GREEK LEADERS IN FIGHT.

M. Venizelos Making Hard Struggle to Lighten Taxes.
 Athens.—M. Venizelos, the strong man of Greece, is engaged in a fierce struggle with a system by which overburdened taxpayers have been oppressed to meet the financial demands of an ever-increasing list of sinecure holders.

In this dead-set against corruption, M. Venizelos is supported by the King and the more intelligent portion of the working classes, and when the new chamber meets in January, M. Venizelos' position as Premier will be greatly strengthened.

Events of the last few months have led up to a situation in Greece that gives rise to anxiety. When the September elections to the National Assembly took place it was decided, on account of the military and naval coup d'etat brought off by Colonel Tsorbas and his colleagues two years ago, to amend the constitution by calling that body into existence in place of the existing chamber of deputies.

The then Prime Minister M. Kallergis, resigned with his cabinet, as under changed conditions he thought the crown ought to be free to choose its own advisers. M. Venizelos then formed a Ministry, and in the forefront of his programme put the restoration of military discipline in the army and the revision of the non-fundamental articles of the constitution. His path proved a thorny one, it became apparent that an adverse vote was popular at any moment, and on his advice the king dissolved the Assembly.

Undoubtedly a large majority of the Greek people are behind the strong and able statesman, who is determined to carry through schemes of national regeneration. Whatever disorders occur are really in the nature of demonstrations against the parties of professional politicians, who would frustrate M. Venizelos' public-spirited plans.

DEVELOPMENT IS PLAN.

Australian Commonwealth to Colonize Northern Territory.

Melbourne.—Now that the long-standing problem of the Northern Territory, comprising 523,620 square miles has been solved, the Federal government is more than ever convinced of the wisdom of the step it has taken towards expansion.

The passage through both Houses of Parliament of the Northern Territory acceptance bill places the commonwealth in the possession of a large new tract of land, ripe for colonization. The debt of $15,000,000 accumulated on behalf of the Northern Territory has been taken over by the federal government, an expenditure which at present is a dead loss, though it will return a rich harvest in the future years.

For several years past the Northern Territory has been the hopeless bazaar of Australian statesmen. Some parts of it are still unexplored, owing to lack of available capital for opening up the country to extensive railroad communications. The new move means that in time the Northern Territory will become a flourishing state, providing homes for hundreds of thousands of settlers. At present the population apart from the aboriginal tribes of "blackfellows" is only 1081 persons.

Energy will now be thrown into speeding up the scheme for the transcontinental railway, which would throw open an enormous area of fertile farming country.

Geological surveys are also expected to reveal rich deposits of gold and other minerals.

Prisoner Was Forgotten.

Paris.—At Nos. 20 and 26 Rue de Cambrai, there are large stables and coachhouses belonging to carriage contractors, who supply the transport for the prefecture of police. There are housed the police vans known as "paniers a salade." About 3 o'clock Thursday morning the concierge was awakened by shouts, oaths and blows. He aroused two stable hands and they made a round of the stables. The shouts came from one of the prison vans. They opened it and found a prisoner who had been forgotten. He complained of the narrowness of his sleeping quarters. Policemen were called and the prisoner, a man who had been arrested for theft, was taken to the nearest police station. He threatened to demand an investigation and the officials have commenced one.

Vanderbilt Not Entirely Bogus.

Paris.—The bogus Vanderbilt, who is charged with having attempted a $25,000 fraud on Miss Evelyn Maud Taylor and Miss Helen E. Beatrice of London, has bet $10,000 that he is a relative of William K. Vanderbilt.
