HIGHER EDUCATION IS JUSTIFIED

PRESIDENT CAMPBELL TALKS ON ITS VALUE

"Every Person Should Have Opportunity to Develop Faculties to Full-est Extent," Says Head of State University.

"University education has no excuse and is worth nothing unless it leads to productive activity and is inspired with the spirit of service to one's fellows and to the state." This is the stated opinion of President P. L. Campbell of the University of Oregon, in an interview on the value of higher education. He left it clear that there is no doubt in his mind as to the value of education and the duty of society to supply that education; but at the same time he made it equally clear that a state supported institution has no justification unless it helps its students to greater efficiency and public service.

"Every person should have the opportunity to develop his faculties to the fullest extent," continued President Campbell. "He can not get this education wholly through himself. Society must aid him with the benefit of public schools. In accordance with this recognized principle, Oregon supports her higher educational institutions, the University, the agricultural college, and normal education. There is no valid reason for the maintenance of any of them unless they give a fair return to the people for their investment."

"Do they give this return?" was the question. "I can see no room for doubt of it. In the university, the greater emphasis is placed on scholarship. This idea has been growing year by year, so that if a man does not measure up to the standard of scholarship, he is simply dropped. The aim of the departments is to give a sufficient body of good work, to present it clearly, and in a manner that inspires students to want to get it; then, to hold the student to 45 hours of work a week in such a manner that he can not escape it. Interest in scholarship comes first from studying, and the first step towards it is to require a sufficient amount of study. Now, then, the constant aim is to produce a scholarship that is of a productive type. It ought to lead to the expression of the student's powers, whatever they may be, either in writing, art, balanced judgment in matters of citizenship, or in some form of productive scientific scholarship. The student, the trained thinker, will find an interest and inspiration in scholarship. In investigation and research, that leads him to express himself."

President Campbell believes that there is a stern moral obligation to take part in public affairs, to shape and guide public opinion militantly, on the part of those who have accepted from the state the gift of added power in thinking, of greater effectiveness in labor. This is, to say the least, but a just return to the society that has given him added judgment and knowledge in social and political matters. "Not to make this return to the state," he says, "is an insinuated theft from the treasury of the people."

A SIMPLE SAFEGUARD FOR MOTHERS.

Mrs. D. Gilkeson, 325 Ingles avenue, Youngstown, Ohio, gained wisdom by experience. "My little girl had a severe cold and coughed almost continuously. My sister recommended Foley's Honey and Tar. The first dose I gave her relieved the inflammation in her throat and after only one bottle her throat and lungs were entirely free from inflammation. Since then I always keep a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar in the house as I know it is a sure cure for coughs and colds." A. C. Koeppen & Bros.

NORTH YAKIMA TO PAVE EIGHT MILES OF STREETS

North Yakima, Wash.—Paving that will cost $555,000 or more and will cover about eight miles of North Yakima streets is being planned for 1911 by the city council, more than doubling the number of blocks of paved streets. All of the paving in North Yakima has been placed within the last three years.

City Engineer Doolittle estimates that the cost on one of the improvement districts will be $250,000. This is the large district in the northeast part of the city for which petitions were presented to the city council last night, and includes 41 blocks of paving.

The cost of another district is estimated at $100,000. It includes South First and South Second streets from Chestnut to Race street, with intersecting streets a total of 18 blocks.

Paving on West Yakima avenue for 16 blocks, Seventh avenue for seven blocks and Miles avenue for a half mile, all included in a previous district before the council, will cost $125,000.

Residents along South Twelfth avenue and Pleasant avenue have also asked for paving, totaling seven blocks, which will be arranged at a cost of $60,000. The contract has been let for paving Eleventh avenue from Yakima to Maple street, for four and one-half blocks, costing approximately $20,000.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS HAVE PUGILISTIC EXHIBITION

Walla Walla, Wash.—At the "stag" given at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night the first public exhibition of boxing was undertaken by the physical department of that organization under Instructor Lopez. A large crowd of interested spectators gathered for the occasion, and the evening proved thoroughly enjoyable. A three-round bout between Tom Gorman and Frank Cox, featherweights, went to Gorman, he being more aggressive and possessing the ability to land punches in better shape than his opponent.

Kraf Johnson and Cecil Olsen, both well-known local athletes, went on the mat for an exhibition of wrestling and after 15 minutes of hard work, a decision of draw was announced, neither being able to pin the other.

Harry Konser and Alan Jones, featherweights, went on for a short fistie bout of five rounds, Konser gaining the decision by faster and more clever work than Jones.

These boxing and wrestling matches will be continued during the winter, a tournament being in preparation for the establishment of championships. Harry Proudfoot acted as referee at the matches.

CENSUS LIMITS SALOONS.

Spokane, Under Ordinance, Cannot Have More Bars for Years to Come.

Spokane, Wash.—The saloon limiting ordinance, which went into effect two years ago, and the final official figures as to population have combined to prevent the addition of another saloon in Spokane for several years. The ordinance provides that a saloon should be allowed for each 500 inhabitants until the city reached a certain size, when the number of refreshment places should be limited to one to each 1000 inhabitants.

As there are now 243 licensed saloons and the city's official population has been given at about 104,000, the city's size will have to more than double before any more saloons can be added on the 1000 limit basis. The number of saloons is already greatly in excess of what it should be were the percentage of drinking places limited to one for each 1000 residents of Spokane.

Arthur Burch, assistant comptroller, says the only way another bar may be opened under the provisions of the ordinance would be in case of new hotels with more than 50 rooms. This clause does not include lodging houses, rooming houses or apartment houses.

SPOKANE JUDGE WOULD PROSECUTE THE MINORS

Prosecute the minor who frequent pool halls as well as the proprietors. This is the new move to be taken by the police, says the Chronicle.

The action on the part of the authorities grew out of a decision rendered in police court Monday afternoon by Judge Samuel A. Mann in which he strenuously urged the police to seek the young men whose ages range from 15 to 21 who frequent pool halls and bring them before him to be prosecuted under the statute covering their cases.

"It seems to me that justice is not rendered when pool hall proprietors are arrested for allowing young boys in their places of business when the young men look to be of age," said Judge Mann. "I think we should prosecute these boys hereafter. I shall recommend such action."

The decision was rendered at the conclusion of the cases of William Wood and A. E. Helntz, North Side pool hall owners charged in court Monday with permitting minors to play pool.
