AT THE MOVING PICTURE SHOWS

The Orpheum.

Good program for Sunday's change: 1. Jim Bridger's Indian Bride. Kalem, 1900 feet long. An Indian historical romance. Jim Bridger rescues an Indian girl from a bear pit, falls in love with her and they elope, followed by a band of angry savages. Reaching Bridger's log cabin they bar the door and windows and put up a brave defence against the mad attack of the Indians. When the white man's ammunition is exhausted and defeat and capture seem sure they are rescued by a company of U. S. cavalry. After the rescue the chaplain of the cavalry company is prevailed upon to marry them and then the happy couple.

2. The Rival Barons. Urban, 500 feet long. A splendid outdoor picture, presenting an unusually attractive panorama of mountain and lake scenery.

3. Drumsticks. Vitagraph, 100 feet long. A Thanksgiving story that strikes deep into the true spirit of the day and imports a blessing to those who behold it.

Sunday music program—March Blaze Away Waltz Enchantress Overture Home Circle March Don't Get Nervous Waltz. When Knighthood was in Flower. Reverie Falling Star March Ben Hur's Chariot Race United Orchestra. Karl Gutli, leader. R. W. Fletcher, manager.

Pastime Theater. An excellent program for Sunday: "A Summer Flirtation." Pathé.

comedy, 1000 feet. A vacation comedy that needs a knowledge of so-called vacation flirtations to make it plain. The principal feature is where the two men black each other's faces and the way the girl's father assists them out of the house is exceedingly funny.

"The Attack on Fort Ridgely." Kalem, drama, 1900 feet. Fort Ridgely, a frontier post in northern Minnesota, and upon the edge of the country infested by hostile Sioux led by Little Crow, who formed a big war party and before troops could be dispatched had massacred hundreds of men, women and children. One day a friendly Indian maid informed Captain McPhall of the uprising, thus enabling the little band of soldiers to put up one of the most interesting defenses known in the history of early Indian warfare.

"In the Jaws of Death." Edison, drama, 1900 feet. A picture of the bravery of a fireman, interwoven with a love tale, which carries the necessary heart interest. The thrilling rescue is realistic, the interest is greatly increased when it becomes apparent that the fireman has rescued the woman he loved. The technical quality of the picture is satisfactory and the tribute it pays to the bravery of the fireman is deserved. "The Pastime the show of quality."

"The Cosy." "A Thanksgiving Surprise." A very pleasing melo-drama. "Mendelssohn's Spring Song." (Imported film). A picture with a story attached. One to please everybody, no matter how critical. "Who is she?" The mystery film. "Hobble Skirts." A strong and clean comedy, every foot is funny. Illustrated song, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie."

The winter has thus far been switched off, so far as Idaho is concerned.

He reports that his brother was able to write four letters yesterday, the first since his sickness began, and that with the exception of his lower limbs, which are helpless, his body is in a normal condition. He expects his brother home some time next spring. Fish Blown Up. Doc Maple deputy game warden returned today from Umatilla where he has been for the past few days investigating a report to the effect that fish were being dynamited in the Umatilla river. He found many fish that had no doubt been blown up but no trace was found of the parties who performed the dastardly deed.
