NEW COUNTY TAX LAW INOPERATIVE

SUCH IS OPINION OF ASSESSOR C. P. STRAIN

Declares Amendment Passed at Last Election Will Not Become Law Until Some General Law Is Passed By Legislature or People.

The county taxation amendment to the state constitution made into law by the people at the recent election, does not become operative until some general law is passed by the legislature or the people, making it effective. So declares County Assessor C. P. Strain and this view is concurred in by Judge Thomas Fitz Gerald.

According to Strain, the law simply prohibits the legislature making any changes in the present method of taxation without referring the proposed changes to the people. He says it does provide that the legislature may submit a general law to the people or that the people may initiate a law under which it may be possible for each county of the state to regulate the question of taxation to suit itself.

The assessor believes that if the amendment is thus made effective by the people or the legislature that the people of each county, by majority vote, can declare what classes of property or people may be exempted from taxation.

Judge Fitz Gerald holds that the law is not self-executing for the reason that no method is provided whereby it can be put in operation. Like the assessor, he therefore holds that it will be necessary for the legislature, with the consent of the people, or for the people themselves to enact a second law before this amendment can go into effect.

When District Attorney Phelps was asked for an opinion on the measure, he said he had not given it sufficient consideration to express an opinion. From a cursory perusal of the amendment he thought it might be far reaching in its effects or that it might not be effective at all.

The Portland Journal in commenting upon the measure says: The amendment carried is the most radical and sweeping of three tax amendments submitted. Two that were proposed by the legislative assembly in response to a movement fostered by the state grange were defeated. These amendments removed the restrictions in the constitution on exempting certain classes of property or on levying a less rate of taxation on one class of property than on another.

The county tax measure, as it is commonly known, was submitted through the initiative by the labor organizations of the state. It takes from the legislature all power to pass laws regulating taxation or exemptions and gives that power solely to the people, although the legislature may submit such laws for approval or rejection at the polls. Each county is permitted to regulate taxation within its borders as it sees fit. The levying of poll tax is prohibited.

The bill is regarded as having been designed as an entering wedge for "single tax" measures. Under its provisions a county whose voters were so disposed might adopt that system, even though the measure could not muster strength in the state at large to be made a state law.

ALL STARS DECLARE THEY CAN COME BACK

ARE CONFIDENT OF DEFEATING HIGH SCHOOL

Large Crowd Expected to Witness Thanksgiving Game Tomorrow—Much Interest and Enthusiasm Manifest by Fans.

If the amount of enthusiasm and interest being manifest in tomorrow's football game between the Pendleton All-Stars and the local high school, is to be taken as an indication there will be one of the largest crowds at Round-up park tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock that ever witnessed a football exhibition in this city. The game has been put at 3 o'clock so as to give those partakers of late turkey dinners an opportunity to be present at the opening of the performance.

The "has-beens" on the All-Star aggregation are confident that they can "come back" and they are fairly yearning for the hour of the game to arrive so they can demonstrate to the high school lads that they have not forgotten a few of the finer points of the game.

Coach Lytle of the high school team says he does not look for quite such a crowd as viewed the Round-up and he therefore thinks that notwithstanding the excitement over the contest that there will be plenty of seats in the grand stand and plenty of room along the sidelines for all those who attend. The field will be roped off so that the crowd will not be permitted to interfere with the players and so that an equal opportunity to view the game will be guaranteed to all.

So confident are the All-Star players that they will be able to carry off the honors that considerable sums of money have been put up at a local cigar store. Most of the bets are as to who will make the first touchdown and as to who will win the game, though there are others as to the size of the score and other features of the contest.

The lineup of the high school team will be about as it has been for the other games of the season while the All-Stars will probably line up as follows: Coon, center; Brown, former high school coach, and Ben Cresswell of O. A. C., guards; Storie and Scott, of Oregon, tackles; Will Peeland, formerly of the local high and Fee of Whitman, ends and Strand full. The halves will be picked from Jim Hill, Kenneth Cooper and the Sturgis Brothers.

The Stars have been parting twice a day, during the week and feel that they are in good condition.
