Newsy Notes of Pendleton

Returns to Pendleton.

C. E. Bean has rented the Charles Greulich house and will be associated with Lee Teutsch. Bean formerly lived here for many years and for the last six months has resided in Portland.

Water Shut Off in Pasco.

Conductor Gus Bertholet of the Northern Pacific train is authority for the statement that Pasco is having a water famine in the dead of winter. He says the weather was so cold yesterday that the water was shut off all over town in order to prevent the pipes from freezing.

Belligerents Are Fined.

Floyd Rankin and Arthur Horn, two young men of the city, who engaged in an exciting fist battle the other night on Main street, were yesterday afternoon brought up before Police Judge Fitz Gerald on charges of disorderly conduct. Both entered pleas of guilty and were assessed $10 each, which fines were at once paid.

Bishop to Dedicate Rectory.

Tonight Bishop R. L. Paddock, D. D., will dedicate the rectory of the Church of the Redeemer, which is now free from debt. The dedication will commence at 8 o'clock at the rectory and a cordial invitation is extended to all whether Episcopalians or not. After the service is over social greetings, music and refreshments will be indulged in until 10 o'clock.

Consils Is Speaker.

Dr. C. J. Smith's cousin, Representative Charles Adkins of Illinois, has been chosen as speaker of the Illinois house of representatives and was chosen speaker on the anti-Lorimer ticket. This is his second term in the legislature and that he is an influential member is shown by his elevation to the chair. Dr. Smith visited with his cousin last spring upon his return from his European trip.

Court Street Joins In.

Not to be outdone by the property owners on Main street, F. E. Judd and Murphy brothers, who have buildings fronting on Court street, have joined in the move to make Pendleton the city of light. Four of the popular cluster light columns are being put in place, one in front of Wesel's clothing store, one in front of the Patton barber shop, one in front of the Welch cigar store and the fourth in front of the Murphy paint store.

Main Street Building Sold.

As predicted in these columns some time ago, the building occupied by the French restaurant has been sold. By a deed filed with Recorder Burroughs this morning, Maanaa Lowell and her husband Edgar L. Lowell transferred the building to the Pacific Coast Investment company of Olympia, Wash., for a consideration of $30,000. This investment company is but the subsidiary company of the Olympia Brewing company.

Funeral of "Dot" Anger.

The funeral of "Dot" Anger, whose death occurred yesterday morning, will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Catholic church, followed by interment in Olney cemetery. Rev. Father Durgan of St. Mary's church, will conduct the service. In mentioning the sad affair in yesterday's columns, a typographical error caused the omission of the name of Miss Bertha Anger, a sister of the deceased, from the list of the bereaved relatives. The brother, Lesne Anger, arrived last night from Walla Walla and the father, Frank Anger, came in from Burbank, Wash., on the Northern Pacific train this morning.

Library Is Up to Date.

If you are interested in the subject of the commission plan of government go to the Pendleton public library and look up reports that Miss Fleck, the librarian, has just secured from various cities where the commission plan is now in use. Among the cities already heard from are Des Moines and Berkeley. At the request of Miss Fleck the mayors of these towns have forwarded copies of their respective charters and have also given other information relative to the commission plan. Inquiries have also been sent to Tacoma, Galveston and other commission towns. However, thus far replies have not arrived from these places.

Maloney Passes First Sentence.

County Judge J. W. Maloney presided over his first trial this morning and by his action, eight Greeks were made to pay dearly for the venison which was found in their camp. Yesterday morning Deputy Game Warden Jim Estes was given a tip that the law protecting deer was being violated in the mountains at Meacham and he quickly made for the scene. Arriving there he pounced down upon eight members of a section crew who had the carcass of a fine buck in their possession. They were brought to this city yesterday afternoon and this morning pleaded guilty to violation of the game laws and were assessed $25 each.

Bad Man in Adams.

A telephone communication from Adams this morning was to the effect that Clyde Franklin of that place last night enjoyed a short career as a desperado. After imbibing a quantity of "joy water" he entered the Cutler stables and stole a gun with which soon after he held up Reynold Lavadore and D. C. Knowlton and demanded that they enter the house of Pete Murray and bring out one Jimmy Gangrow, whose life blood he meant to have. The two men obeyed their orders but no Gangrow could they find in the house. In the meantime Marshal Barker got wind of Franklin's deeds and soon had the "bad man" behind the bars. He will be brought to Pendleton this evening and the grand jury will look into his case.

AT THE MOVING PICTURE SHOWS

The Orpheum.

Big program for Sunday's change.
1. "Seth's Temptation." Kalem. 1000 feet long. A southern romance. Seth and Anna are sweethearts, living in a little settlement in Florida. Their dull life is changed by the advent of Ellis Arsten, a city man, making an automobile trip through their section. Meeting Anna there is a case of love at first sight on the part of both of them. Seth notes the situation, and one day, while out hunting, in crossing a road, sees his rival waiting at the trysting place. Jealousy for the moment overpowering Seth, he puts his gun to his shoulder, and is about to pull the trigger when his better nature prevails, and he lowers the gun, and goes on his way. A few days later he saves Ellis and Anna from drowning. She sees for the first time his superiority over her city lover and begs his pardon for her previous neglect and asks him to take her back into his heart.

"Saved in the Nick of Time."

Pathe, 500 feet long. An interesting drama.
3. "Soap in His Eyes." Pathe, 500 feet long. A good comedy. A man gets soap in his eyes, upsetting everything he comes in contact with.

4. "He Who Laughs Last!" 1000 feet long. A refined comedy by the Vitagraph company. A young fellow who is a martyr to the "guying" of his fellow club members turns the tables by getting the laugh on them and winning a pretty girl at the same time.
5. "The Fascinating Mrs. Francis." A Biograph. Beautiful love story of the beautiful woman so well liked.

6. Harrison & Harris (colored) in a new musical sketch for Saturday and Sunday, with the above four reels of new motion pictures. The largest and best program in Pendleton today for 10c, children 5c.

Orpheum motto: Best of order at all times, nothing said or done to offend the most fastidious.

Pastime Theater.

"The Show of Quality." Program for Sunday:
"A Fintype Romance." A seashore romance based upon the action of the dog, Jean, which has appeared frequently of late, and two fintypes each in the locker of the other. It is a love story, with a bit of a quarrel interspersed and a reconciliation that would make the average couple open their eyes in astonishment.

"The Revolt." A scene from French history, representing an episode in the life of a daughter of France a most interesting picture especially to those understanding French history.

"A Tangled Masquerade." Paul Dunlop and Ralph Ford both love Helen Moore, whose father favors Paul's suit, and finally forbids Ralph the house. Paul, a hypocrite, has completely won the old man by his mock saintly ways. Ralph decides upon an elopement, writes Helen, who answers in the affirmative, making an appointment at a coming masquerade. But father gets hold of the answer and from this on a tangled masquerade is very much tangled.

"The Call of the Wild." Biograph, 1000 feet long. Four full reels at the Pastime Sunday, 4000 feet of latest motion pictures and illustrated song.

At the Cosy.

"Winter Sports of the Imperial Family of Germany." Showing the imperial family and numerous notables engaging in tobogganing, skiing, ice boating and sail skating. Winter scenes so natural they make you think of chills.

"A Sacrifice—and Then." A story of war, self sacrifice, love and honor. Battlefield, bursting bombs, charges and true heroism. Captain Brown rescues Lieut. Carson from death after a valiant charge. They both fall in love with a banker's daughter; Carson wins her hand but skips on the wedding, hoping she will marry Brown, who he discovers has embezzled funds from the girl's father's bank, and thus save Brown from arrest. Brown learns of his flight and overtaking him persuades him to return and marry the girl, after which the expense and sacrifice causes his death by heart failure just before the police arrive. A picture to keep you right on edge.

Song, "It Looks Like a Big Night Tonight."

"The Terror of the Plains." Being the dreams of an A. D. T. boy who becomes a disciple of Buffalo Bill by reading the thrilling tales of that frontier hero. He sees himself rescuing pretty maidens from the Indians, annihilating whole tribes and stopping the careers of professional bad men, but is brought to a realization of his own limitations by a sound spanking from the hand of his father.

Pendleton Shivers.

Pendleton experienced the coldest weather of the present season a few minutes after 8 o'clock last evening when the thermometer went down to a little less than nine above zero. The previous low mark was recorded the night before when 14 above was registered. Yesterday noon a maximum of 30 degrees had been recorded and then a turn for the colder came and from 4 o'clock until 5 the little column of mercury went down steadily at the rate of a degree an hour.

Soon after 8 o'clock there was a change in the weather conditions and the threatened zero mark escaped damage. The wind veered to the south, the sky became overcast and the mercury started up the column. By day light it was 20 above and during the day it has varied between that point and 30 degrees but never going above freezing.

The ground is now covered with snow to the depth of approximately one inch and unless the weather gets much colder the wheat will not be damaged.

NEW PLAN FOR PENDLETON LIBRARY

RENTAL FICTION WILL BE SUPPLIED SOON

Ladies' Club Will Furnish Books and Will Donate Them When Paid for Out of Rental Money—Plan Will Provide Needed Books.

Through an agreement between the ladies of the local civic and library club and the members of the library commission a new plan for securing books of fiction for the library will be adopted. If the plan works well, as its sponsors believe it will, then the library will be able to secure much needed new fiction and will become more popular than at present.

Under the plan adopted the civic club will present the library with a set of new fiction. These books will be placed in circulation at the library but unlike the other books a small charge will be made for their use. For using one book one week a charge of seven cents will be made. As soon as the books have been used long enough to realize the cost price of the books the books will be placed among the free books of the library and the rental money will be used for the purchase of another set. In this way an endless chain arrangement will be maintained and it will be possible for the library to secure new fiction at frequent intervals without taking money from the regular library funds.

The adoption of the new plan for securing fiction was announced yesterday by Mrs. Fee, chairman of the library board. The plan had been considered by the board for some time. It is understood that it was adopted in response to a general demand that the library be supplied with more fiction. At this time most of the fiction at the library has been read by the patrons of the institution and there have been many requests for the purchase of more books of that class.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS CONVENTION TONIGHT

tion in the county. Messrs. Yorand, Stinson and Wrightman will also address the meeting and music during the evening will be furnished by the orchestra of Damon lodge. A continuous lunch will be served during the evening.

The new shops of the Central and Georgia, in Macou, Ga., built and equipped at a cost of $2,929,999, and considered by Major J. F. Hansen, president of the company, as one of the biggest achievements in the history of the south, are now in operation.

FARMERS MEET IN COUNTY CONVENTION

"HARMONY OF INTERESTS" IS PLEA OF PRESIDENT

C. C. Connor Points Out Growing Necessity for Co-operation Between all Interests of Umatilla County.

"Harmony of interests" was the keynote of the address with which President C. C. Connor of the Umatilla branch of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America opened the annual convention of that organization in the Eagles-Woodman hall this morning. He pointed to the growing necessity of a co-operation between the farmers, the stockmen, the merchants and various other industrial interests of the county and endeavored to emphasize the mutual advantages which would accrue from such a plan.

There was a large number of members of the organization at the opening session and all listened attentively to the various addresses.

At the afternoon session, President Connor appointed the following committees:

Press—Bruce Shangle, J. A. Creswell.

Good of Order—W. J. Stockman, Mrs. W. J. Bedow, A. J. Swagart.

Educational—A. R. Shumway, E. O. Draper.

Sacks—A. C. Mills, Wm. Boon, O. L. Jackson.

Good Roads—Ed Eaton, F. S. Bedow, W. R. Campbell, A. J. Creswell.

Local Co-operation—J. H. Piper, Frank Snider, W. A. Stockman.

Resolutions—Malcolm Stephens, Mrs. C. C. Connors, C. S. Rosenberg.

Legislation—W. W. Harrah, D. T. Nelson, Ed Eaton, Geo. Carmichael, B. E. Bowman, A. R. Shumway, Manuel Friedly.

Credentials—E. O. Draper, W. J. Bedow, Bruce Shangle.

Up until the time of going to press none of the committees had made a report but it is probable that a number of important resolutions will be presented.

N. P. Officials Here.

S. B. Calderhead, traveling passenger agent of the Northern Pacific, and W. B. Heath, traveling freight agent for the same railroad, called at this office this morning, having come in from Walla Walla this morning. Mr. Calderhead denies emphatically that his company has ever considered the removal of the local passenger train from the branch entering this city. He declares the policy of the Northern Pacific company is one of progression rather than retrogression.
