SANG THE OLD SONGS.

Richard Jose Greeted by Good House at Oregon Last Night.

Richard J. Jose, famous tenor, and his troupe which plays "Silver Threads," entertained a large audience at the Oregon theatre last evening. Of the play aside from the singing of Jose perhaps the least said is the better. It was not especially pleasing, though there are comedy features that at times serve to enliven the gloom. Jose's chief selections were "Silver Threads Among the Gold," "Girl of my Dreams," "Auldie With Me," and other selections of that nature. He has an unusual voice but truth demands the statement many of those who heard him last evening were disappointed in his singing.

Big Show Promised.

Daily rehearsals are improving the cast of the plays to be presented at the Oregon theatre, Wednesday, Jan. 25, for the benefit of the building fund of St. Mary's Catholic church. Leaving out the good cause the benefit is for the show alone will be a fair exchange for the price of tickets. The very best of local talent has been secured and in addition to the one-act curtain raiser, entitled "Balm of Gilead" and the 3-act farce comedy "His Little Joke" there will be ten big specialties. Some of which will alone be worth the price of admission. From the looks of things the affair promises to be a successful one and an occasion long to be remembered.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL PLAN IS ENDORSED

COMMERCIAL CLUB BOARD OF MANAGERS APPROVE

Present Building Pronounced Inadequate and Dangerous—Members of School Board and Association Talk.

By action of the board of managers of the Commercial association, taken at the weekly luncheon today, the action of the local school board in asking for a new high school building was endorsed. The motion to this effect was made and passed by unanimous vote after the board had listened to members of the school board and had discussed the subject at length.

In opening the subject Dr. C. J. Smith told at length of the plans of the board. He explained that for years the present building has been inadequate and also dangerous but that for reasons of economy the board has delayed the matter of asking for a new building. The time has now arrived when a new structure is imperative if Pendleton is to hold its position as a school town. The doctor favors a building that will be a credit to the city and will permit of a strengthening of the work at the high school. A bond issue of $100,000 will provide for the new building and will also provide for the completion of the Lincoln school.

Building Dangerous. E. L. Smith, newly appointed member of the school board, also spoke earnestly in favor of a new building. According to Mr. Smith he has long been fearful of the safety of the present building but has refrained from openly declaring his convictions until such time as action could be taken. According to Mr. Smith the present building is in such shape that he would regret to have any of his children attend the high school.

J. T. Brown Epistmaster J. T. Brown, another member of the board and who is also a member of the water commission, endorsed the move for the new building. According to Mr. Brown the building will in no way interfere with the voting of a bond issue for a gravity water system. He explained that the water system will take care of its own bond issue, from the receipts from water users. He favors the securing of water from the Thorn Hollow springs and says that a supply may be secured from that source at an expense of $200,000.

Among the members of the managing board taking part in the discussion were President Thompson, G. M. Rice, Harry Gray, Clarence Bishop, and E. B. Aldrich. No opposition to the move was manifested and the motion to endorse the action of the school board was carried without dissent.

SHIRKS FIND EASY COIN HARD TO GET

Salem, Ore., Jan. 20.—For the first time in the Oregon legislature definite rules have been adopted governing clerks and stenographers employed in the house. The rules committee reported yesterday recommending that each group of three representatives shall have one stenographer and one clerk.

Clerks are required to report daily at 8 o'clock, remain on duty until 10:30 o'clock, and report again at 12:30 and to work until 2. They will finish their work between 4 and 6 p. m. Stenographers will work from 9 to 11, from 1 to 4 and from 7 to 9. Employees absent during these hours are not to receive pay and they cannot remain away without permission of the chief clerk, and then only on furnishing a reasonable excuse. Complaint by two representatives shall constitute grounds for discharge. The report was adopted.

The building trades should be doing well at Canton. Along the new Bund and toward Sha Ho there are a very large number of new hotels, shops, and private residences in course of construction. All of these buildings are a great improvement on the old-fashioned style, for they are almost without exception, roomy, commodious and well built.

AT THE MOVING PICTURE SHOWS

The Orpheum.

1. "His Sister-in-law." Biograph, 1000 feet long. Two orphan sisters, living with their aunt, are inseparable, and vow that come what will they will never part. The oldest, however, gets married and while the young couple insist upon the youngest living with them, she soon realizes she is in her brother-in-law's way, so she goes to her aunt to live and nothing can induce her to come back to the newlyweds until later, when there is a little nudge for her to play with.

2. "The Law and the Man." Vitagraph, 1000 feet long. Thwarted in his efforts to bribe justice and defeat the law the moneyed scoundrel tries to kill the young lawyer who is opposing him. His dastardly plot fails and the young attorney appears in court at the neck of time, wins the favorable decision of the jury for his client and proves himself to be the man of honor and trust, not only in the law but in the marriage with his client's daughter.

3. "Little Snowdrop." Pathe, 1000 feet long. A magnificently colored production of Grimm's well known fairy tale, told in an interesting way. There is the abused stepdaughter and the wicked stepmother who desires to have her killed because the young woman is so beautiful she attracts more attention after the girl has been poisoned and revives her much to the discomfiture of the wicked stepmother.

4. "Cupid's Pranks." Edison film, 1000 feet long.

Four thousand feet of the latest and best motion pictures in the above program.

Pastime Theatre.

The show of quality. The Pastime offers its patrons an exceptionally fine program for Friday and Saturday, featuring that old but never forgotten drama, "The County Fair." It is all there, just as it used to be when Nell Burgess played Aunt Abby so successfully and Taggs rode Cold Molasses to victory and won the purse that paid off the mortgage on Aunt Abby's farm.

"Her Indian Mother," with its scenes laid in the Hudson Bay territory. This picture is another illustration of the call of the Indian blood in a half breed girl which was exerted even after she had been trained in the ways of civilization.

"The Light in the Window," this is a bright, brilliant and soothing drama of the most pleasing kind. Sacrificing her own love to care for her aged mother, Madge refuses to marry her lover and he goes to sea. Her mother dies, and she, ever hopeful of his return, keeps a light burning in the window. After many years he comes back and marries her.

"The Night Before Christmas." An Edison Christmas photoplay. Four full reels, 4,000 ft. in 45 minutes, the shortest show.

WHITMAN WINS INTER-COLLEGE DEBATE

Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash.—The first inter-collegiate debate of the year occurred last Friday night when Whitman met and conquered the State College at Pullman. The subject was the question of the prohibition of inter-collegiate athletics. Whitman took the side that conditions do not warrant their abolition. The discussion was interesting and valuable. Much recent testimony being drawn from letters recently written by the heads of the educational institutions of the United States. Chester Maxey, of Ellensburg; Donald Campbell, of Boise, Idaho; Otto Johnson, of Seattle, the latter the leader of the Whitman team, were Whitman's representatives.
