REVIVAL MEETINGS AT LOCAL CHURCH

Large and attentive audiences greeted Evangelist John Lewtas at the Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning and evening. Mr. Lewtas has traveled extensively in Europe and Palestine and his sermons are interspersed with pen pictures from places he has visited. Like most Welshmen he has learned how to sing and delighted his audience with his solos and his leadership of the large chorus choir which Mrs. Landers has assembled and trained.
Mr. Lewtas will assist in the evangelistic services at the Baptist church tonight, the two churches having united forces for tonight and tomorrow night. Beginning tomorrow night there will be services each evening except Saturday for some weeks to come in the Methodist Episcopal church.
Evangelist and Visitors Unite.
Tonight the evangelistic mission at the Baptist church will unite in one session at the Baptist church. Dr. W. B. Hinson, pastor of the White Temple of Portland, will preach and Rev. John Lewtas, the Methodist evangelist, will sing in special song. Other speakers will address the mission. Dr. Parker, Dr. Jones and Evangelist Lewtas, will speak at the sessions tomorrow forenoon and afternoon at the Baptist church. Tomorrow evening the meeting will be at the Methodist church. Dr. Hinson will preach again and Rev. John Lewtas will also sing.
Many delegates are arriving from out of town churches and a large attendance is expected. The pastors of the churches unite in extending invitation to all interested in Christian work to attend the sessions of these meetings. Evangelist Lewtas will continue evangelistic services at the M. E. church the rest of the week.

EX-CROWN PRINCE GEORGE, SUBJECT FOR GOSSIP

The ex-Crown Prince George of Serbia continues to be the subject of stories in Belgrade. It seems that though a keen card player, the prince is a bad loser. Recently he struck an officer who had taken a large sum from him a heavy blow in the face. The officer drew his sabre and Prince George was equally ready with his revolver. Only the quick intervention of some older officers in the room prevented serious development. As a consequence, it is reported that for misbehavior the prince is to be sent to France to continue his military studies. In view of the easy way in which the prince has hitherto escaped punishment, it is not believed that he will leave Belgrade except for his own pleasure.

FALLING SIGN KILLS THREE VICTIMS

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 30.—Three were killed and several badly injured when a sign board over a Market street shoe store fell on the heads of a throng today. The crowd broke and scattered, leaving three victims pinned beneath the sign.

POLITICS OCCUPY CENTER OF STAGE IN LONDON

With the reopening of parliament but a few days away, politics occupy the center of the stage in London. Various rumors are current regarding Queen Mary's attendance at the opening of the new session; some state that owing to the delicate condition of her majesty's health, she will not be seen in the state procession, while others say that she will attend with the king. There is little doubt that the Queen Mother, who is always careful to see that none of her rights are taken from her, will be numbered in the royal party.

BIG DEVELOPMENT OF NORTHWEST LANDS

"There was a tremendous development of agricultural lands in the Northwest and Pacific states in 1909. It was greater in 1910. The movement will continue, more substantially than before, during 1911 and the years to come. The settlers have gone to stay."
Edmund T. Perkins, M. A. Soc. C. E., president of the Chicago Irrigation association, made the foregoing observation in the executive office of the National Irrigation congress.
Mr. Perkins, who was formerly engineer in charge of transportation and purchasing for the United States reclamation service, is thoroughly familiar with the west, having made a study of soil and climatic conditions and agricultural possibilities.
"This development will continue as an important factor in western wealth production for many years to come," Mr. Perkins added, "and land values will increase from their present level as new settlers pour into the various districts in Washington, Oregon Idaho, Montana and adjoining states. Wealth production is bound to increase as the products from these new soils have places of their own in American and European markets."
"The nineteenth sessions of the National Irrigation Congress in Chicago, December 5 to 9, inclusive, when President Taft will be the chief speaker on the closing day, should add renewed interest to the opportunities and advantages in the irrigated districts and the campaign of exploitation that will be conducted meanwhile is bound to be of great benefit to every state in the western country."

WOMEN AT THEATER VOTE ON DRESS STYLES

A five days, or rather nights, referendum has been taken among the women present at five of the smartest theaters of Paris who were asked to vote during the intervals on what style of dress they considered most suitable. The result was: Louis XV style, 532; Empire style 2007; modern style, 1819.

AT THE MOVING PICTURE SHOWS

The Orpheum.
Good program for Tuesday's change:
1. "Making a Man of Him." Lubin. A drama of virile interest in which the butterfly son of a self-made millionaire is redeemed from his gay life by means of a clever ruse conceived and carried out by his father. A story which shows that there is underlying good even in the worst characters, and that it only awaits a chance to show itself. There is solid, absorbing human interest here and it is set forth by clever stage work.
2. "Jean and the Waif." Vitagraph. Jean is the dog, petted and pampered; the waif is a sweet but neglected little girl, an orphan, who lives with a woman who makes her work hard. The child runs away from her miserable surroundings and finds a welcome into the hearts and home of Jean's owners and they give her a merry Christmas and happy New Year. Jean is not jealous, but accepts the little waif as a friend and companion and in every way shows his love and happiness.
3. "The Atonement." Pathe. A good drama. Clever acting and good photography combine to make this subject one of exceptional merit.
4. "The Bowling Flend." Pathe. Alfred, who has just taken to bowling becomes a regular fiend for the game and wishes to practice on every available opportunity.
5. "A Skier Training." Beautiful snow scenes and a trainer for high leaps on snow shoes.
6. "The Dunces' Cap." A story of school days.
Four thousand feet of the latest and best motion pictures that money can buy in the above program.

The Pastime.

The show of quality.
"Mitalda's Winning Ways." Comedy. Mitalda, a charming school mistress, is pestered by a mush and milk dude, he follows her to school and is thrown out by the janitor. Not satisfied he dresses up as a little boy and has his housekeeper take him to school where he is enrolled in one of the classes. Mitalda receives a letter from her fiancé saying he will be there to wed her on the morrow and that a new teacher is coming to take her place. The new teacher, an old maid, soon discovers the little boy to be a man, an exciting chase follows, she saves him from drowning and makes him marry her. A screaming comedy. 1000 ft. long.
"The Little Spreewald Maid." Dramatic. This picture will please first with the sympathetic acting of Miss Gautier and next with the picturesque scenery along the Spree. The American scenes are characteristic and will be recognized as accurate.
"The Runaway Motor Car." Comedy. What happens to a man who undertakes to operate a motor car when he don't know how.
"Max Goes Ski-ing." A comedy representing the difficulties of a novice in this uncertain sport.
"An American Count." Comedy. A funny picture, illustrating how they fooled a girl into marrying her old sweetheart, whom she summarily dismissed when told a foreign count was to visit her. There is life and plenty of acting in this delightful photoplay.

AMERICAN SHORT STORIES POPULAR IN GERMANY

A student at one of the German universities who keeps a close tab on all Americans connected in any way with foreign institutions of learning, has discovered that the American exchange professors abroad are several laps ahead of Uncle Sam's Rhodes scholars. While one of the latter may reflect credit upon his training occasionally by an impressive showing in a hundred-yard dash, Europe is yet to meet the first of his elder compatriots who does not win with equal ease an equally extraordinary triumph.
The latest success is not the least noteworthy of the long line—the American short story has come into its own with foreigners. It is interesting to note that this achievement was brought about by what, in Germany at least, must now be regarded as the official method. First, the Kaiser was interested, through the inaugural lecture by Professor Smith about American literature. Next the German newspaper began the publication of American short stories, first by O. Henry, then by Richard Harding Davis. And these are proving so popular that the dailies are planning for a regular "supply from the countless good stories that have already appeared in the United States.
