

Restful Sleep Restored—Indigestion Cured

"Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is far superior to all else as a strengthener and health builder for the aged, weak and sickly," says Mr. D. F. Sibert, 81 years of age.

He writes: "I am always ready to render merit and justice where they belong, and will state that my experience with Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is that when taken in medicinal doses it is an excellent tonic. I am 81 years old and have suffered a great deal with indigestion and kidney trouble. These troubles were overcome by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It induces sleep and creates thirst for a glass of water before breakfast. By this the system is the better supplied with oxygen. I find Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey far superior to all else, and while I am greatly opposed to taking spirits as thousands do, I will always use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, be benefited and attain a clear conscience by taking it as a medicine as prescribed." D. F. Sibert, Scotland, Archer Co., Texas.

CAST OF FOUR HOLD AUDIENCE CHARMED

That the theater-going people will patronize a standard attraction regardless of weather conditions was demonstrated by the many people who came out Monday night to the opera house in a hard rain storm to witness Joseph H. Weber's remarkable play in three acts, "The Climax," manuscript by Edward Locke and music by Joseph Carl Brill.

The play is one that is very difficult to describe—you might call it the play that is different, and you'd be about right. It concerns four people and is thoroughly a classical drama. There is a girl who has a great voice, a young musician who has a great love for her, and a young physician who wants the young woman for his wife.

How there came an awful blight upon the singer's ambition and how it was lifted is the story and it is related in a way that grips the heart. It has been well said it is a great play for those who love music, but it is a play for anyone who has a grain of sentiment in his or her makeup and all of us that much. There is depth, feeling, pathos, power and appeal in "The Climax," nothing gaudy, nothing glaring, nothing frumpy or gush, but a story that stirs emotion and sympathy and is of real good all the way through.

The scenes have that natural aspect which suggests life as it is lived by real human beings and not by stage puppets and one frequently feels that he is watching proceedings taking place within four walls of a room rather than three sides of scenery and a proscenium arch, and that is the aim and hope of every dramatist. The presenting cast is headed by Miss Adele O'Brien as Adeline Von Hagen and she is an actress of unusual excellence. The other three parts, Luigi Golfanti, the teacher, by Frank Patton, Pietro, the son, by Ray Merrill, and Dr. John Raymond, by John Todd, are extremely commendable. Miss O'Brien has a most delightful voice and her vocal renditions during the action of the play were a treat to music lovers.

Inventor Seeks "Rights."
Berlin, Jan. 27.—An interesting case, in which the rights of all progressive German workmen are involved, is set for trial in Berlin today. Hans Merlin, a machinist employed in a Berlin factory, alleges that he invented and perfected a new process of manufacture which is now in successful use and which will save his employers several hundred thousand marks annually. Under the old German law, an employer is entitled to the sole use of any invention or improvement made by his workmen. This law has been attacked in the German courts several times before, but has always been sustained, with the result that many men are now living in poverty who have made inventions which have added millions to the wealth of their employers. Merlin has the backing of hundreds of German machinists, who have raised a fund to fight the case. It will be alleged that the law, by taking from inventors the fruits of their genius and industry, has greatly retarded the industrial progress of Germany.
