PIONEER WOMAN DIES AT ADAMS

(Special Correspondence.) Adams, Ore., Jan. 31.—In the death of Grandma Whiteley at Adams last night at 8:45 another pioneer of Umatilla county has been called across the great divide. The deceased was 73 years of age and has been a resident of Adams for a great many years. Typhoid fever and la grippe were the causes of death.
 The deceased is survived by eight children, five sons and three daughters. They are Lee Whiteley of Pullman, Wash.; Lin Whiteley of Milton; John Whiteley of Adams; Frank Whiteley of Adams; Henry Whiteley of Walla Walla; Mrs. Laundry of Moro; Mrs. James King of Spokane; Mrs. Ed Young of Pullman. All of the immediate family and other relatives and friends were at the bedside when she passed away.
 Mrs. Whiteley was a pioneer of that class who put their lives in making home happy and will long be remembered by the three sons who have remained at home with their mother for the past ten years and everything was done for her comfort that loving hands could do.
 Rev. Stockton of the Baptist church will conduct the funeral services at the family residence Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The interment will be in the Gallier cemetery.

Coffey and Ed Wallan, went to the dance at Weston Friday night.
 Casper Woodward was a Walla Walla visitor Friday.

ORIGINALITY AND EXCELLENCE CHARACTERIZE "THE CLIMAX"

Four-Character Play Pleases Critical Pendleton Audience.

Originality was one of the principal characteristics of "The Climax" which played at the Oregon theatre last night and excellence was another. It was something decidedly different from the ordinary run of attractions and to the majority of the audience this was an appreciable quality. In the first place there were but four persons in the cast but if there was anything lacking in quantity it was atoned for in the quality. Then the plot of the piece was new. It was built about the voice of a young girl in such a way that there were plenty of opportunities for both light and heavy acting. With love and genius opposing each other in the heart of the girl and with professional honor at conflict in the heart of the man with love and a desire to save the girl from the temptations of the stage, there were moments of intensity when the well-spring of emotion was touched, and then without a few minutes the audience would be sent into laughter by the explosive outbursts of the master and his son.

 In Adelaide O'Brien the audience found a rare combination of ability both as a vocalist and an actress. Her singing was truly thrilling while the ease and freshness which characterized her acting won the audience from the first. Frank Patton as Luigi Golfanti, the teacher, shared first honors with Miss O'Brien and it is difficult to imagine how his interpretation of his part could have been improved upon. Wesley Todd as the doctor was good from start to finish, while Roy Merrill, as the temperamental son of the master, pleased not alone with his acting but with his skill on the piano as well. Taken all in all, "The Climax" is as enjoyable an attraction as has been offered to the Pendleton theatre going public this season and the goodly number of people who witnessed it will welcome its reappearance here.

Worn Out.

That's the way you feel about the lungs when you have a hacking cough. It's foolishness to let it go on and trust to luck to get over it, when Ballard's Horehound Syrup will stop the cough and heal the lungs. Price 25c, 50c and $1 per bottle. A. C. Koepen & Bros.

WOMEN CANNOT FIGHT BULLS IN MADRID

An edict has just been published at Madrid by the Spanish Minister of the Interior, forbidding women from taking an active part in bull fights. For sometime recently the custom has been growing of women donning the brilliant costume of the torreador and appearing in the arena. At Madrid crowds have been going to watch a quartet whose prima espada, La Reveria, was all the rage. The skill with which this young woman gave the death blow was perfect. Fearing that her example would be widely followed the Minister has prohibited a bullfight in which she was to take part, explaining that bullfighting by women, although not against the law, constitutes a sight so opposed to culture and delicate sentiment that the authorities feel compelled to prohibit such exhibitions.

AT THE MOVING PICTURE SHOWS

The Orpheum.

1. "Making a Man of Him." Lubin. A drama of virile interest in which the butterfly son of a self-made millionaire is redeemed from his gay life by means of a clever ruse conceived and carried out by his father. A story which shows that there is underlying good even in the worst characters, and that it only awaits a chance to show itself. There is solid, absorbing human interest here and it is set forth by clever stage work.
 2. "Jean and the Wolf." Vitagraph. Jean is the dog, petted and pampered; the wife is a sweet but neglected little girl, an orphan, who lives with a woman who makes her work hard. The child runs away from her miserable surroundings and finds a welcome into the hearts and home of Jean's owners and they give her a merry Christmas and happy New Year. Jean is not jealous, but accepts the little wife as a friend and companion and in every way shows his love and happiness.
 3. "The Atonement." Pathé. A good drama. Clever acting and good photography combine to make this subject one of exceptional merit.
 4. "The Bowling Fiend." Pathé. Alfred, who has just taken to bowling becomes a regular fiend for the game and wishes to practice on every available opportunity.
 5. "A Skier Training." Beautiful snow scenes and a trainer for high leaps on snow shoes.
 6. "The Dancer's Cap." A story of school days.
 Four thousand feet of the latest and best motion pictures that money can buy in the above program.

The Pastime.

"Mitalda's Winning Ways." Comedy. Mitalda, a charming school mistress, is pestered by a mush and milk dude, he follows her to school and is thrown out by the janitor. Not satisfied he dresses up as a little boy and has his housekeeper take him to school where he is enrolled in one of the classes. Mitalda receives a letter from her fiance saying he will be there to wed her on the morrow and that a new teacher is coming to take her place. The new teacher, an old maid, soon discovers the little boy to be a man, an exciting chase follows, she saves him from drowning and makes him marry her. A screaming comedy. 1000 ft. long.

 "The Little Spreevald Maid." Dramatic. This picture will please first with the sympathetic acting of Miss Gauthier and next with the picturesque scenery along the Spree. The American scenes are characteristic and will be recognized as accurate.
 "The Runaway Motor Car." Comedy. What happens to a man who undertakes to operate a motor car when he don't know how.
 "Max Goes Ski-ing." A comedy representing the difficulties of a novice in this uncertain sport.
 "An American Count." Comedy. A funny picture, illustrating how they fooled a girl into marrying her old sweetheart, whom she summarily dismissed when told a foreign count was to visit her. There is life and plenty of acting in this delightful photoplay.

The U. S. Government in its "Pure Food Law" does not "endorse" or "guarantee" any preparation, as some manufacturers in their advertisements would make it appear. In the case of medicines the law provides that certain drugs shall be mentioned on the labels, if they are ingredients of the preparations. Ely's Cream Balm, the well known family remedy for cold in the head, hay fever and nasal catarrh, doesn't contain a single injurious drug, so that the makers have simply to print the fact that it complies with all the requirements of the law.
