LOCALS

NOME NOW DESERTED; HOUSES SELL FOR $50
Squirrel River Discovery Entices Miners Over 350-Mile Trail and Whole Zone is Staked.
 Nome, Alaska.—Nome would be a wonderful surprise, not only to the stranger, but to the thousands of miners who were here in this city's palmy days. A few years ago Nome was a wide-awake and hustling camp. Every one was talking of his good claims and what he expected to do in the near future in the way of taking out fortunes, and then going back to the States.
 A stranger on landing in Nome would say: "Where are all the people and why are these hundreds of houses empty?" Now it looks as if a great plague had struck Nome, and all the people had fled in terror, leaving everything behind. Four-fifths of all the houses and business blocks are for rent or for sale. Good four-room houses, furnished can be bought house lot and all, for from $50 to $150.
 Large boilers and heavy machinery are for sale at scrap-iron prices. Wreck, ruin and poverty meet the eye of the stranger. Two-thirds of the people here are trying to get a "homestake" to get out on the first boats. The cause of this is that the day of the pick and shovel is gone in Nome. The rich placers have been worked out, but the low-grade ground is now coming to the front, where large capital only can handle it with dredges and hydraulicking on a large scale.
 During the summer three strikes were made. One is the Squirrel river a tributary of the Kobuck river, 800 miles north by sea, but from Nome overland it is but 250 miles by winter trail. Now there are about seventy men prospecting there. They say they have found coarse gold, nothing smaller than nuggets weighing about 25 cents, but so far not in large deposits, but just about rich enough to pay wages this winter. Winter will develop the country, and when spring comes miners and residents here will know whether it will be a good camp.

PRESIDENT TAFT PUTS IN BUSY DAY TODAY
 Richmond, Nov. 23.—President Taft spent today busily. He breakfasted with Governor Mann and reviewed the cadets at the Virginia Polytechnic school. He luncheoned at the Jefferson hotel and automobilized to the state league park this afternoon, where he witnessed a football game between Fort Monroe and the First Virginia regiment. Later he visited an aeroplane meet and addressed the Virginia educational conference. He leaves for Washington tonight.

SEATTLE AND PORTLAND CENSUS NOT ANNOUNCED
 Seattle, Nov. 23.—Seattle's census will be announced late Friday, according to direct advices from Washington today. It was scheduled for today. Portland's census was scheduled for last night but was postponed to another date.

Penns-Cornell Game.
 Philadelphia, Nov. 23.—With two of the most important games of the season scheduled for Franklin Field this week, Philadelphia has gone football mad. Tomorrow Pennsylvania and Cornell will put the question of supremacy to its annual test. The Ithacans have come down like wolves on the fold, determined to wipe out the memory of last year's defeat.
 On Saturday the Army and Navy will engage in their annual football battle here, and the prospects are that it will be "some fight." The Annapolis and West Point youngsters were deprived of their annual battle last year, and thus they have a rivalry of two years' standing to get out of their systems.

Big Bowling Tournament.
 Omaha, Neb., Nov. 23.—Bowling cracks from all over Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and other states are centered in the meet of the Middle West Bowling association, the first big tournament to be held anywhere in the country this season. Omaha bowlers have made elaborate preparations for the great gathering and the visitors will have nothing to complain of in the way of arrangements.
East Vs. West.
 St. Louis, Nov. 23.—St. Louis football fans will witness an intersectional game tomorrow, when the St. Louis University eleven will meet the effete easterners from Syracuse.

Lost—Saturday night on W. Bluff street, a lady's brown fur. Reward if returned to 412 W. Bluff street.

TWO MARITAL WRECKS WILL SET SAIL AGAIN

London.—Early in December a quiet marriage ceremony will unite two distinguished young people who have experienced disastrous and even tragic matrimonial ventures.
 The bridegroom is Lord Vivian, who is thirty-five years old, and who married in 1903 Miss Barbara Fanning, the daughter by her first marriage of that very rich widow, Mrs. Macalmon. The marriage proved very unhappy. Lady Vivian, who was quite young and quite eccentric, appeared to take a violent dislike to her husband, and after probing him at intervals with hat pins, eventually ran a large pair of scissors through his hand and eloped with a man about town named Curphey. Lord Vivian obtained his divorce in 1907.
 The bride is Mrs. Adrian Rose, granddaughter of Arthur Wilson of Tranbycroft and daughter of Mrs. Yvonne Green. Mrs. Rose married the youngest son of Sir Charles Rose in 1907 and lost her husband just after the honeymoon. She is now only twenty-two and very pretty.
 So that society folks are interested in this romantic union of two young people, whose previous matrimonial ventures proved so sad.
 Queen Alexandra is especially interested in the forthcoming ceremony, as Lord Vivian's twin sisters were her favorite maids of honor.
