SMYTHE RE-ELECTED WOOLMENS SECRETARY

ALL OFFICERS OF STATE ASSOCIATION NAMED AGAIN

Dr. Lytle and Dr. McClure Praised—San Francisco Endorsed for Panama Canal Exposition—Growers Want Tariff Retained and Predatory Animals Suppressed.

Officers of the Oregon Wool Growers' association were re-elected this morning for the ensuing year, and Baker was given the honor of the next convention, says the Journal. The vote was unanimous on every question. This afternoon at 5 o'clock the convention will convene at headquarters in the Imperial hotel to name an executive board and to take up such unfinished business as could not be handled this morning, adjournment having been found necessary at 10:30 this morning in the armory to give room to the national convention.

The officers re-elected are: George McKnight, president; J. H. Dobbins, vice president; Dan P. Smythe, secretary-treasurer. President McKnight stated in his speech of acceptance to the association that while he considered his reelection a great honor, a successor would have to be found next year as he did not believe in one man holding office too long.

The association went strongly on record in favor of holding the proposed Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco and will urge everybody having influence to work in favor of the government's indorsement of San Francisco.

The resolutions reported by the committee on resolutions was unanimously adopted, most important among them being the one touching on the wool tariff the suppression of animal diseases by the federal government, better shipping facilities, indorsement of the proposed centennial celebration this year at Astoria, indorsement of the work of the United States bureau of animal industry and Dr. S. W. McClure, indorsement of the work of Dr. W. H. Lytle, state sheep inspector, commending the district forester for the exploration of the ungrazed forests of northern Washington, and extending thanks to the city

The Pure Food Guarantee. The state department will immediately resume negotiations which will result in a better understanding of the pure food regulations between this country and Venezuela. It was declared today. Venezuela, at the request of Secretary Knox recently suspended operations of its new regulations requiring certificates to be furnished guaranteeing the purity of foods exported from this country to Venezuela, and the time extended by the latter country has expired. In the meantime the United States has been studying the regulations established by Venezuela, as well as trying to have the Charge d'Affaires there convince the government that the regulations of the United States department of agriculture are so strict that no apprehension need be felt in admitting American food products as formerly.

Bug Powder Men Beware.

After today all the "kill-em-quick" powders, bug destroyers, etc., vended in drug stores and groceries must be all that is claimed for them on the labels, or the government will know why. The insecticide act goes into working commission today, three departments of the government uniting to see that its regulations regarding bug killers are observed. These are the departments of labor and commerce, treasury and agriculture. The act forbids the manufacture or sale of adulterated or misbranded insecticides and fungicides, specially mentioning paris green and lead arsenates, in federal territory. It also forbids interstate shipments of such articles. Under the regulations samples of such insecticides are to be purchased by agents of the department of agriculture and commerce and labor, and if found to be adulterated or misbranded, prosecutions in the courts will follow.

(Special Correspondence.)

It was modeled from and similar to the ordinance passed in Pendleton, excepting the saloon license here will be $900 each. Restaurant and hotel dining room licenses, $100 each, and drug stores, $75. The bonds for saloons are placed at $1500 each, while those for hotel dining rooms, restaurants and drugstores are $500 each. The license will be payable semi-annually and but two saloons will be allowed. It is left entirely to the judgment of the council to decide who shall be granted license.

The new council will hold its first meeting on the tenth of this month.

Henrietta Rebekah Lodge, No. 36, I. O. O. F., of this place, held a public installation last night. Each Rebekah present brought one friend. There was a good attendance, there being seventy-five present. After the work was completed refreshments were served.

The Pioneer Irrigation company met at the Echo city hall yesterday and held their annual election. The following officers were elected: C. J. Ward, president; Geo. L. Ward, secretary and treasurer; J. E. Reeves, C. J. Ward and J. A. Mendenhall, directors.

Wm. Moore, manager of the Pacific Coast Elevator company, was here from Pendleton yesterday.

Ira W. Durrill, who has been at the St. Anthony's hospital the past week is reported much better and is expected home soon.

J. W. Hansleigh, a young man who has lately graduated in the law course of Drake's University, Ames, Iowa, arrived in our town this week and expects to soon begin practicing law here.

C. J. Gulliford is transacting business in Pendleton this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Torsche went up to Pendleton this morning. Albert Williams met with quite a severe accident Tuesday morning while working at the Western Land & Irrigation company's headgate. A timber fell on his right hand, breaking several bones. Dr. Dorn dressed the injury.

NEW YORK'S NEW FIRE INSURANCE LAW

The Allen bill, making certain amendments to the New York insurance law by providing that reinsurance agreements shall be submitted in advance for approval to the superintendent of insurance, and including a requirement on standard forms of policies for fire insurance companies, which must be approved by the superintendent, went into effect today.

MORE MONEY FOR THE BRANCH ASYLUM

Salem, Ore., Jan. 5.—That the state board will be urged by Pendleton people to ask the legislature for an increased appropriation from $200,000 to $500,000 or $600,000 for the eastern Oregon insane asylum became known Tuesday. The board plans to visit Pendleton in the near future in company with Superintendent Steiner of the Salem asylum, and the site will be thoroughly gone over and consideration will be given to the needs of the institution.

It is the opinion of experts that it will be difficult to construct anything like an adequate building for the needs of 600 patients with $200,000 and they declare that $600,000 will be much nearer the sum required and that this may possibly prove inadequate, in itself.

State Treasurer Kay said today he hopes to make the trip to Pendleton some time this week, but is not aware of Mr. Bowerman's plans and it may be impossible for the board to go until after Oswald West takes the executive chair.

W. L. Thompson of Pendleton, president of the Commercial association of that city, was in Salem for the purpose of placing abstracts for the Oliver-Carpenter site before the attorney-general. The board had delegated Judge James A. Fee of Pendleton, attorney for the state land board to examine these abstracts and he has pronounced the title clear. The attorney general submitted a similar opinion to the secretary of state, after going over the findings of Judge Fee. The secretary had refused to turn over the warrants for the property until such time as the attorney general had an opportunity to pass on the abstracts.

As a new difficulty this afternoon it was found the acting governor has not affixed his signature to the vouchers and the secretary of state says he will hold up the warrants until this signature is obtained.
