PLANS FOR FEDERAL BUILDING IN SPRING

In answer to an inquiry sent to Washington regarding the Pendleton federal building, Ed Money of this city, has just received the following: Washington, D. C., Jan. 10. Mr. Ed Money, Pendleton, Ore. Dear Sir:

In reply to the inquiry contained in your letter of the first instant, relative to the status of the work on the plans for the proposed new postoffice building at Pendleton, Oregon, you are advised that the preliminary sketches for same will probably be taken up in the spring.

SAYS "EMINENT DOMAIN" PREVENTS RATE INCREASE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—Arguing that the railroad's power of "eminent domain" would operate as a bar to increased railroad rates, John Atwood, attorney for the western shippers' committee, argued today before the Interstate commerce committee against the proposed advance. Atwood based his contention on the ruling of the supreme court which declared that the status of property would be determined at the time when the increased rates were considered and that the company is entitled to benefits of increase in the value of its property. The decision was made in the case of Wilcox against the consolidated Gas company of New York.

To Vote on Exposition. Washington, Jan. 17.—The rules committee of the house, according to agreement, will vote on the Panama canal exposition matter today. The San Francisco and New Orleans delegations have been conducting a very strenuous campaign in behalf of their respective cities.

AT THE MOVING PICTURE SHOWS

The Orpheum.

1. "Her First Husband's Return." 100 feet long. An interesting and realistic drama based on a true story from life.

2. "Reggie's Engagement." 1000 feet long. The story of a strenuous Sunday, a "growler," a murder mystery, a stern parent, a pretty girl and Reggie.

3. "Herod and the New Born King." Gaumont, 1000 feet long. No more beautiful and artistic film has been shown. Every scene is a marvel of accurate representation. It is taken from the first part of chapter 11 of the Gospel of St. Matthew.

4. "On the Stage." Pathe. 1000 feet long. An amusing comedy. Don't miss this picture.

Pastime Theatre.

"A Man of Honor." Tells how a man at great personal sacrifice, even to endangering his life, saves a woman from the tongue of scandal. The mechanical effects are especially good. The story has unusual strength to commend it.

"An Exile's Love." Here is an exiled prince employed by a wealthy gentleman falling in love with the daughter in quite the American way. Of course there is a villain to be jealous, but his machinations do not disturb the flow of the stream of love. Marriage follows, succeeded by a lecture delivered by the girl's father. All is made right, however, by the arrival of the intelligence that the exile has been restored to his title, his rank and what is vastly of more consequence, his money.

"The Joke They Played on Bumptious." Some club men worked upon Bumptious' imagination until they made him believe he was intoxicated. A clever comedy by the Edison company.

"The Professor's Hat." comedy.

"Escape from Sing Sing." Showing a thrilling escape from the noted old prison.

"The Washing Badly Marked." comedy.

Four reels, 4000 feet of latest motion pictures and illustrated song.

At The Cosy.

"Two Lucky Jims," (American). This is the first of the American cowboy films. A cowboy, and a diamond in the rough, falls in love with a girl; her father, however, has other favorites in view each by the name of Jim. However, the girl elopes with cowboy number one with the rest of the bunch in pursuit—even a mule train is pressed into service. After a couple of years the girl proves to be a holy terrier and the jilted lovers feel like "Two Lucky Jims." Full of interest and laughter.

"The Exiled Mother." The burglar attempts to steal a necklace from a fashionable home. Hearing the owner coming he grabs the wife around the neck to protect himself from being shot. The husband thinking he has caught his wife in a compromising position exiles her from his home. Afterward she applies for the position of governess for her own children. The burglar on his death bed confesses to the father the truth and the husband and wife are reunited—he being much surprised to find that she has been employed in his own home.

"The Poor Student." The young man enters college, is too poor to pay his way so gets a job as waiter in a restaurant. He falls in love with a student, gives her a bouquet, but as the others jeer her, she throws it up. He goes west, strikes it rich, returns and marries the waitress passing up the pretty student. Song, "Little Miss Golden Curly."

ENGLAND GIVES JAPAN DIPLOMATIC SETBACK

London, Jan. 17.—A diplomatic setback for Japan is the view generally taken here today of the tariff concessions offered England by Japan, which is now being made the basis of a new commercial treaty. English merchants brought tremendous pressure to bear to make Japan recede from her stand of heavily increasing duties on practically all lines of goods that England exports to Japan.

FEARED CZARINA'S DAYS ON EARTH NUMBERED

St. Petersburg, Jan. 17.—Confirmation of the reports that the Czarina is again in a critical condition was obtained today from the attaches of the palace. Her majesty's recent trip to Bad Nauheim brought only temporary relief and her nervous disorder with melancholia returned. The fear is expressed she will not live long.

Board of Trade.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Business and commercial matters affecting the entire nation are under discussion today at the annual session of the National board of trade.

CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Made Safe by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—Mrs. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing woman's ills such as indigestion, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.
