeffries engaged in piscatorial pursuits and preserving a silence that is as absolutely golden as Jack Johnson's world famous giggle, the champion is the man gossips have to do with.

It is interesting to note the range of the opinions expressed in regard to the Johnson fighting talent. Some of the best judges—or at any rate men who by experience in the ring and out of it should be the best equipped to judge such things—will have that Jack is an accident.

One past champion has said that Johnson don't know how to lead and that he wouldn't have as much chance as a bubble in a stoke hole if he had happened along during former championship disputes.

Vain talk this. In this connection the writer would say in reply to the question, "Would Johnson have beaten so and so, when so and so was at his best?" that there is no means of telling. It is very foolish to pursue any line of argument that can not be settled by a bat. If a person were required to hold the stakes until it could be determined whether the present Jack Johnson could have licked John L. Sullivan of 1885 he might in all safety regard the funds in hand as his own personal property. You can't bridge the years in that way. You can't compare fighters of different generations and arrive at a satisfactory conclusion and the best you can say for Johnson or any other champ is that he is the best of his era.

the races in the pugilistic line was not definitely determined at Reno. The result was only a temporary triumph for the negro. If a black horse wins the Futurity this year it does not indicate that black yearlings will be the safest investment of the next big sale. A bay or a gray may be the champion of three year old the following season.

As to Johnson's fighting. He may not be able to lead as some of the savants claim and he may not compare point to point with other world beaters that have strutted for a brief time as champions but he is a pugilistic wonder just the same. He is a natural fighter if there ever was one. Just think of all the professors of fisticuffs who were coaching Jeffries as to how to dodge the famous right uppercut. Yet the right scarcely figured in the result. It was a left uppercut that Johnson worried and weakened and wore Jeffries with.

HOTEL THIEVES IN PARIS.

American Tourists Among Those Suffering Losses.

Paris.—Hotel thieves continue their work. They have just carried away a large tit-bit from a hotel in the Rue de Rivoli viz. 960 pounds in bank notes. The thieves seem to belong to a rather better organized class than those who are usually called "rats" and who, as a rule, purloin purses and jewels from hotel bedrooms. It was the cashier's till they raided and the old telephone trick was brought into use successfully. Three strangers were loitering in the hall of the hotel and managed on various pretexts to get all the attendants out of the cashier's room except the cashier. A confederate then rang up the hotel on the telephone, and the cashier went to answer the call. When he went there was no other clerk in the room is not explained. The telephone box is a few steps from the cashier's room in the hotel in question.

The cashier, on leaving his room, double locked the door of the latter, but unwisely omitted to lock his safe. The telephone call proved to be, as he thought, a mistake; but this was no surprise to one used to our local telephonic and he went back to his office when a real surprise did await him. The contents of his till had disappeared. How the thieves got into his room is not known, as there were no marks of the door having been broken open. They made away successfully with their plunder, and have not been traced. The booty might have been larger a few minutes later, as the clerk arrived with some 2,000 pounds more in ready money.

A number of American tourists have been robbed by the thieves.

TRADE BOOM IN ENGLAND.

Tweed Mills Cannot Turn Out Product as Rapidly as Demanded.

London.—Greatly to the annoyance of politicians who in the recent campaign have tried to prove that free trade is ruining the country, England is experiencing a big trade boom.

The recent gigantic export returns showed how prosperous were some of the biggest of the English industries. There is a boom at Northampton, and recently news came of a great awakening in the Nottingham lace and hosiery trade, and in the Scotch woolen trade.

Indeed, Scotch tweed manufacturers have received so many orders for next season that they are being forced to reopen mills which have long been disused.

The leading tweed manufacturers have acquired additional mills, and all now in full operation—a state of affairs unknown in the border towns for many years are now combining to end piracy on the part of foreigners of their newest designs and colorings.

For many years trade in Nottingham and the adjacent district has been under a cloud, but the Daily Chronicle correspondent telegraphs that it is now showing a remarkable revival, especially in lace curtains and hosiery goods. Every available curtain-making machine he says, is working at high pressure, and the orders on hand are sufficient to keep factories fully employed for several months.
