Because he had faith in the locomotive powers of his driving team and the courage to back his faith with coin of the realm, John Mumm is today $20 richer than he was yesterday morning, and incidentally has established a record that will make Barney Oldfield envious when the news is wafted across the continent to him. Six miles in seventeen minutes over a country road is pretty good time for some automobiles and as an achievement of horseflesh it is almost super-equine.

It seems that recently young Mumm who is a rancher six miles north of this city, was boasting in the presence of friends of the trotting abilities of his spanking little pair of bays and related how on several occasions he had covered the distance between his ranch and parents' home in this city in but a little over twenty minutes. Herman Suhl, though he is not a native of the "show me" state, has a somewhat skeptical turn of mind, the heritage of his Teutonic ancestors, and he was quick to give expression to his doubts. Thereupon an argument ensued, the outcome of which was a wager for twenty dollars, Mumm placing that amount on the abilities of his team to do the distance in twenty minutes and Suhl laying his double eagle that such a feat of rapid transit was beyond the capabilities of any horse since the days of Pegasus bore his gaily rider through the empirical firmament. By the terms of the wager, the animals were not to "break" more than three times during the distance.

Yesterday afternoon was set as the day of the attempt and there were many sports in the city on the lookout for the finish of this remarkable race against time.

In due time Mumm and his horses dashed up to the family residence on Lewis street and the hands on the dial of his watch showed that they had flashed under the tape just seventeen minutes after the starting signal had been given.

It was a phenomenal performance, but there are some who profess doubts as to the accuracy of the report. However, Mr. Mumm has demonstrated to his own satisfaction that his team can do the speed stunt, and he will undoubtedly be ready to repeat it providing some of the scoffers will support their judgment with Uncle Sam's legal tender.

AT THE MOVING PICTURE SHOWS

The Orphan.

Fine program for Tuesday's change.

1. "The Wiltiness." Selig, 1000 ft. long. A thrilling western drama which introduces the battle following an Indian uprising that affords a good many exciting moments before it closes. A girl is captured by the Indians and has a novel escape by being drawn into the tree to which she had been tied. This is an attractive film and well acted.

2. "The Clever Domestic." 500 ft. long. A good comedy by the American Pathe company. It presents a travesty upon domestic service which affords many laughs.

3. "The Mexican Tamblers." Pathe. 500 ft. long. A reproduction of some of the acts of a well known group of Mexican acrobats.

4. "Jack Fat and Jim Slim at Coney Island." Vitograph, 1000 ft. long. This is a side-shaking comedy that is taken where they manufacture fun and millions go to have a good time. If you enjoy fun, don't fail to see this picture for when it comes to laughs this has some few points ahead of anything in the line of comedy.

5. "No More Children." Pathe. 500 ft. long. An interesting picture.

6. "A Square Deal." Vitograph, 500 ft. long. A good picture.

The Pastime.

"The show of quality." Tuesday's change.

"Turning the Tables." Biograph. A comedy presenting the situation in which a wife finds herself when she seeks for her recalcitrant husband in a cafe and he gets home first.

"Happy Jack, a Hero." Biograph. Detailing the adventures of a tramp who gets into a suit of armor at a reception and succeeds in capturing two thieves.

"A Western Wailome." Here is a novelty in humor. A newly married couple on their way to visit an aunt in Texas are held up by two escaped convicts who force them to change clothes. Then the fun begins. Don't miss this (Melies) western picture.

"Playing at Divorce." Vitograph. How two children at play caused their parents to become reconciled, even after an application had been made for a divorce. The acting of the little people is admirable.

"International Motorboat Races." A reproduction of the motorboat races at Larchmont, N. Y.

"A Corsican Chastisement." Pathe. 1000 feet long. Four reels, 4000 feet long of latest motion pictures and beautifully illustrated songs.

Unfurnished housekeeping rooms in East Oregonian building. Steam heat, gas range in kitchen, electric lights, hot and cold water and bath. Recently renovated.

POLICE PENSION BILL FALLS AT OLYMPIA

Olympia, Jan. 23.—Detective Captain Charles Tennant looked too healthy. That is one reason why the police pension bill failed to pass the legislature. Tennant was in Olympia to urge the law. When he appeared before the judiciary committee, Representative Gandy of Spokane jumped to the floor.

"Here's Captain Tennant," he said; "he's 25 years old. In seven years he will be 42 years old and eligible to retire under the 29-year pension rule, and he would be just in the prime of life then. Here's the best possible argument against the bill."

The committee agreed with Gandy.

The Charlton Case Again.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 23.—Further hearings in the matter of the habeas corpus proceedings to prevent the extradition of Porter Charlton to Italy, were begun in the United States circuit court here today before Judge Rollstab. Charlton is wanted on the charge of wife murder, having thrown the body of Mrs. Charlton, who was Mary Scott Casida Charlton, into Lake Como after the murder.

Schoolboys Put Out Fire.

Los Angeles, Jan. 23.—While some of their number were detailed to fight the flames, 250 pupils of the Los Feliz grammar school here marched out of the burning building in perfect order. Thirty-five seconds after the alarm was sounded the children were in the school yard. The boys' brigade of the school extinguished the blaze before the city fire department arrived.

The matrimonial ceremony term "For Better or Worse" is too often regarded from a personal standpoint.
