1/2 Price

TWAIN

A New Edition

Now for the first time you get a complete set of all Mark Twain's writings at just exactly one-half the price they have ever been sold before. This is a new edition, just as complete as the old one, which still sells, by the way, at $50.00. This new edition is only $25.00—for the 25 volumes.

It had been Mark Twain's ambition to have his books in every American home, and he made a great personal sacrifice to bring about this remarkable opportunity—for the first time in the history of publishing, copyrighted books are sold at the price of non-copyrighted books—the chance will not come again.

But for Mark Twain's action this would have been impossible. Never before has a copyrighted library set of a standard author's works been issued at such a low figure.

His Complete Works—25 Beautiful Volumes

Brander Matthews says: "Mark Twain will be included in that group of writers headed by Moliere and Cervantes. With the exception of Count Tolstol, Twain was the greatest of recent modern writers, and will be handed down to posterity through the trio of his works 'Huckleberry Finn,' 'Tom Sawyer,' and 'Fudd'nhead Wilson.'" Twain is a greater stylist than Stevenson or Thoreau, and his 'Man that Corrupted Hadleyburg' is one of the finest works in English literature." Mark Twain himself wrote a preface to this edition. Brander Matthews has written the biographical criticism of Mark Twain and his work. There are portraits of the author at periods when the different books were in process of writing.

There are beautiful pictures by such artists as Frost, Newell, Smedley, Thulstrup, Clinedinst, Kemble, and Opper. The binding is in rich red rep silk book cloth, with title labels stamped in gold. The books are printed on white antique wave paper, especially made for this edition. Each volume is of generous size and bulk, 5x7 1/2 inches.

NEW TYPE OF NORMAL SUGGESTED FOR OREGON

At the recent Commonwealth Conference, Professor Joseph Schafer presented his suggestions for a new type of normal to meet the existing need in Oregon. He would have the normal make itself unequivocally the leader of the rural schools, preparing teachers for these, rather than for service in the towns. To do this, it must adopt a curriculum containing some country life subjects. It should teach the principles of agriculture, employing as aids in the work practice in gardening, floriculture, orcharding, poultry raising—perhaps even dairying. It should pay special attention to rural sociology, which the speaker calls "the reflective handling of rural life problems with a view to their rational solution." In a word, the graduates of the normal should be full of enthusiasm for country life, scientifically able to meet its conditions, and eager to teach in rural communities, where they may vitalize their teaching by including some vocational work and by relating all of their work closely to the need of children living in farm homes. The normal should also provide practice teaching in rural schools for its advanced students, and try to settle its graduates, under favorable conditions, as permanent teachers of rural schools.

The plan is receiving much favorable comment from school men and others, and it is hoped the normal school board may consider it carefully before adopting a definite policy for the new normal at Monmouth.—U. of O. Bulletin.

ATHENA FIVE IS AGAIN VICTORIOUS

WALLA WALLA QUINTETTE IS TAKEN INTO CAMP

Fire Destroys Fine Country Home With all its Contents—S. S. Parris Suffers Severe Loss.

(Special Correspondence) Athena, Jan. 21.—The high school five hung another quintette scalp on their belts last night when they defeated the La Salle team of Walla Walla to the tune of 20 to 12. The game was the high school's victory right from the minute the referee blew his whistle to start the game, and after a fifteen minute half the score stood 17 to 4 in favor of the local team. The last half the high school boys took it easy and merely played to hold the La Salle boys down to a close score. However the Walla Walla boys made three baskets and threw two fouls which brought up their score to 12 and the high school team put their score up to 20. The Athena team was made up as follows: Leuellan and Sharp, forwards; G. Dudley, center; L. McEwen and M. Hill, guards. Next week the local five is going to make a three days' trip commencing Thursday night when they play Milton high school at Milton, and Friday night the Dayton high school at Dayton, and Saturday night they meet Pearson's Academy at Walla Walla.

Last Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock fire broke out in the home of S. S. Parris, a very prominent farmer living about 8 miles northwest of this city, and burned his residence to the ground before very many things could be gotten out of the burning building. The fire originated in an upstairs room which was used as a sort of workshop and it is thought that a match had been dropped or stepped on among the shavings. Mr. Parris carried some insurance but money could not estimate his loss for he has lived on his place for many years and the many things that were very dear to him were burned up and can never be replaced.

Mr. Parris had his home very well equipped with hot and cold water over the house and gas lights, so it will be sometime before he can have as nice a home as he has been occupying heretofore.

BRILLIANT SPEECHES MARKED SALEM'S LEGISLATIVE BANQUET

Salem, Ore.—Brilliant speeches and good music were the chief features of an elaborate banquet given Wednesday night at the Hotel Marion by the Salem board of trade, and the large dining room was filled to overflowing with legislators and other distinguished men from all parts of the state. The flight made on Jonathan Bourne in the senate yesterday afternoon cropped out in a speech made by Edger B. Piper, managing editor of the Oregonian. He told of his early days in Salem and said that he would always be with the capital city in spirit; he commended the city on having such a magnificent hotel and predicted the rapid growth and prosperity of this place in the future. Referring to Bourne, Mr. Piper said that as an obscure newspaper reporter, he had been introduced into the glories and mysteries of the Eldridge "block". He said he was accompanied by his young friend, Senator Patton, now a blushing bridegroom. Mayor Lachmund made a brief address, in which he promised to make a strong fight for better water for Salem. "Not that the legislators need water, however," he said. Judge McBride of the supreme court spoke on too much legislation, and urged the lawmakers to pass what appropriations are necessary to carry on the government. "If all the laws passed between 1864 and the present time," he said, "were killed, Oregon would be just as well off." Kill the bills, slaughter them and knock them in the head, and the country will be a darn sight better off," said the judge. "How a democrat broke into politics," was the subject selected by Toastmaster Carson for Representative Derby of Hood River. "I can explain it only," he said, "in the words of my defeated opponent, which were, 'the only reason I was defeated was because all he damn fool republicans voted for a democrat.'"

Peter H. D'Arcy said the discussion in the senate yesterday afternoon reminded him of two old legislators who were in Salem several years ago. He said some of these men desired to make an impression by his oratorical ability, gained the floor and said: 'In the language of Daniel Webster, the man who wrote the dictionary, "Give me liberty or give me death." "I arise to the point of order," shouted a senator from eastern Oregon, "it was Noah Webster who wrote the dictionary." Representative Poutts Delivered a brilliant and instructive address, but owing to the numerous technical terms used, it is not possible to give an accurate account.

Those who spoke were: Speaker John P. Rusk of the house, "Bill" Kaiser, District Attorney McNamara and several others. Music was furnished by McElroy's orchestra, and Mrs. Laiser sang a couple of solos.
