The amount for which it was incorporated was $10,000 with 100 shares at $100 each. J. F. Robinson, Mrs. J. F. Robinson and Charles H. Carter were named as the incorporators.

Old Indian Woman Dead.
Pa-tap-pa, known also as Adamistic, one of the oldest Indian women on the Umatilla reservation, whose age has been variously reckoned at from 80 to 104, died this morning at 6 o'clock at her home. Her relatives came to this afternoon and secured a large box from the Folsom Undertaking parlors in which to inter the remains.

Pendleton a Wicked City?
H. M. Carr, who is acting as manager of the local Western Union office in the absence of George Gillette, is in receipt of a letter from a resident of Roseburg asking whether or not it is true that Pendleton is a wicked city as reported. Mr. Carr, who formerly lived in the city on the Umpqua, is of the opinion that Pendleton could learn much of the ways of the devil from Roseburg, herself.

Henry Lazinka Not Dead.
A report was freely circulated this morning that Henry Lazinka, the well known stockman, had died suddenly last night. Just when the news became common property and was being freely discussed in subdued tones by his many friends that gentleman himself appeared on the streets as hale and hearty as ever to disprove the statement of his demise. "When I die," he said, "I'll go out with a noise so loud there will be no mistake about it."

Not Residents of Umatilla.
A prominent citizen of Umatilla writes this paper stating that William Reno, who was arrested in that town Wednesday for sodomy, and Roy Orton, his victim, are not residents of Umatilla and asks that the statement to that effect be corrected. He characterizes them as hoboes and says that the fair name of the little railroad city has suffered much and often for the actions of these transients. The East Oregonian gladly corrects the error, which was quite unintentional.

Three Burglars Captured.
Marshal Boreland of Echo, came up from Echo last evening, having in his custody three young men who had been captured in that city after they had burglarized the section house in that town and secured a quantity of clothing. As they were caught red-handed and with the goods on them, there is small doubt as to their guilt. The names of the culprits are James Feeney, William Allen and Frank Allen. They are now enjoying the hospitality of Sheriff Taylor.

Attended Father's Funeral.
Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Hill returned last evening from Huntsville, Wash., where they had been to attend the funeral of Hill's father, the late Dr. B. F. Hill. The deceased formerly lived in Kansas and at one time was appointed as a congressman from that state but did not serve. He was a physician and came to Washington about seven years ago with the intention of retiring and devoting his time to horticulture. However he had an extensive practice at Huntsville at the time of his death.

LIQUOR LOW DISCUSSED.

Quelle restaurant, who will probably take out a license, thinks the restaurant license has been placed at too high a figure and that the whole ordinance is a little too severe. However he believes that such an ordinance will have a tendency to eliminate all undesirable from the saloon conducting element and put the business on a more wholesome basis.

Attorney Charles H. Carter was another who characterized the ordinance as a good one, but said that, from a more or less superficial knowledge of the question, he believed the drug store license was somewhat too large.

Some Druggists Satisfied.
However, A. J. McAllister and George Hill, proprietors of the Pendleton Drug company, declared the ordinance to be perfectly satisfactory to them. "The $150 license fee," said McAllister, "simply divides our annual profits with the city. The whole ordinance seems to me to be an excellent one, and I think that after the licensees conduct their business under it for six months, they would not go back to the old way if they had the option. By abiding by its provisions, they will sub-consciously come to respect themselves the more and can walk forth from their saloons each night without feeling that their vocation places a stigma on themselves or family."

Enforcement Questioned.
Circuit Judge J. J. Bean, who was elevated to the supreme bench of the state at the last election, remarked tersely, when interviwed, that it was much easier to draft and pass an ordinance than it was to secure its enforcement.

Tom Swearingen, proprietor of the French restaurant, and who conducted a most respectable saloon in the days when Pendleton was "wide open" gave it as his opinion that, under the new ordinance, there will be no profit in running a barroom. He recognizes the fact that the number will be limited to twelve whereas in former days 28 flourished, yet he declares dollars were spent in those days where nickels are spent now.

Lawrence Frazier, senior member of the firm of Frazier-Nelson Book company, thinks the ordinance is all that the people could demand. One feature which he considers unjust to the saloonman is that clause which bars them from their places of business on Sundays.

Minister Surprised.
Rev. Ralph E. Storey of the local Baptist church, who as one of the leaders of the prohibition movement, expressed himself as agreeably surprised at the drastic character of the ordinance and stated his belief that, if it is rigidly enforced, the conditions which will ensue will be much better than they have been in the past two years under prohibition.

Attorney Charles Ferguson was one of the few who took decided objection to the document. He believes that it is too radical, that the pendulum has swung too far the other way. "There is too much in it," he said. "Simplicity is a cardinal virtue in a law, which fact the council seems to have forgotten. I firmly believe that the new ordinance will prove too unwieldy to secure wholesome results."

C. E. Roosevelt of the Boston store, voiced his opinion that the ordinance is just right. "It is a compromise between prohibition and the wide open town," he said. "Furthermore I believe the council are sincere in their endeavor to regulate the saloons and will strive to their utmost to enforce the ordinance. And the business men will be behind them."

Dan McKenzie and Sam Thompson, both extensive farmers of the Adams country, expressed their opinion that the ordinance as drafted will be highly satisfactory to the farming element of the county.

Big Charley, the Chinaman who for years has worked for Antone Nolte, was outspoken in his condemnation of the ordinance. "New law velly bad," he said. "Velly bad on saloon man. No can do business. However, Charley's occupation is apt to make him somewhat biased in his judgment and therefore does not carry any great weight."

PORTLAND TO ENTERTAIN.

Elaborate Arrangements Made for Amusement of Woolgrowers of Nation.
Portland, Ore.—When the woolgrowers of the West come to Portland for the annual convention of the National Woolgrowers' association, they will find an extended entertainment program ready for them. The committee named to arrange this feature of the meeting is headed by B. S. Josselyn, president of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, and consists of 270 prominent business men. They are mapping out special treats that will delight the visitors.

A trolley ride about Portland will be given on the afternoon of January 4, the first day. Portland has grown so fast in the past few years that this trip will be a revelation to many of the delegates who have not been in the city lately. Wednesday night there will be a reception and dance in the assembly hall of the armory.

A smoker and vaudeville performance will be given at the armory on Thursday night for the enjoyment of the visitors and some stunts will probably be pulled off that will have special application to the woolgrowers. A theatre party will be given visitors Friday night.

A "Seeing Portland by Gaslight" trip is planned for Saturday night. The chief stopping points on this jaunt will be the Elks club, the Commercial club and the Portland Press club, which will keep open house for the delegates. As all business of the convention will have been concluded by this time, the livestock men can give themselves over wholly to enjoyment and the next day they will leave for their homes.

This is the first convention in eight years the association has held in a big city, sessions having been held of late in the smaller centers of the interior and the inter-mountain region. On this account it is expected the number of delegates in attendance will be very large, as Portland is favorably located, because of its central position in the Pacific Coast region, to bring out a record number of visitors.

The Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church will hold a bazaar Friday and Saturday and give a chicken pie dinner Saturday in the Smith-Crawford building. Dinner from 11 to 2 for 35c.

CHINA PHEASANTS FOR CHICKEN SHOW

HELIX PHYSICIAN ENTERS BEAUTIFUL GAME BIRDS

Dr. John Griswold Will Bring in Feature Exhibit—Music Will Also be One of the Features of Show in Armory—Concert Each Evening.

A group of Mongolian pheasants will form one of the interesting exhibits at the Pendleton Poultry show to be held in the armory next week. The birds are the property of Dr. John Griswold and were entered by him this morning.

These pheasants, better known as China pheasants, are regarded as among the gamest and most beautiful game birds in existence. They abound in the Willamette valley where they have flourished since their introduction a few years ago, but every effort to establish them in eastern Oregon thus far has failed. Dr. Griswold has some splendid specimens of this great bird.

Music Will Be Feature.
Manager Fletcher of the United Orchestra who is also treasurer of the poultry association, has completed all arrangements for the music and rehearsals have already started. The daily concerts last year proved to be one of the most enjoyable features of the show and according to Manager Fletcher the music this year will be even of a higher order.

Since the show was responsible for the existence of the orchestra, its members are particularly anxious to make the show more successful in the musical line than it was before.

HINDUS DEPORTED WHEN FOUND TO BE DISEASED

San Francisco, Dec. 9.—Eleven Hindus out of thirteen who arrived here on the Manchuria on Sunday are to be deported under orders issued yesterday by Dr. M. W. Glover, medical inspector, who declares them to be affected with hookworm. Hindus have been coming here in far smaller numbers since the immigration officials began rejecting many on account of hookworm.

Seven Miles of Paving.
North Yakima, Wash., Dec. 9.—Yielding to a petition of taxpayers, the city council has decided to create a paving district embracing seven miles, expending thereon some $500,000 this spring. Eighty-eight blocks in the older residence portion of the city, and half a mile of the Tieton drive come under the plan for city improvement.

HOBOS ARRESTED, CAUGHT WITH GOODS

BREAK INTO ECHO GREEK SECTION HOUSE AND ROB

Trunks Rifled and House Looted—Marshal Boreland Effects Capture and Men are Now in County Jail—Had Keys to Railroad Houses in Their Possession.

(Special Correspondence.)
Echo, Ore., Dec. 9.—Yesterday afternoon the Greek's section house here was broken into and some $50 worth of goods stolen. Trunks were broken open and the place completely looted.

Later, about 6:30 p. m., Marshal Boreland apprehended three hoboes on the railroad track and found the stolen goods in their possession. They were arrested and spent the night in the city jail and this morning were given a hearing before Justice Scholl, who bound them over to the circuit court in default of bonds which were $500 each. They gave the names of Jas. Feeny, Wm. Allen, and Frank Ryan.

A loaded revolver was taken from the latter which was identified by the Greek as his property. They also had a full set of keys with which they could open any section or car house or any switch. They have the appearance of professional yegmen. The prisoners were taken to Pendleton on the motor by Marshall Boreland, so be turned over to the keeping of the sheriff.
