COWBOYS TAKE UP RAILROAD BUILDING

Houston, Tex., Dec. 19.—When cowboys turn to railroad building the era of the great ranches of Texas may be safely said to have passed forever. Julian M. Bassett, manager of the Bar N ranch of Crosby county has just terminated a visit to Houston where he opened negotiations for 23 miles of steel rails to be used in the construction of a railroad which the cow boys are building.

Bar N. ranch was in between. Two years ago Crosbyton was laid out on the site of a former corral. It was a town without a qualified voting resident, but almost immediately assumed proportions. Twenty cowboys turned farmers and a store was built. Now after a thrilling election in which every cowman within hall was rounded up at the polls, the new town in the county seat has 700 inhabitants. It is connected with Lubbock and the town of Spur by automobile line. Owners of the Bar N. ranch who were so successful in town building, planned the railroad that is now being constructed. It is known as the Crosbyton Southplains; is graded from Lubbock to Crosbyton and all material except the twenty-three miles of steel rails is on the ground. Eventually the line will be extended to Spur, connected with the Stamford Northeastern and actually closing the link between the Gulf Coast and the Pacific. Not a bond has been issued. Instead, it the C. B. Live Stock company, owning the Bar N ranch, simply declared a dividend on the land and has built the railroad. "We will probably have the only railroad in Texas against which no bonds have been issued," explained Mr. Bassett. "Everyone out our way has money. The country never had a railroad, but we have been accumulating other things since the price of land and the price of steers went up at the same time. Now we're going to make it so that we can get into the world without riding a day on a cowpony before we catch a train."

BEEF STEER SELLS FOR SEVEN HUNDRED

At the close of the International Livestock show recently held in Chicago, the grand champion beef steer was sold at public auction for $722, which price has been equaled by only one other steer in the United States. The animal went under the name of Shamrock II and was a high grade Polled-Angus, weighing 1120 pounds. The purchaser was a fancy meat dealer who will use the steer to advertise his fancy meats.

The peculiar properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy have been thoroughly tested during epidemics of influenza, and when it was taken in time we have not heard of a single case of pneumonia. Sold by all dealers. Read the want ads today.

DANGER FOR PENDLETON PEOPLE—APPENDICITIS

Many Pendleton people have wind or gas in the stomach or bowels, sour stomach or constipation and do not know that these are symptoms of chronic appendicitis which may any minute become acute. They should try simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler-I-ka, the new German appendicitis remedy—A SINGLE DOSE will bring relief. Pendleton Drug Co. states that the QUICK action of Adler-I-ka is a constant surprise to people.
