Taft's Latest Message Regarding Tariff May Come in for Grilling When Woolgrowers Hold National Convention in Portland.

(Special Correspondence.)

Portland, Ore., Dec. 17.—That Taft's latest message will come in for a grilling at the hands of the woolgrowers of America at the annual convention scheduled for Portland January 4, 5, 6 and 7, is the frank prediction of sheep raisers. This message holds out little hope to the wool growers and they regard it as settled that he regards the wool and woollens schedule as indefensible, for he has said so on a number of occasions.

It is felt that so long as President Taft feels that a majority of the people want the schedule revised, whether the industry will be wrecked or not, he will stand by his original program for the reopening of the schedules and some changes in the duties on wool and woollens, although he has stated on numerous occasions, it is said, that he is not after the woolgrowers, but rather the manufacturers.

Growers are naturally hoping that congress will not dig into the tariff on wool until the tariff board has had a chance to report. The fear is general, however, that revision of schedule K is inevitable and this is causing a depressed feeling among sheepmen everywhere. The tariff talk that will be heard will be a big feature of the coming convention. Strong speakers have been secured to discuss the situation and advise a way out. Edward Moir, president of the Carded Woollens Manufacturers' association, will speak on "Schedule K, from the Standpoint of the Carded Woollen Manufacturers."

"The Payne-Aldrich Tariff and Wool Imports," will be the topic presented by C. H. Brown, Washington representative of the National Wool Growers' association.

"Tariff on Wool and Woollens," is the subject to be presented by Theodore Justice of Philadelphia, and Fred H. Blume of Sheridan, Wyo., will speak on "Protection for Wool and Woollens." There will be extended discussions on wool tariff matters at all sessions of the convention. Other subjects to be discussed are:

"Schedule K," by Peter G. Johnson, Blackfoot, Idaho.

"What Sheepmen Can Accomplish by United Effort," by C. B. Stewart, Salt Lake City.

"Forests and Flockmasters," by Judge Stephen A. Lowell, Pendleton, Oregon.

"Better Use of the Range," by A. E. Potter, associate forester, Washington, D. C.

"A Minimum Speed Law from the Standpoint of the Humanitarian," by Dr. William C. Stillman, president American Humane association, Albany, N. Y.

"Shepherds," by J. M. Wilson, Douglas, Wyo.

"Freight Rates on Wool," by Frank Hagenbarth, Spender, Idaho.

"Middlings of the Sheep Business," by J. A. Delfelder, Wolton, Wyo.

"Portland, the Livestock Center of the Pacific Northwest," by D. O. Lively, Portland, Oregon.

"Public Wool Auction Sales," by Sam Ballantyne, Boise, Idaho.

"The Up-Lifting of the Wool Industry," by U. S. Grant, president National Mohair Growers' association, Dallas, Oregon.

"Livestock Grazing as Insurance Against Fires in National Forests," by Dan P. Smythe, Pendleton, Oregon.

There will be addresses of welcome to the visiting sheep raisers by Archbishop Alexander Christie of the Catholic diocese of Oregon; Oswald West, governor-elect; Joseph Simon, mayor of Portland; C. C. Chapman, manager promotion committee, Portland Commercial club, and William MacMaster, president Portland Chamber of Commerce. President Fred E. Gooding of the National Association of Woolgrowers will deliver his annual address, that is expected to be a review of the problems now confronting the sheep raisers.

Prospective speakers are William Whitman, president of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers; Senator Tom Carter of Montana; Senator F. E. Warren of Wyoming; Governor Brooks of Wyoming; Alvin Saunders of Chicago, member of the tariff board; Professor E. L. Shaw, H. Wellington Wack; Magnus Brown and Dr. A. D. Melvin.

NATIONAL WOOLGROWERS WILL DISCUSS SUBJECT OF TARIFF

Portland, Ore., Dec. 16.—When the National Wool Growers' association meets in Portland next month in annual convention, the session will resemble a consultation of physicians over a complicated case. The problem is how to keep the next congress from making a jig saw puzzle out of schedule K, which is in grave danger, its friends fear, of being cut to pieces when the democrats get in control of the next house.

This will be the dominant topic of the convention beyond a doubt. No less than 6000 sheep raisers from all parts of the country will be in attendance and there will be many a discussion over the threatened tariff chances as they affect the wool men.

President Fred W. Gooding of the National association, in discussing matters that will engage the attention of the delegates when they meet in convention, said:

"One of our chief concerns as followers of the oldest line of husbandry of which history speaks, is the assault that has recently been so persistently made upon the wool and woollens schedules in the Payne-Aldrich tariff law. Discussions that will be held in the convention will be educational. Not only is the general public almost entirely uninformed, or rather misinformed, in regard to the merits of the tariff rates on wool and woollens. But I believe that a very large majority of the wool growers themselves have but little idea of the importance of the subject.

"If, through the discussions that will be held in the convention, nothing more is accomplished than the removal of the prejudices that have been engendered by the muck-rakers in the magazines, and the mudslingers on the political hustings against the wool growers and woollen manufacturers, the convention will have been well worth holding."
